KAISER WILHEM'S BIRTHDAY

Germany's Ruler Celebrates the 47th Anniversary of His Appearance on Earth

Berlin, Jan. 27.—Emperor William is years old today and the anniversary of his birth is celebrated throughout the German empire. According to conservative estimates 20,000 thanksgiving services were held in the churches in parts of Germany this morning. The official celebration of the day took the form of military reviews, of which there were 100 in all parts of the empire, official receptions and banquets. In this city the Bourse and nearly all business places were closed today in honor of the day, and not even the newspapers appeared. The city was profusely decorated with flags, evergreens and bunting and the streets crowded with people all day, particularly in the vicinity of the palace Unter den Linden. There was a great deal to see, state carriages bearing members of the royal family and representatives of other European courts, driving to and from the castle at short intervals.

The emperor was an extremely busy man all day and his whole time was practically taken up with receiving his royal and other visitors and their congratulations of the members of his family and of the members of the immediate household. Then came the members of the cabinet, the heads of the two houses of parliament, members of the diplomatic corps, special envoys from various European courts, reigning ing and other princes and deputations of the army, navy, the various branches of the civil government and, finally, deputations of various civic and military organizations from all parts of Germany.

As usual there will be a grand court reception in honor of the emperor's birthday this evening which will be attended by about 1000 guests. The empress and all the members of the royal family will be present and the scene will be unusually brilliant.

In honor of the day several diplomatic dinners were given, among them one at the United States embassy. This evening there will be many hundreds of banquets and celebrations by the officers of the army and navy, government officials and hundreds of civic organizations. It is an interesting fact that the Kaiser's birthday is the only day in the year when military etiquette excuses officers of the army and navy for becoming intoxicated. It is not considered improper to become intoxicated by drinking the Kaiser's health.

Emperor William II, was born on January 27, 1859, and succeeded his father, Emperor Frederick III., on June 15, 1888. He is the ninth monarch of the house of Hohenzollern to rule over the kingdom of Prussia and the third of the same house to rule over the empire of united Germany. He is Hohenzollern by his father, Guelph by his mother, who was a daughter of Queen Victoria; while French blood flows in his veins through one of his ancestors, Louis de Coligny, a daughter of the great admiral. On February 27, 1881, he married Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein, Sonderburg, Augustenborg, born October 22, 1858, with whom he has had six sons and one daughter.

The 25th wedding anniversary of the emperor and empress will be celebrated on February 27 of this year. It had been intended, at first, to make the celebration a magnificent state affair and preparations were already made for the reception of a number of royal visitors. This program has been changed, however, and it has been semi-officially announced that no invitations to take part in the celebration of the event would be sent to any European court. This change of the original program was a very clever maneuver of the emperor, which diplomatically took the wind out of the sails of the British court, which had decided not to be represented at the celebration as a pointed rebuke for some of the things that Emperor William did and which displeased his majesty King Edward VII. Notwithstanding this change in the original program the celebration will be on a magnificent scale and throughout the German empire extensive preparations are made now for the great festivities which will be held in honor of the silver wedding jubilee of the imperial couple.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—In honor of Emperor William's 47th birthday the German ambassador, Freiherr Speck von Sternberg and Baroness von Sternberg gave a brilliant dinner at the German embassy. All the members of the German embassy, including Baron von dem Busche-Haddenhausen, counselor of the legation and first secretary of the embassy, Robert R. Schaller-Stedwards, Von Verdy du Vernois, Commander Habbins, Major Otto von Etzel and a number of specially invited guests were present at the dinner.

Spooner and LaFollette will Speak. New York, Jan. 27.—The Wisconsin society of New York will hold its annual banquet at the Hotel Astor this evening and it is expected to be a great success. The principal feature of the banquet will be addresses by Senator Spooner and Senator LaFollette, the former governor of Wisconsin, who resigned to take his seat in the U. S. senate. Several other prominent Wisconsin men will come from the west in a private car to attend the banquet.

A Grim Tragedy. Is daily enacted in thousands of homes, as Death claims, in each one, another victim of consumption or pneumonia. But when coughs or colds are properly treated, the tragedy is averted. F. G. Huntley of Oakland, Ind., writes: "My wife had the consumption, and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's new Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, which cured her, and today she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. Guaranteed at 50c and $1.00 by J. C. Perry, druggist. Trial bottle free.

The Czar has been so busy dodging that he has not had time to suggest that the whole matter be taken to The Hague for settlement.

A Heavy Registration.

The following voters from outside precincts registered personally at the county clerk's office yesterday: Aumsville precinct, D. B. McCroly, J. Simpson.

Brooks, Al Moisan, Ralph Shepard, Chemawa, Albert Williams, Howell, C. S. Morgan, Liberty, W. M. Coburn, J. M. Coburn, J. W. Jory, Scotts Mills, K. B. Herigstad.

The registration still keeps coming in steadily and it is estimated by those experienced in handling registration of voters that this year will be from five to ten per cent greater than in 1904.

At the time the books closed yesterday evening, the registration stood, by precincts, as follows:

This makes a total registration to date of 1542 voters, 1074 being Republicans, 296 Democrats and 129 divided between Independents, Socialists and Prohibitionists. In addition to the above the clerk has on file about 200 names from outside districts which have not yet been entered in the register. This makes about 30 per cent of the entire vote already registered, with over two months before the books close for the primary elections.

Whose Say-so is Best?

With nearly all medicines put up for sale through druggists, one has to take the maker's say-so alone as to their curative value. Of course, such testimony is not that of a disinterested party and accordingly is not to be given the same credit as if written from disinterested motives. Dr. Pierce's medicines, however, form a single and therefore striking exception to this rule. Their claims to the confidence of invalids does not rest solely upon their makers' say-so or praise. Their ingredients are matters of public knowledge, being printed on each separate bottle wrapper. Thus invalids can be taken into Dr. Pierce's full confidence. Scores of leading medical men have written enough to fill volumes in praise of the curative value of the several ingredients entering into these well-known medicines.

Amongst these writers we find such medical lights as Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Hale of the same city; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Dr. Grover Cox, of New York; Dr. Hartlow, of Jefferson Medical College, of Pa., and scores of others equally eminent.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the worst cases of female weakness, profluvium, anteverision and retroversion, corrects irregularities, cures painful periods, dries up discharges and weakens drains, sometimes known as pelvic catarrh and a multitude of other diseases peculiar to women. Bear in mind, it is not a patent nor even a secret medicine, but a simple, safe, and reliable remedy, being printed on each separate bottle wrapper. Honoring Mozart's Memory. Vienna, Jan. 27.—Musical societies and the people of this city in general are celebrating the 140th anniversary of the birth of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, the great Austrian composer, whose popularity has never been surpassed by that of any other composer. Thousands of people joined in a pilgrimage to the Schmelzer cemetery, where the body of Mozart lies buried, and wreaths and other floral gifts in profusion were deposited at the base of the monument, marking the great composer's burial place.

The Musik Verein, the Mozart society, and many other musical organizations of the city, have arranged to celebrate this evening in honor of Mozart's birthday. Special programs including compositions by Mozart have been prepared.

New York, Jan. 27.—Several of the local musical organizations will celebrate the 140th anniversary of the birth of Mozart today. The Russian Symphony orchestra will give a concert at Carnegie hall this evening, with a program which will include the A major Symphony and several other works of Mozart.
