

For Coughs and Colds

There is a remedy over sixty years old—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Of course you have heard of it, probably have used it. Once in the family, it stays; the one household remedy for coughs and colds. Ask your own doctor about it. We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

February Magazines.
The Atlantic Monthly is noted for its solid contents. In statesmanship there are articles on the U. S. senate, Turgot the French politician; in industrial movements there are articles on investments, on telephones and on Mexico; literary reviews discuss Ibsen and art books; there are new poems, and the whole number seems proud of commercialism to such an extent as to be very refreshing.

The American Magazine is an automobile number. The leading article, "The Heart of the Automobile," is a record of what has happened in the automobile world since English law obliged a man with a red flag to walk before every motor allowed loose in a public place. It also contains a complete illustrated description of every good pleasure car—all facts and figures. The short stories of the month are fully up to the American's standard. Among the authors are Richard Washburn Child, W. B. M. Ferguson, Dorothy Canfield, Charles Battell Loomis, Charles C. Lofquist and W. Bates Adams. Miss Cholmondeley's serials, "Prisoners," is a hit.

After looking over the Outing Magazine, we think that the publishers have wisely called it a Pacific coast number. It has a distinctively western flavor from the start. The cover design is a miner panning gold and the frontispiece a prospector following his packed burro down the mountain trail. Both are by J. N. Marchand and are in color. Other illustrations in color are reproductions of two of Fernand Longren's best paintings of the mountains and deserts of the great west.

Among the articles especially devoted to the Pacific coast in this exceptionally interesting number are the following: "The Twentieth Century Argonauts," by Ralph D. Paine; "Into the Serene Valley (Yosemite)," by Gouverneur Morris; "The Northwest Gateway of our Commerce," by Hon. Francis A. Cushman; "The California Vintage," by Charles F. Holder; "Where Rolls the Oregon," by Harris Lloyd; "The Americanism of the Last West," by D. H. Brock, and "The Folk of the Puget Country," by Dan Allan Willey. All these articles show that this wonderland of ours is a land of big achievements and still bigger possibilities. Many of these articles are beautifully illustrated with photographs of the human interest kind.

Farmers' Institute at Salem.
Upon invitation of Salem grange there will be a farmers' institute held at Salem March 9, conducted by the faculty of the Agricultural college at Corvallis. The local committee of Salem grange are George Washington Weeks, Mrs. Zella S. Fletcher and Mrs. A. B. Davidson. One trouble about to large a meeting would be to find a hall in Salem large enough to accommodate them. Not less than 500 people outside the city would attend, and as many more in the city. An effort will be made to secure the state house.

Gov. Swanson Inaugurated.
Richmond, Va., Feb. 1.—Governor-elect Claude A. Swanson was inaugurated today in the presence of thousands of people. This morning he proceeded to the capitol and, after exchanging greetings with Governor Montague, proceeded to the house of delegates where, in the presence of both houses of the legislature, he took the oath of office before Judge James Keith. Then the new governor delivered a brief inaugural address, outlining the salient points of his administration program. The ceremonies were very simple. In the afternoon the governor will hold a reception at the executive mansion between 2 and 4 o'clock.

WOULD REMOVE BURDEN

An Indirect Tax for All the States Expenses Says Wrightman

Baker City Herald, Jan. 29.)
Frank T. Wrightman, Republican candidate for the nomination for secretary of state, is in the city today looking over the political situation and to attend the Knights of Pythias convention here tonight.

Mr. Wrightman is and has been a strong advocate for the indirect tax for maintenance of the state government, thereby relieving the land owners and present taxpayers of this heavy burden. By the indirect tax method which he proposes the state would be able to collect sufficient money for all administrative purposes from corporations and companies owning valuable franchises or other property, thus cutting off the state tax which is apportioned among the several counties of the state and by the county government taxed against the people.

Through the indirect tax this money would be paid by people doing business in Oregon, but owning no real estate here and now escaping their share of the tax burden. Valuable franchises and other holdings, such as bonds and companies organized outside of the state but doing business in the state, bonds and mortgages of big corporations and all other sources of indirect taxation such as maintained by the United States government would be taxed by the state for the benefit of the state. For instance: An express company owning no real estate in Oregon but nevertheless doing an immense business in the state now escapes taxation, but under the indirect tax it would be compelled to pay a just portion of the burden.

Mr. Wrightman is well acquainted with the finances of the state. He is at present corporation clerk under Secretary Dunbar, and it has been through his tireless and capable work that the corporations last year paid into the state treasury $120,000. Of course, he says, this indirect tax system could not be put in operation at a jump but would have to be worked up gradually, and as secretary of state he would be in a position to know the condition and act according to the right time. His training along this line makes his opinions valuable and fits him for the undertaking which would be such a great burden to lift from the common taxpayers of the state.

It was through Mr. Wrightman's efforts as corporation clerk and giving valuable assistance to Mr. Dunbar that the Eddy corporation tax bill was amended so as not to kill the mining industry of the state. Mr. Wrightman is a strong ally of the miners and has stood by them through all the trouble. He believes in giving the growing industry all the aid possible and for this reason firmly and strongly advocated the minimum license fee of $10 for non-productive mines. This took away the pernicious provisions of the Eddy law and gave men owning valuable prospects ample leeway to develop the same without any great tax being levied against them by the state. In fact Mr. Wrightman assisted in drafting the new bill which modified the Eddy law to this extent.

Mr. Wrightman is a Marion county man. He served for ten years as sheriff of that county and though he has never before been a candidate for any state office, yet he is well known all over the state and has a mighty strong following. He is meeting with earnest assurances of support and his stand in regard to the indirect tax is winning him friends by the thousands among the rank and file of the taxpayers, for none realize better than they do what this indirect tax will mean to them. Mr. Wrightman is a lawyer by profession, president of the Marion county bar association, and well qualified for the position he seeks.

STATE REFORM SCHOOL

Oregon Has Provided Well to Care for the Neglected and Unruly

One hundred and fifteen boys under one roof, all of them under strict discipline and yet each having all the kindness and care of a home. It is no small task that the state of Oregon has set the superintendent of the Oregon State Reform School. The school is situated about five miles south of Salem on a high bluff overlooking Mill creek and the Southern Pacific track. The view from the terrace is a delightful one and the grounds around the buildings are in keeping with the other surroundings. The buildings are well built of brick and are in many ways admirably adapted for the purpose for which they are used.

The reform school is the home of boys from all over the state of Oregon—some of them committed for serious misdemeanors and others at the request of parents who are no longer able to control them. There are representatives in the school from most of the larger towns of the state and some from smaller places. Salem has contributed five to the present number. In years gone by the greater percentage of boys came from Portland, the commitments from that city numbering eight to ten a month. But since the establishment of Judge Frazer's juvenile court, with its 25 probation officers, the number of boys sent to the state institution is very small.

The school at the present time is under the supervision of Mr. N. H. Looney, who is assisted by his wife and a staff of teachers or overseers. The work of the school is so divided that each boy has a half day for regular school study and a half day for work each week day. It is a maxim of the institution that the vicious boys be the idle boy, and all plans are laid with a view to keeping every boy employed. A certain latitude is given for play, the younger boys having longer play hours than the older ones.

For disciplinary purposes the boys are divided into two "families," composed respectively of the larger and smaller boys. These "families" occupy separate dormitories in opposite ends of the building. The dormitory system is the one weak point of the institution, as the crowding of 50 to 60 boys into one large sleeping room has frequently proven to be very unsatisfactory, and in most of the states is now being abandoned. In its place should be established the "cottage system," where by the boys are separated into families of 18 to 20 each, and each family assigned to a cottage under a proper guardian, all coming together in the main building for meals.

G. C. Stahl is in charge of the boys' routine life. Each day after breakfast and after dinner the boys are lined up and detailed for their special work. Some go to the class rooms, some to the fields; others are sent to the laundry, the shoe shop, the tailor shop, or to assist the carpenter. All the cooking for the school is done by the boys under the leadership of H. R. Pressnell.

Every Heart-Ache

Every pain in the breast, difficult breathing, palpitation, fluttering or dizzy spell means that your heart is straining itself in its effort to keep in motion. This is dangerous. Some sudden strain from over-exertion or excitement will completely exhaust the nerves, or rupture the walls or arteries of the heart, and it will stop. Relieve this terrible strain at once with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. It invigorates and strengthens the heart nerves and muscles, stimulates the heart action, and relieves the pain and misery.

Take no chances; make your heart strong and vigorous with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. "I suffered terribly with heart disease. I have been treated by different physicians for my trouble without results. I went to a physician in Memphis, who claimed that I had dropsy of the heart. He put the X-ray on me, and in connection with his medicine he came near making a bluish of me. Some time before this a Mr. Young, of St. Louis, was in our town. He saw my condition, and recommended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure to me. I gave it little attention until my return from Memphis, when I concluded to try it, and am pleased to say three bottles cured me." CHARLES GOODRICH, Chattanooga, Mo. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

and each boy makes his own bed. As far as possible the boys are taught useful trades, those assigned to the different shops or the kitchen working in the same department, until they have learned the work thoroughly. The boys doing farm work are taught by W. L. Simeral.

From the time the boys get up in the morning until they go to bed at night they are under the watchful eye of an officer of the school. Should any boy be under suspicion of having matches or tobacco he is at once searched, and if the forbidden articles are found he loses all credit marks for the month.

The average time spent in the school is two years, but some boys have received their parole in 12 months. The system of credit marks is such that a boy who keeps the rules and adapts himself to the life of the school can earn 12 credits in a year, or sufficient to secure his parole. Any boy attempting to run away loses all credit marks and is punished in addition.

During the past year several minor improvements have been made in the buildings and grounds. A new walk has been built from the Southern Pacific track across Mill creek to the hill. All the work was done by the boys and is certainly a credit to them. The work the boys turn out in the laundry is equal to any done in Salem. All the clothing worn by the boys is both made and mended by the squad working in the tailor shop.

Among the plans for the improvement of the school in the near future are the building of a gymnasium and the piping of water from a large spring about a mile away.

The boys in this school are not being shut off from communication with the outside, but are allowed to correspond frequently with their parents and friends. All letters are read by Mrs. Looney before they are delivered to the boys or mailed from the school. The state pays the postage on the boys' letters once a month.

The religious and social life of the prisoners in this big state school is neglected. The reading room and library is a large room supplied with about 700 volumes. Gifts of books for this library suitable for boys and young men will be appreciated by the superintendent. A number of the better class magazines could also be used to great advantage.

Each Sunday morning the boys assemble for Sunday school, and in the evening a religious service is held. On Thursday evenings varied programs are provided. Good speakers address the boys, readings and recitations are given, even private theatricals are indulged in. The school brass band furnishes music for these Thursday evening exercises.

The entire staff of the school is devoted to the work. They look upon it not as a place of punishment for unruly boys, but as a school where boys who are otherwise deprived of proper home influence and training may be taught to lead noble and useful lives and make a winning fight in the great battle of life that for each one of them lies just beyond the school doors.

A Pleasant Way to Travel.
The above is the usual verdict of the traveler using the Missouri Pacific railway between the Pacific coast and the east, and we believe that the service and accommodations given merit this statement. From Denver, Colorado Springs and Denver there are two through trains daily to Kansas City and St. Louis, carrying Pullman's latest standard electric-lighted sleeping cars, chair cars and up-to-date dining cars. The same excellent service is operated from Kansas City and St. Louis to Memphis, Little Rock and Hot Springs. If you are going east or south, write for particulars and full information.

Redding of this city and other Pittsburg and New York capitalists have formed a company under the name of the Redding company which will establish a large plant for the manufacture of gas and gasoline engines at Steelton, Wetzel county, West Virginia. The company has been incorporated and will complete its organization at a meeting today. It is stated that the plant will employ 250 skilled workmen and will begin operations about June 1.

Itch—Ringworm.
E. T. Lucas, Wingo, Ky., writes: April 25, 1902: "For 10 to 12 years I had been afflicted with a malady known as the itch. The itching was most unbearable; I had tried for years to find relief, having tried all remedies I could hear of, besides a number of doctors. I wish to state that one single application of Ballard's Snow Liniment cured me completely and permanently. Since then I have used the liniment on two separate occasions for ringworm and it cured completely. 25c, 50c and $1.00. For sale by D. J. Fry, Salem, Oregon."

Sharples Tubular Bowl Cream Separator

Wouldn't you rather wash a bowl that has a perfectly smooth surface inside and out and that contained only one simple part that is readily removed than to take apart a bowl containing anywhere from 5 to 15 or 20 parts of various sizes and shapes with holes or projections or other features that make them difficult to clean?

If there wasn't another advantage but this, the Sharples would outshine them all. But there's the low supply can, the enclosed gears, the easy running and numerous other advantages that place the Sharples away in the lead of all. Call and investigate for yourself, then you'll know why we enthuse. Send for catalogue if you can't come.
