

BUT ONE WEEK MORE

Journal Advertising Contest Closes Next Tuesday Afternoon

Just one week more remains for those who are preparing manuscript for the Journal's ad-writing contest. A great deal of interest has been manifested since the first announcement of the contest was made, and it is expected that a large number of contestants will file their manuscript.

The judges were announced in Saturday's issue of The Journal, but for the benefit of those who missed that issue, we repeat the names:

C. S. Hamilton, of Buren & Hamilton; E. C. Patton, of Patton Bros., and F. A. Wiggins.

As fast as the manuscripts are received they will be numbered and a corresponding number placed on the envelope containing the name of the contestant.

As soon as possible after the close of the contest, the manuscript will be turned over to the judges. As they are busy men, it will probably take several days for them to arrive at a decision. If the judges get through their work in time, the result will be announced in The Journal of February 24th.

The manuscripts will be read in the order in which they are numbered, and each will be marked according to a standard to be adopted. In this way each manuscript will be judged on its merits in the same way that an examination paper is judged.

To assist the judges in finishing their work in time, any manuscripts that are completed before the date of closing should be sent in ahead of time. Those who do not live in Salem, and expect to send in manuscripts, should remember that their contributions must be in the office of The Journal by 5 p. m. on February 20th. This allows time to get the mail coming in on the afternoon train from the south. Should this train be late on that day, it would throw the contestants out. So it is advisable to mail the manuscripts not later than noon of the day before, thus allowing ample time for the letter to reach The Journal. All letters should be addressed

Poisons in Food.

Perhaps you don't realize that many pain poisons originate in your food, but some day you may feel a twinge of dyspepsia that will convince you. Man Bleeds to Death.

Fred Newhaus, a prominent contractor of Baker City, died at that place Sunday from the effect of an assault made upon him during a saloon brawl Saturday night, by a miner named Jack Schwartz, an employee of the Elkhorn mines. Newhaus was struck a terrible blow on the nose, breaking the bridge and rupturing a couple of arteries, from which he bled to death.

Schwartz has been arrested and will be tried on the charge of manslaughter.

Tired Nervous

When you feel languid, tired, nervous and irritable, your vitality is low—your supply of nerve energy exhausted, and your system running down for lack of power.

The organs of the body are working poorly, or not at all, and you are not getting the nourishment needed. This soon impoverishes the blood and instead of throwing off the impurities, distributes it all through the body. This brings disease and misery.

Feed the nerves with Dr. Miles' Nerve, a nerve food, a nerve medicine, that nourishes and strengthens the nerves, and see how quickly you will get strong and vigorous.

"My wife suffered with nervousness previous to a recent attack of typhoid fever, but after her recovery from the fever, she was much worse, and could hardly control herself being exceedingly nervous when the least excited. She was very restless at night, and never had a good night's rest. She also suffered much from nervous headaches. Dr. Miles' Nerve was recommended by a friend. After the first three doses she had a good night's rest, and at the end of the first week's treatment she was wonderfully improved. Continued use of Nerve has completed her entire cure."

1021 Cherry St., Evansville, Ind.
Dr. Miles' Nerve is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

To Make Accounts Uniform.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—In response to an invitation sent out by the bureau of the United States census comptrollers, auditors, treasurers and other officials, connected with the municipal accounts of various cities in this country met today in conference with the heads of the census department at the banquet hall of the Arlington Hotel. The invitations which had been sent out were limited to officials of cities of over 30,000 inhabitants, but among those who came to attend the conference are also a number of fiscal officials of smaller cities in various parts of the country. The invitations were limited, as under the law municipal statistics are collected only from cities of 30,000 or more inhabitants.

In former years the officers of the United States census had great difficulty in compiling satisfactory statistics, owing to the fact that the methods of keeping the accounts in the different cities varied to such an extent that it was practically impossible to form statistical comparisons. To obviate this difficulty and to make the methods of accounting more uniform in the future, this conference was called. It will last two days, and during that time many prominent accountants will teller addresses, explaining the systems employed in keeping the accounts of their respective municipalities. Among those who will address the conference are Comptroller L. E. McGann, of Chicago; Joseph T. Tracy, of the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices, Columbus, O.; Dr. Edward M. Hartwell, of Boston, and Dr. Frederick A. Cleveland, of the National Municipal League, New York.

Working for the Methodist Conference Baltimore, Md., Feb. 12.—The committee appointed by the Methodist Book Concern for the purpose of deciding where the next general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church is to be held, met today at the Eutaw street church to hear arguments concerning the claims of Baltimore as being the most suitable city for holding the next general conference. A sub-committee, consisting of Dr. H. M. Wilson and the Revs. W. F. Sheridan and C. W. Baldwin will present the claims of Baltimore. The other cities which are making efforts to secure the general conference are Boston, Buffalo and Cincinnati. The other cities have been in the race some time and Baltimore will have to make special efforts to win. The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church is the most important body of the church, and one of the largest religious legislative bodies in the world. It consists of nearly 1000 delegates representing nearly 10,000,000 adherents.
