High School.

The high school was favored by a visit from Superintendent of Public Instruction Ackerman and Mr. Campbell, of the Eugene university yesterday. The students also enjoyed an address by Mr. Campbell at the 1 o'clock assembly. He congratulated the students on their fine building and dwelt on its artistic architecture and inside finishing. He mentioned his recent trip with Mr. Ackerman, visiting the high schools of eastern Oregon and mentioned that they were all improving rapidly. He said he believed the time not far distant when the standard of education shall be the eighth grade or high school course. He mentioned the fact that girls usually are better in their work than boys, and hoped that it was not so in Salem. He dwelt on the increased value of the student's service as he advances in school, and said that every student should finish a college and post graduate course. He discussed the development of the northwest and the man's chance as compared to the Philippines and other places in the world, and advised all young men to stay here instead of going to other countries, because advantages here are just as great as anywhere. The students gave a rousing applause when he had finished, and showed much appreciation. Mr. Ackerman has consented to speak to the student body soon.

The junior class had a valentine party Tuesday at the home of one of their number, Earl G. Eyre. The house was decorated with a myriad of hearts and on the front curtain was a large 'W'. The games of the evening were varied and interesting. There was one game in particular, a game of match making, which was very interesting. The professor of match making was Edna Savage, of proposing philosophy, Rex Turner, and of spoonology Alfred Schramm. The matches were made by shooting at a large heart, and after that had taken place the gentlemen had to propose to their ladies, which was very amusing. Another contest was writing out lovers in fiction, at which Mr. Marlette won the first prize and Alfred Schramm the booby prize. The refreshments consisted of sandwiches, salad, ice cream and cake. A delightful time was had and the occasion is one long to be remembered. Those present were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Marlette, Miss Richards, Mr. Smith, Miss Swafford, Iza Constable, Beulah Clarke, Edith Ragan, Alice McCawley, Grace Lick, Henrietta, Hoysler, Etta Nelson, Murah Hatch, Rebecca Miles, Agnes Moore, Carrie Magness, Edna Savage, Corine Miller, Mabel and Edith Bradford, Mildred Perkins, Ross McIntire, Earl Eyre, Ralph St. Pierre, Alfred Schramm, Ward Fischer, Ralph Moores, Ralph Cronise, Rex Turner, Claire Vibbert, Robert Pulus, Dave Eyre and Charlie Eyre.

The senior class had a valentine party at the home of Miss Genevieve Foster on East State street Wednesday evening. The evening was one of the most novel ever spent by the class. It was arranged for the girls to prepare the decorations and entertainment, and the boys the refreshments. Accordingly, from the first there was a sense of rivalry in the arrangements. The rooms were decorated beautifully with red hearts and the entertainment was both novel and enjoyable. The climax of the evening was not reached until the refreshments were served. The boys retired to the kitchen and after some

A FAMOUS REMEDY

"Tired my cough with German Syrup!" he wrote to Dr. G. G. Green: "As you see I tell you, doctor dear, I'm feeling finer than ever I've been!"

The poor consumptive should not be the victim of experiment, as he often is, but the moment the dread disease manifests its presence he should be given Boles' German Syrup—a pure, non-alcoholic medicine that is made especially for the cure of consumption, and has a world-wide fame as a certain remedy for catarrh of the lungs, cough, croup, sore throat, and all bronchial affections in old and young. It is sold in all civilized countries, and has been famous as a consumption cure for almost half a century. Trial bottle, 25c. Big bottle, 75c. All druggists throughout the world.

preparation served the anxious young ladies a course of crackers, cheese and toothpicks, which was not on the whole appreciated by the recipients, who thought that it was off color. After the first course the boys again repaired to the kitchen and appeared with an abundance of bananas, wafers and lemonade, which caused the faces of the disappointed young ladies to brighten, as only those things can. The luncheon was ended by the passing of finger bowls and napkins, and all expressed great pleasure at the success of the boys. Those present were: Bertha Duncan, Marie Hutchins, Mabel Magness, Harry Winstanley, Charles Roth, Alice Judson, Ruby Ratzien, Alice Judson, Ethel Bell, Beas Harding, Miss Swafford, Genevieve Potter, Harvey Slater, Eugene Slater, Perry Reigleman, Rea Uiter and Horace Sykes. Every minute of the evening was delightfully spent and the merry-makers dispersed at a late hour.

The Diogenes society met Wednesday. An impromptu program was rendered, which was enjoyed by all. Following was the election of officers: Rex Turner, president; Iza Constable vice president; Beulah Clarke, secretary; Earl Eyre, treasurer; Alfred Schramm door keeper. Alta Altman was elected reporter for the society to prepare for the press.

The girls in leaving the building in the evening are allowed to use the east stairway now. Previously all went down the west stairway, which caused no small amount of crowding, but as the grades are out a few minutes before the high school, and are entirely out of the building, the girls are allowed to use the east stairway in order to avoid all possible crowding.
