SALEM HIGH SCHOOL

What Is Doing in the Other Departments

Mr. Marlette, before opening session yesterday, cautioned the students to use the exhibit work that is in the hall with care. He is glad to see the students studying the work, and glad to have it in the building, but it must be taken care of, because it is a good exhibit and represents a vast amount of work.

Dr. Epley had his music class Tuesday instead of Monday, the regular day. The students are taking a great interest in the work and a large number is going to get the books recommended by Dr. Epley.

Four very well prepared papers were read to the medieval history class yesterday. Margurite Klein read one on "Oliver Cromwell;" Eva Fischer on "Henry of Vavarre;" Edwin Haslam, on "Gustavus Adolphus;" and Hortense Epley one on "Catherine de Medici." The entire class was required to do outside reading so as to be able to criticize the papers, and was required to report what authorities they had read.

The junior class had a meeting yesterday evening in the society room. The meeting was called to arrange for getting out the junior issue of the Clarion, which will be next month. After some discussion the class decided to prepare a junior number, and elected Leoline Skaffe editor, with Isa Constable, William Mott, Carrie Magnus, Alta Altman, Charles Harrison, Ross McIntire and Beulah Clark, assistants.

Isa Constable tendered her resignation as chairman of the social committee, but it was rejected. The class adjourned to meet at such time as they might be called by the editor. The attendance was good.

The German classes are getting along as well as can be wished for. German is not a required study, and yet there are 101 in the first term class. As it is now there are three classes, viz: The first term, the second term and the fourth term. The students have been required to use note books since the beginning of the last term, and it makes a marked improvement in the work.

Central School.

The pupils of the Central grades are allowed to spend their time before 9 and 1 o'clock in their rooms. They have a jolly time talking and playing, and yet do not get disorderly.

Mrs. Neenan, who has a son in the 1B class, visited Miss Cosper's room last week.

A number of Miss Cosper's pupils live as far away as 21st street, and were unable to attend school during the recent bad weather.

East School.

Miss Harwood, the "East" teacher, who has been absent on account of sickness, is recovering faster than could be expected. She had to go under a severe operation, and it was feared that she would not be able to take her class again this year, but she will probably be able to teach a part of the term.

Mrs. Beal's room is noted for its very neat and home like appearance. The walls are decorated with a collection of pictures, and one corner arranged as an art corner, and the windows filled with flowering plants. The rear board is decorated with a patriotic calendar, an American flag design drawn with colored crayons.

Miss Schindler's room is also noted for excellent decorations. The front board has a border along the top of little chicks in various positions, drawn with colored crayons, and the rear board displays a very artistic calendar consisting of a tulip design. The other other boards are also decorated with various drawings. These are very interesting to the smaller pupils, and tends to create in them a liking for their school room.

Mr. Graham is arranging a collection of illustrations to be used in connection with the school work, which, when he gets it completed will be very useful and interesting. He is collecting pictures of an instructive kind from every available source. He has a great number of old magazines, and the pupils are furnishing a great many more, which contain valuable pictures for such a collection. They will be mounted, indexed and placed in different boxes, which will represent still greater divisions. There will be boxes for the following: The Revolutionary war, the War of 1812, the Civil war, the Spanish-American war, for inventors, poets, explorers, actors, politicians and generals; for art, science and literature; for places of interest, and miscellaneous. The collection is to be so arranged that the teacher can turn to any picture desired in an instant, and can readily have

GOOD for OLD and YOUNG

August Flower keeps the children healthy and strong—Full of vigor and frolic the whole day long. So when Maama needs more they rush off to high glee. And about to the druggist: "Please give it to me!"

Inability to get up brisk and fresh in the morning, lack of appetite, pallor, muddy complexion and poor spirits—these all indicate a disordered stomach and bad digestion—in adults and children, too. They also indicate the urgent need of taking Green's August Flower regularly for a few days.

It's a reliable old remedy for all stomach troubles, never fails to cure indigestion, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, and is a natural tonic for body and mind.

Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists.

it on hand to show the class. Mr. Graham has now over 1000 pictures and expects by the end of the term to have between three and four thousand. To what extent he shall extend the collection he does not know. He says he sees an almost inexhaustible source to draw from in the students and other places from which pictures can be obtained.

Having illustrations at hand to study in connection with the subject, will add greatly to the interest. The collection contains pictures of all the presidents, their wives and families, every supreme justice of the U. S. court, a complete set of illustrations of Hiawatha, and pictures of almost everything else of interest in existence.

This is something new, but it cannot help but be a good thing. Mr. Graham is very enthusiastic over it, and will doubtless make it of great value to the pupils.

Fraud Exposed.

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and other medicines thereby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to beware of such people, who seek to profit, through stealing the reputation of remedies which have been successfully curing disease for over 35 years. A sure protection to you is our name on all Dr. King's or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are mere imitations. H. E. BUCKLEN & CO., Chicago, Ill., and Windsor, Canada.

VOTERS COMING TO TIME

Awake to the Fact That They Have Duties to Perform as Citizens

Registration at the county clerk's office is steadily increasing, and at the same time names are coming in from the outside precincts faster than the registration clerk can enter them. A large bunch of blanks from Breitenbush precinct proved to be defective, and had to be returned to the notary for completion. The notary had failed to put his seal on them.

The total registration to date is 3451, of this number 1342 are in the Salem precincts, and 2109 in the country. This is 59 per cent of the total registration for 1904.

The party registration still shows the Republicans to be in the majority by about four to one. The registration by precincts follows:

China Is a Powder House.
Geneva, Switzerland, Feb. 28.—M. Rubbhausen, a former director of the government powder factory, who went to China to construct powder factories at Pekin and Tientsin, writes that the work is nearly completed. He says Pekin is made a modern and impregnable fortress, and other towns have been strengthened. He says the situation in Japan is extremely dangerous for Europeans, and he expects a revolt in the spring.
