Student Volunteer Convention. Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 28.—Between 5000 male and female students, members of the Y. M. C. A., missionaries, and many others interested in the student's volunteer movement, assembled in this city to attend the international student's volunteer convention, which opens here this afternoon. The convention will close on the evening of March 4. These conventions are held once in every four years of the present convention, which is the first ever held in a southern city, the largest and promises to be the most important ever held. The first of these conventions was held in Cleveland in 1880, the second in Detroit in 1884, with 1325 delegates; the third in 1888 in Cleveland, with 2221 delegates; and the fourth in 1902 in Toronto with 2957 delegates. Of those present at Toronto 2225 were students, 248 members of faculties, 118 representatives of young people's organizations, and the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian associations; 100 secretaries and other representatives of missionary boards and societies; 197 were foreign missionaries, and 23 editors of religious papers. Among the delegates who are here for the convention, there are students, members of the faculty, representing nearly 500 of the most prominent colleges and higher educational institutions of the country, more than 200 missionaries of 40 or more different fields; the secretaries of all the leading missionary boards and societies of the United States and Canada; state and national leaders of work among students; fraternal delegates from the student movement in other countries.

The program for this convention has been prepared with great care and will be the most interesting ever arranged for one of these conventions. The ablest speakers from both sides of the Atlantic will deliver addresses and there will be about 45 special conferences for discussing the mission fields and various matters of special interest to the students connected with the movement. Among the prominent speakers who will address the convention are Henry B. F. McFarland, president of the commissioners of the District of Columbia; Dr. George Robson, ex-moderator of the general assembly of the United Free Church of Scotland; Herbert Lancaster, secretary of the church missionary society of London; Bishop Charles B. Galloway; Bishop J. M. Thoburn of India; Sir Arthur Darnley, John R. Nott and Robert Speer.

The mornings will be taken up by general sessions. During the afternoons sectional meetings will be held and there will also be discussions of the missionary work by countries, by denominations, etc. One of the features is a special exhibit of missionary work. Arrangements have been made for the entertainment of the delegates, and they will be given an opportunity to take trolley rides and pleasure trips to the Mammoth cave and other points of interest in the vicinity.

How Carnegie Helped. New York, Feb. 28.—The members of the First Methodist church of New Rochelle are a sadly disappointed lot. Some time ago they came to the conclusion that a new $1000 pipe organ would be a highly desirable addition to the equipment of their church. One of the members wrote to Andrew Carnegie to assist the congregation. Mr. Carnegie replied that if the congregation would first raise $500 he would see what could be done. This response was so encouraging that the members of the congregation soon had the money pledged. Then they informed Mr. Carnegie that they had raised the desired amount.

In the meantime Mr. Carnegie had instituted a quiet investigation through his secretary and when he was notified that the congregation was waiting for his check he wrote to the deacons that he had found that the congregation was too small for a $1000 organ. He expressed the opinion that a $500 organ

Dyspepsia of Women

Caused by Female Disorders and Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A great many women suffer with a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not seem to yield to ordinary treatment. While the symptoms seem to be similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicines universally prescribed do not seem to restore the patient's normal condition.

Mrs. M. Wright

Mrs. Pinkham claims that there is a kind of dyspepsia that is caused by a derangement of the female organism, and which, while it causes a disturbance similar to ordinary indigestion, cannot be relieved without a medicine which not only acts as a stomach tonic, but has a peculiar tonic effect on the female organism. As proof of this theory we call attention to the case of Mrs. Maggie Wright, Brooklyn, N. Y., who was completely cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after everything else had failed. She writes: "For two years I suffered with dyspepsia which so degenerated the entire system that I was unable to attend to my daily duties. I felt weak and nervous, and nothing that I ate tasted good and it caused a disturbance in my stomach. I tried different dyspepsia cures, but nothing seemed to help me. I was advised to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and was happily surprised to find that it acted like a fine tonic, and in a few days I began to enjoy and properly digest my food. My recovery was rapid, and in five weeks I was a well woman. I have recommended it to many suffering women."

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement or has such a record of cures of female troubles, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

would be sufficient and added that, inasmuch as they had already raised that amount, they did not need his assistance. Although greatly disappointed, the deacons of the church have not quite given up all hope of obtaining help from Mr. Carnegie. They have delegated Henry Siebrecht, a member of the congregation, who is personally well acquainted with Mr. Carnegie, to call on him and induce him to reconsider his decision.

To Extradite Fugitive Army Officer.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 28.—Lieutenant Arthur H. Freshwater, of the 29th Infantry, who recently fled to Mexico from his army post in Texas, where he was confronted with charges of embezzlement of company funds and swindling of enlisted men, was today dropped from the army roll as a deserter, having been absent without leave for three months. The department of justice and the state department will not relax in their efforts to secure the arrest and extradition of Lieutenant Freshwater. His exact whereabouts are not known to the military authorities, but steps have been taken to locate him and to have him placed in the custody of the Mexican authorities. The department of state, through its representative in the City of Mexico, has arranged the preliminaries for the extradition of the offender, and the department of justice will bring him before the civil courts of Texas for trial.

The Electric Age.

No year has seen such an increase in electric roads as the one which has just ended. Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Illinois in particular have been criss-crossed by the lines of these interurban electrical enterprises of this nature now. If one so desires he may go from New York to the Mississippi river an electrical interurban line. Sleeping and dining cars have added to the equipment of some of the roads. Another long and important step is that of interchangeable mileage for through interurban traffic, and in some cases connecting with the steam lines. A continuous electric interurban service from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Oregon, has long been the cry of enthusiasts. In a few years we have no doubt it will be accomplished.

The Catalogue House.

The catalogue houses seem to be growing ravenous under the efforts of retailers and their trade papers to counteract their influence. One of these firms publishes a long record, attempting to explain, and seeking to prejudice their customers against their home merchants. The arguments which they advance are easy to refute; there is not a small merchant who cannot answer every one of them off-hand, without study. The point is that the catalogue houses are being hurt by the fight which is made on them. They feel it as they never did before. And they do not follow the example set
