

EX-MAYOR CRUMBO RECOMMENDS PE-RU-NA.

"My Endorsement of Pe-ru-na is Based On Its Merits." -Ed. Crumbo.

Ed. CRUMBO, Ex-Mayor of New Albany, Ind., writes from 511 E. Oak street:

"My endorsement of Peruna is based on its merits.

"If a man is sick he looks anxiously for something which will cure him, and Peruna will do the work.

"I know that it will cure catarrh of the head or stomach, indigestion, headache and any weary or sick feeling.

"It is bound to help anyone, if used according to directions.

"I also know dozens of men who speak in the highest terms of Peruna and have yet to hear of anyone being disappointed in it."

Mr. Crumbo, in a later letter, dated Aug. 20, 1904, says:

"My health is good, at present, but if I should have to take any more medicine I will fall back on Peruna."

Athletic Tournament.

The indoor athletic tournament held at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Friday evening between the junior leaders' club and the working boys' class was won by the latter with a score of 47 to 33. The points were given on the basis of 10 for team work, and 7 for first place and 3 for second place in individual marking.

The events and winners of each are as follows:

Running broad jump—Axley and Jer-man tied, 19 ft. 2 in.

Running high jump—Ostrander 4 ft. 7 in.

High dive—Ostrander, Farmer, South-wick, tied, 4 ft. 6 in.

Relay race—Junior leaders.

Tug of war—Working boys.

Baseball—Working boys.

Basket ball—Working boys.

About 200 persons witnessed the tournament and the rooters for both sides were particularly demonstrative.

Brakeman Meets With Accident.

Brakeman Will Covington, of the Southern Pacific, met with a serious, if not fatal accident Thursday morning at Tangent. He was in the act of cutting the train while it was in motion, and he slipped and fell beneath the cars, cutting his right leg off, his right arm at the shoulder and his left at the wrist. He displayed great grit, and never lost consciousness. He is married and leaves a wife and children in Portland. He is now in a Portland hospital.

Will Plant Walnut Trees.

M. Donahue, who has recently purchased the Plum farm, situated five miles from this city on the McMinnville road, and who came from Chokola, Wash., is planning to set out a 40-acre orchard of English walnuts. This is one of the best properties in the neighborhood, and will doubtless prove a particularly good location for a walnut orchard.

ALL HONOR PADDY

England, Ireland and America Remember the Good Saints Day

London, March 17.—Never before was St. Patrick's day celebrated as generally in this city as today. The Irish flag was displayed on many public buildings and clubs. Special services were held in all Catholic churches in the morning and every Irishman as well as many who are not natives of Erin, wore shamrocks in their button-holes. As usual the Irish troops in the various garrisons were given a day's leave. Queen Alexandra, following the precedent established by Queen Victoria and followed by her ever since she became queen, sent a quantity of shamrocks to the Irish guard in the Tower. The shamrocks were distributed among the men at parade this morning.

Dublin March 17.—St. Patrick's day was observed with more than ordinary zest and enthusiasm today than for many years and more generally than ever before. There was the usual St. Patrick's day parade at the Dublin castle, which was attended by the earl and countess of Aberdeen. The viceregal pair were received with great enthusiasm. Many thousands witnessed the ceremony.

New York, March 17.—The Irishmen of New York and Brooklyn in general and the various Irish organizations in particular are observing St. Patrick's day in the usual manner. As usual there will be a big parade under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of New York county and it is expected that it will be much bigger than for many years. A big ball will be held in Suizer's Harlem river park, not in Madison Square Garden, as the latter will be the scene of the Pastime Athletic club games tonight. There will be no parade, but the St. Patrick society and many other Irish organizations will give banquets in honor of the Irish patron saint.

Baltimore, March 17.—The various local divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will celebrate St. Patrick's day by holding banquets tonight. There will be no parade.

Boston, March 17.—Today was a great day for the Irish, as well as for the American patriots of this city. The Irishmen are celebrating St. Patrick's day, which the American patriots are celebrating the 130th anniversary of the evacuation of Boston by the British troops. The Irish organizations of the city will hold a parade as in former years and it is expected that there will be at least 15,000 men in line on this occasion. In the evening there will be a large number of banquets and patriotic meetings. There were special services in all Roman Catholic churches this morning.

In honor of Evacuation day many patriotic organizations of the city held meetings in the morning and in the afternoon they will visit places of special historic interest. There will be a parade in the afternoon, in which military organizations and various veterans and patriotic societies will take part. In the evening many societies will have banquets and memorial meetings in honor of Evacuation day.

Seranton, Pa., March 17.—There is a double celebration in this city today. The Irishmen of Seranton and vicinity are celebrating St. Patrick's day, while the Welshmen of this district hold their annual Eisteddfod at the North End auditorium. The double celebration has attracted many hundreds of visitors from the surrounding districts, and the town presents a festive appearance. The Eisteddfod comprises three events. The first singing contest was held this morning, another one will be held this afternoon, and the third and final one in the evening. The great St. Patrick's day parade will be held this afternoon and will be under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

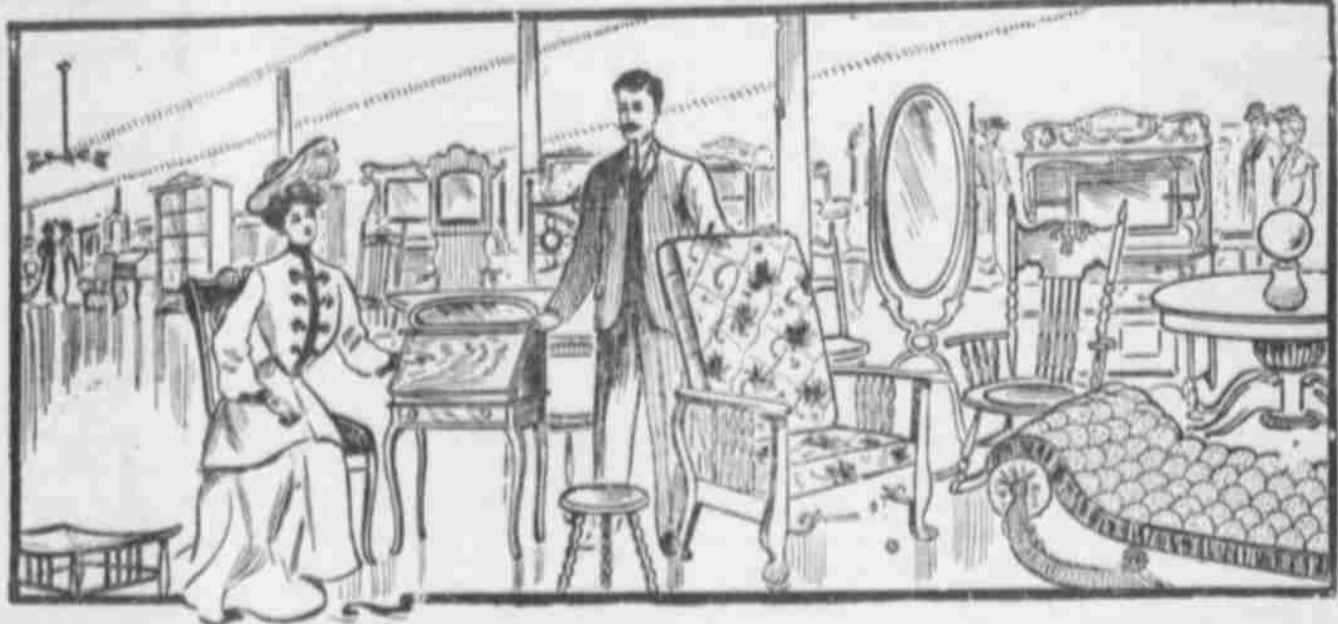

Several Irish-American societies will give St. Patrick's day banquets in the evening.

Lowell, Mass., the Irish organizations of this city will celebrate St. Patrick's day with a parade this afternoon, which promises to be the largest ever held in this city. Many prominent Irishmen and invited guests will review the marchers from the grand stand erected for that purpose. In the evening there will be a number of banquets in honor of the Irish patron saint.

Doctors Are Puzzled.

The remarkable recovery of Kenneth Melver of Vanceboro, Me., is the subject of much interest to the medical fraternity and a wide circle of friends. He says of this case: "Owing to severe inflammation of the throat and congestion of the lungs, three doctors gave me up to die, when, as a last resort, I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and I am happy to say it saved my life." Cures the worst coughs, and colds, bronchitis, tonsillitis, weak lungs, hoarseness and influenza. Guaranteed at J. C. Perry's drug store, Salem, Oregon. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Beat the U. of O.

Willamette University defeated the University of Oregon basketball players last evening, at Eugene, by the score of 14 to 10. The game was the most strenuous played in the Lane county seat. At the end of the first half the score stood 8 to 4 in favor of the Methodists. In the middle of the second half the Eugene players took a brace and brought the figures 8 to 8. Willamette was determined to win, took the lead and when time was called the final score stood 14 to 10. Taylor and Perkins did the work for Oregon and Gray and Nelson for Willamette.

"How are you and Mrs. Noebauer getting on?"
"She's jilted me."
"Congratulations."
"That's not funny."
"But I mean it. I was married to her myself once, and I know."—Cleveland Leader.

Cured Consumption.

Mrs. B. W. Evans, Clearwater, Kan., writes: My husband lay sick for three months. The doctors said he had quick consumption. We procured a bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, and it cured him. That was six years ago, and since then we have always kept a bottle in the house. We can not do without it. For coughs and colds it has no equal. 25c, 50c and $1. For sale by D. J. Fry.

WE ALL WEAR GREEN

Today the green has been in evidence not only in Salem but perhaps in every village and hamlet of the whole country, north and south, east and west, in honor of Ireland's patron saint, the most famous and the most revered of the whole galaxy of holy men, the good Saint Patrick. It seems rather incongruous, but there is little doubt but that St. Patrick was by birth a Frenchman. The day of his birth is uncertain, being placed by different biographers from 361 to 387. His father was Calpornius, a municipal senator of the Roman government, who afterwards entered holy orders, and his grandfather was also a Christian.

When 16 years of age he was made a captive by the soldiers of King Niall, who had invaded France, and was made a slave to four brothers, one of whom, taking a liking to him, purchased him from his brothers, and set him tending his flocks, the principal pastoral occupation of those days. He served his master six years, and then ran away, escaping to France. He was made captive a second time, but for only two months. Later he received holy orders and returned to Ireland, where his preaching converted the greater part of the natives. His life was what would be called "strenuous," too crowded with events to be told in less than a volume.

Suffice it that today he is the best known of all the saints, and is about the only one whom Catholic and Protestant, saint and sinner alike, join in honoring. That he carried the faith through Ireland, and made it a really Christian country long before England was converted is sure.

Today throughout the United States the "hats of green" will be worn in his honor, and if history is correct they will be worn in honor of a truly great man.

So here's to the good saint anyway—may his memory ever remain as green as the sod of his own isle. He died at the age of 120, full of years, full of honors, and revered by all; and today his day is kept in honor by fifty times more people than were in existence in Ireland when he first preached the Christian faith to them.

His Custom.

"My house was robbed for the fifth time last night."
"Have you notified the police?"
"Oh yes. I always send them a marked copy of the daily paper."—Minneapolis Tribune.

Each Blames the Other. Two residents of South Salem, Geo. W. Armstrong and Martin Viesko, engaged in a quarrel last evening at Daue's store, with the result that both are to be tried in Justice Turner's court. Armstrong, who is a carpenter by trade, swore out a warrant for Viesko's arrest, on a charge of assault with battery. Viesko this morning entered a plea of "not guilty," and his case came up for hearing today at 2 o'clock. Martin Viesko, on the other hand, placed information against Armstrong that caused the latter's arrest. He got out on bonds, but will appear to play Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

In Praise of Miss Crossman. One of the members of the Christian Company, that plays here Monday night is Miss Lillian Crossman, daughter of A. B. Crossman, of Portland, former of this city. Miss Crossman is a very talented pupil of Rose Eytting, and the role of "Nettie," one of the graces, does the singing and dancing. The writer saw her recently in "The Maxman," at the Belasco. She thought she made a very sweet appearance. She has a classic face, and no doubt make a name for herself. E. E. H.
