Stockmen Interested in New Blue Mountain Reserve

(Pendleton East Oregonian.)
Who will be superintendent and rangers of the new Blue Mountain forest reserve just re-created by the president and the forestry department?
This question is now being asked by Umatilla county stockmen who feel Umatilla county is entitled to the headquarters and a portion of the appointees of the reserve.
The Blue Mountain reserve as established by the president contains 2,627,000 acres of forest land, a large part of this being in southern Umatilla and northern Grant counties. Pendleton is the chief shipping point for practically all the stock that will be ranged in the reserve and Umatilla county people are deeply interested in the creation of the reserve and in the rules which are to be formulated for its regulation.

The reserve as created follows the general lines of the temporary withdrawal made three years ago, with the exception of 200,000 acres in the valley of the Silvie river, which has been eliminated because of the agricultural nature of the land.

Around the edge of the withdrawal small tracts of agricultural and school land have been eliminated and the boundaries are so drawn as to exclude all land lying along the border which has passed into private ownership under any public land laws.

The original Blue Mountain withdrawal embraced more than 3,000,000 acres. About 500,000 acres more have been left out, so as to make the reserve a compact body of forest land.

Most of the opposition raised against the creation of this reserve at the time of the withdrawal was first made has subsided, and the people of eastern Oregon are now, with few exceptions, satisfied that its establishment is to their interest, particularly since assurance is given that the mountain range will be opened to grazing under such restrictions as protect the grazing areas in all other forest reserves. Special regulations governing grazing in the Blue mountains have not yet been prepared, but will be issued shortly.

The forest reserve, in announcing the creation of the Blue mountain reserve, makes a statement of its purposes and its benefits. The following extracts are made from that report:

The Blue mountain reserve contains numerous headwaters of the John Day, Umatilla, Malheur, Silvie and other rivers, which have important bearings upon the work of the reclamation service in that state. The success of the widely separated Umatilla, Malheur and Silvie creek irrigation projects depend in a large measure upon conservation of the water supply within the great drainage area embraced in this reserve.

The creation of this reserve will have a direct effect in bringing about the agricultural development of a great portion of the state lying east of the Cascade mountains, which needs only irrigation to develop fertility of millions of acres. The land in the mountain regions embraced in the forest reserve will be carefully patrolled at government expense at all times to prevent disastrous fires, and all other possible efforts will be made to sustain and regulate stream-flow to those regions.

THE MAN FOR THE PEOPLE.

Why Thomas B. Kay Should be Nominated for State Senator—He Has Made a Record.

(Aurora Borealis.)

T. B. Kay, the woolen manufacturer of Salem, who is seeking the nomination for state senator, should receive the support of all Republicans who want a good, clean, capable man to make laws for them, and conscientiously look after the interests of the state.

While serving as representative in the legislature for two sessions Mr. Kay was particularly active against normal school grafts, so much so that members from the normal school counties opposed him for speaker of the house.

He made a record along the lines of opposing extravagances in clerk hire, and was, and is the champion of economical legislation, the cutting down of extravagant appropriations, which is of vital interest to every property owner.

This is the man who seeks your influence and votes at the primaries, and the voters will be serving their own interests by nominating him.

See that your ballot is marked for Thomas B. Kay for state senator.

INDIRECT TAXATION POPULAR

Championship of a Popular Reform by a Candidate

Republican Press of the State is Coming to the Support of Frank Wrightman

It is of the greatest importance to the people of Oregon that men be nominated who are advocates of practical ideas of getting money into the treasury as well as out of it.

The candidacy of Hon. Frank T. Wrightman is based on his championship of a system of indirect taxation that would make any direct state tax unnecessary.

The Republican press of the state is catching onto this fact, and more newspapers are advocating his cause today than any other candidate for that office and doing it as a matter of principle. We copy some of these expressions to show the voters that this candidate's efforts are appreciated by the taxpayers.

Ashland Tribune: Mr. Wrightman is an earnest advocate of raising taxes for state purposes by taxing corporations and making the idea popular with all who give ear to his clear explanation of the plan.

Portland New Age: He is an attorney of estimable and eminent reputation in special lines; he is familiar with Oregon, its interests and its policies; he is well known throughout the state as an able and most popular man; he has for years done yeoman service for the Republican party of the state and nation; his pledge is as good as any man's bond; his integrity has never been questioned; his private, business and professional life is without a blemish, and he is fitted by nature, education, experience and training for the important office to which he aspires. Mr. Wrightman is a stickler for system and economy in all the details of his work, whether for the public or for himself alone, and would make an ideal secretary for the great state of Oregon. He deserves the honor of election to that office, and he would confer honor upon the office if elected.

Daily Astorian: Frank T. Wrightman of Salem, one of the best known lawyers of the state, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for secretary of state. Mr. Wrightman is a strong advocate of the indirect tax for maintenance of the state government. By the method which he proposes the state would be able to collect sufficient money for all administrative purposes from corporations and companies owning valuable franchises or other property. Mr. Wrightman is at present corporation clerk in the office of Secretary of State Dunbar and it has been through his capable work that the corporations paid into the state treasury last year $120,000. He is a lawyer by profession and at the present time is president of the Marion county bar association. His candidacy is received with favor throughout the state. If Mr. Wrightman is elected and can secure the passage of this law it will be the means of saving hundreds of thousands of dollars to taxpayers of Oregon. The voters will benefit themselves by electing such a man. Mr. Wrightman is a candidate for secretary of state. May the Wrightman win.

Pendleton Tribune: Mr. Wrightman is and has been a strong advocate of the indirect tax for maintenance of the state government, thereby relieving the taxpayers of this heavy burden. By the indirect tax method which he proposes the state would be able to collect sufficient money for all administrative purposes from corporations and companies owning valuable franchises or other property, thus cutting off the state tax which is apportioned among the several counties of the state and by the county government taxed against the people. Through the indirect tax this money would be paid by the people doing business in Oregon, but owning so real estate here and now escaping their share of the tax burden. Valuable franchises and other holdings, such as bonds and companies organized outside of the state but doing business in the state, bonds and mortgages of big corporations and all other sources of indirect taxation such as maintained by the United States government would be taxed for the benefit of the state. For instance: An express company owning no real estate in Oregon but nevertheless doing an immense business in the state now escapes taxation, but under the indirect tax it would be compelled to pay a just portion of the burden. It was through Mr. Wrightman's efforts as corporate clerk and giving valuable assistance that the corporation tax bill was so amended as to not kill the mining industry of the state. Mr. Wrightman is a strong ally of the miners and has stood by them through all the trouble. He believes in giving the growing industry all the aid possible and for this reason firmly and strongly advocated the minimum license fee of $10 for non-productive mines. This

WANT AND NEED.

There's a big difference between what a baby wants and what he needs. Deny him the one, give him the other. Most babies need Scott's Emulsion—it's the right thing for a baby. It contains a lot of strength-building qualities that their food may not contain. After a while they get to want it. Why? Because it makes them comfortable. Those dimples and round cheeks mean health and ease. Scott's Emulsion makes children easy; keeps them so, too.

took away the pernicious provisions of the Eddy law and gave men owning valuable prospects ample lee way to develop the same without any great tax being levied against them by the state. In fact Mr. Wrightman assisted in drafting the new bill which modified the Eddy law to this extent.

Gives Health, Vigor and Tone.

Herbina is a boon for sufferers from anaemia. By its use the blood is quickly regenerated and the color becomes normal. The drooping strength is revived. The languor is diminished. Health, vigor and tone predominate. New life and happy activity results. Mrs. Belle H. Shiel, Middleborough, Ill., writes: I have been troubled with liver complaint and poor blood, and have found nothing to benefit me like Herbina. I hope never to be without it. I have wished that I had known of it in my husband's life time. 50c. For sale by D. J. Fry.
