

Tumors Conquered Without Operations

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Cases of Mrs. Fox and Miss Adams.

Fannie Fox

Miss Luella Adams

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, tumor.

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by excessive monthly periods accompanied by unusual pain extending from the abdomen through the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation. Secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once and begin its use and write Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Read these strong letters from grateful women who have been cured:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—(First Letter.) "In looking over your book I see that your medicine cures tumors. I have been to a doctor and he tells me I have a tumor. I will be more than grateful if you can help me, as I do so dread an operation."—Fannie D. Fox, Bradford, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—(Second Letter.) "I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine.

"Eighteen months ago my periods stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician, and was told that I had a tumor and would have to undergo an operation. I soon after read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After taking five bottles as directed, the tumor is entirely gone. I have again been examined by the physician and he says I have no sign of a tumor now. It has also brought my periods around once more, and I am entirely well. I shall never be without a bottle of Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the house."—Fannie D. Fox, Bradford, Pa.

Another Case of Tumor Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "About three years ago I had intense pain in my stomach, with cramps and raging headaches. The doctor prescribed for me, but finding that I did not get any better he examined me and, to my surprise, declared I had a tumor.

"I felt sure that it meant my death warrant, and was very disheartened. I spent hundreds of dollars in doctoring, but the tumor kept growing, till the doctor said that nothing but an operation would save me. Fortunately I corresponded with my aunt in one of the New England States, who advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before submitting to an operation, and I at once started taking a regular treatment, finding to my great relief that my general health began to improve, and after three months I noticed that the tumor had reduced in size. I kept on taking the Compound, and in ten months it had entirely disappeared without an operation, and using no medicine but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and words fail to express how grateful I am for the good it has done me."—Miss Luella Adams, Colonnade Hotel, Seattle, Wash.

Such unquestionable testimony proves the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and should give confidence and hope to every sick woman.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all ailing women to write to her at Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Linn County Republican Paper on the Fearless Woodburn Democrat

(Daily Albany Herald.)

The Herald has recognized in Hon. Pearn A. Cochran of Woodburn, Democratic candidate for the congressional nomination, a man of parts as well as of party. Whether he receives the nomination or not, he will have made a campaign, and in his case the banner of Democracy has not only waved in the breeze, but has been flaunted in the still air of unappreciative and unresponsive precincts.

Mr. Cochran was born in Linn county. "The log cabin in which he first saw the light of day is still standing." Some years after the occurrence of that interesting event, this Democratic statesman removed to Woodburn, and of the Queen City he was in many ways its builder.

This is so, for it is thus stated in Mr. Cochran's biography and platform.

Following the lines of this authority, it may be discovered that "he possesses those characteristics and attainments which stamp upon his bearing, as well as on his face, the mark of leadership." Further, it is stated that "P. A. Cochran is a man who is continually struggling with himself to ascertain what is right."

Is not the figure of a struggle most appropriate with reference to anything democratic?

Then, still quoting from his platform, "It does Mr. Cochran more good to shake hands with a Democrat than it does to eat a meal of victuals, and neither the entreaties of his wife, the urgency of business nor the crying needs of an empty stomach have ever been able to entice him away from a heated political argument."

Here, also, is a word of modest self-appreciation: "stalwart of the stalwarts, a well-posted leader in the midst of a thinking community, with a volume of words that roll from his lips like the roar and rush of an untamed river, the audience is carried out upon a sea of enthusiasm, the mighty billows of which have landed him upon more occasions than one high and dry upon the shoulders of his admirers."

Mr. Cochran is an American citizen and a Democrat, for so he states. He favors the democracy of Theodore Roosevelt and Francis J. Henry. He makes Coos Bay five feet deeper than any Republican has dared to hint at. He is in favor of the government doing everything that it ought to do and leaving undone all the things that it ought to leave undone. He favors protecting everybody, but removing protection from everything, excepting a "tariff so laid as to break the back bone of the trusts."

And so on in the same able manner. Inasmuch as there seems to be a disposition on the part of the Democratic papers to avoid mention of this candidacy, one wonders what reason there is for such action. Possibly in the secret councils of the democracy it has been written that the Bourbon party shall strive to elect not merely George E. Chamberlain, but John M. Gearin and T. G. Halley, and the strong suspicion rests upon the party that it is slated to elect this congressman as well.

Certainly Mr. Cochran stands well in his party and was a Democrat during the mewing stage of some of his critics. But there is this hope for Republicans, that while a democracy absolutely committed to the election of one man, with the others to save themselves who can, might menace some Republican candidate, if the Democratic effort is to include Messrs. Chamberlain, Gearin, Halley and Cochran, there is reason to hope and believe that the normal majority may appear for each candidate on the Republican ticket.

Bob Crossman for Clerk.

The Grand Army candidate for office is Robert Anderson Crossman for county clerk of Marion county. The Jefferson Review says of him: "Mr. Crossman is a Republican candidate for county clerk, and he is in every way qualified for the position. He has been a resident of this county for forty years and numbers his friends by his acquaintances. If he is our next clerk our people may feel assured that the office will be well conducted and that they will be courteously treated whenever they call there.
