CAME BACK FROM THE GRAVE

THIRTEEN MINERS ARE SAVED

Shut Off From Light, and Almost Hopeless, Exist for Twenty Days in the Depths of the Earth

Leas, France, March 30.—Fourteen miners entombed in the Courriers mine at the time of the disaster on March 10th were taken out alive this morning by a searching party exploring the working. They lived 20 days with no light, and little air. With one exception all were well, but could not have lived long.

When cut off by the explosion they took refuge in the stable where the mules were kept. They subsisted for four days on the lunches their dead comrades took down the day of the disaster, and then on the grain and water taken down for the stock.

Wall Street Guesses Peace.

New York, March 30.—News on the stock exchange from the bituminous meeting is construed favorably, and induced confident buying. As a result the market hardened.

Chicago Markets.

Chicago, March 30.—Wheat 77@77½; corn, 44½; oats, 30½@30¾.

The Divine Sarah in Texas.

Houston, Tex., March 30.—Mrs. Sarah Bernhardt, the great French tragedienne, and her company of French actors, arrived here this morning by special train from San Antonio and was given an enthusiastic ovation by her numerous admirers. She will give only two performances in this city and will open her farewell engagement to night at the Auditorium with "Camille," one of her most famous roles. Tomorrow night she will play "La Sorciere." From here Mrs. Bernhardt will go to Tyler, where she will give but a single performance.

IDAHO COLLEGE BURNS

Main Building of University Destroyed at Early Hour This Morning

(Four O'Clock Edition.)

Moscow, Idaho, March 30.—The main building of the Idaho State University was destroyed by fire early this morning. The fire was discovered by the night watchman at 2 o'clock. It started in the girls' rest room, following the intercollegiate debate held last night. Loss, $200,000, with $100,000 insurance.

Miners and Operators.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 30.—A communication from the operators regarding an appeal to the President was considered at the miners' conference this morning, and filed for future reference. The question of signing the scale in individual districts, as asked by Operator F. L. Robbins, who offers to restore the 1903 scale, was taken up and discussed.

Mitchell made a long speech, discussing at length the resolution to sign the individual scale. He said he had telegrams from operators, whose interests were voted against a settlement, saying if the Pittsburg Coal Company continues to operate at an advance, their mines would do so. He expressed his regard for those whose judgment differs from his. He referred to the attack of yesterday by Parker and said if the miners believe in his personal integrity and judgment as to what is best for them was shaken, he should be sent home and relieved of all responsibility.

Mitchell is definitely recorded as favoring emphatically the Robbins plan to work the mines if the operators are willing to re-establish the 1903 scale. He substantiated the statement to Roosevelt that 50 per cent of the coal tonnage of the country favors the Robbins plan.

Mitchell said the tonnage represented by operators willing to compromise was not only in the central districts, but also in the southwest.

The convention this afternoon adopted a resolution under which there will be no strike anywhere, except where the local mine operators refuse to sign the 1903 scale.

Des Moines, Ia., March 30.—The operators and mine workers of Iowa this afternoon held a meeting, and will sign an agreement if the 1903 scale is adopted by the Indianapolis convention.

New York, March 30.—The anthracite operators are in constant communication with Bear, and are awaiting anxiously the reply of Mitchell to Bear's telegram, asking if it was so that he had ordered the miners to stop Monday. Retail dealers today ordered an advance of one dollar per ton on anthracite.

Washington, March 30.—The cabinet this afternoon adjourned after two hours and a half discussion of the coal situation. Loeb announced that the President had not yet answered the operator's telegram, and that probably no steps would be taken in the matter today.

Operators Are Weakening.

Washington, March 30.—The President has received a telegram from Mitchell and Robbins, declaring that at least 50 per cent of the operators are willing to sign the scale demanded by the miners. This is taken to mean the miners believe there is no cause for the President's interference.

Harvard-Yale Debate.

New Haven, Conn., March 30.—The annual intercollegiate debate between teams of Harvard and Yale will take place here this evening. The subject of the debate will be as follows: "Resolved, that it would be for the interest of New York city to own its own street railway system, the term railway being taken to mean elevated, subway and surface lines."

"COMING FATHER ABRAHAM"

Eleven Thousand Emigrants Reach New York in One Day

New York, March 30.—Over 11,000 immigrants arrived in the harbor of New York Thursday on board seven steamships, from European ports. This number is the record for a single day which has been made thus far during the annual spring influx. Ellis island, where these immigrants are examined and either rejected or admitted to the United States can care for less than half of today's arrivals, its limit being 5000 daily. Those who cannot be landed today will be kept in the harbor on their steamer until later in the week. These immigrants include the following nationalities: English, Irish, German, Swedes, Hungarians, Italians, Portuguese and Russians.

SCALDED HUSBAND TO DEATH

Stockton, Cal., March 30.—Mrs. Jas. Dedmon, whose awful crime is calling her husband to death at Bear Valley, Mariposa county, after finding him in a tavern in company with another woman, is one of the most horrible committed in that county, remains stolid and indifferent. She is in the Mariposa county jail, and refuses to talk, having retained counsel to defend her.

The woman played detective on her own account. She learned of the presence of her husband in the resort with the woman. Her rage was indescribable. She considered herself jilted and wronged, and made deliberate preparations for revenge. While her husband slept she procured a kettle of boiling water and poured it over him. Driven frantic by pain and terror, the husband called for help, saying his wife had attempted to kill him. He later died of his injuries.

Officials believe all evidence necessary to convict is in the hands of District Attorney J. A. Adaire, of Mariposa county. The case will be heard April 23d.

Navy Wants No Junk Files.

Washington, D. C., March 30.—The navy department is disposed to resist the plan of placing a cost upon repairs of steel vessels. In the case of wooden ships this restriction equals ten per cent of the cost of the new vessel, and any such rule applied to steel vessels would practically prohibit the current work of alteration, which may now be done on board the battleships and armored cruisers without special authority of congress. The ten per cent limitation would interfere with all of the larger projects for naval repair, such as that recently accomplished on the Indiana, and now proposed for the Massachusetts at the Brooklyn navy yard.

Rear Admiral Capps, the chief constructor of the navy, is of the opinion that the limitation should not be less than 30 per cent, and most of the naval experts believe that no special advantage is to be derived from having a limit of cost applied to repairs of steel vessels, unless, of course, congress is willing to maintain a large "rotten row" and add new ships to the active service each year to take the place of those sent to the junk heap. The limitation is proposed as a provision in the next naval appropriation act, and if it is enacted into law it is likely there will be much embarrassment of the service.

Ordered a Grand Jury.

New York, March 30.—Justice Dowling of the supreme court, has ordered a special grand jury this morning to investigate insurance matters.

WAS PUT IN TRUNK ALIVE

McVicar Died From Morphine and Chloral or Else From Suffocation

Stockton, Cal., March 30.—Albert N. McVicar came to his death from morphine and chloral poisoning. Coroner Southworth this morning received the following from Roy Rogers, chemist at San Francisco: "The examination of the stomach, pancreas and liver discloses a small quantity of chloral, and a large quantity of morphine. Persistent efforts were made to find cyanide of potassium, but the result is positive proof of its absence." No morphine or chloral were found in McVicar's or Mrs. LaDoux's effects. This puts the prosecution against a new problem. The inquest will be held this afternoon. The defense will probably be that Mrs. LaDoux did not administer the poison, but it will probably be admitted that she did put the body in the trunk. Coroner Southworth is now positive McVicar was put in the trunk while still alive.

Hatchery on South Coos.

Cooe Bay, March 30.—H. G. Van Dusen, state fish warden, has just let a contract to A. J. Savage, of Marshfield, to construct a hatchery building on South Coos river, on the site where the operations have been carried on successfully for the past five years.

The building will be something of the style of the Wallows hatchery, and will be 104 feet 6 inches by 55 feet 4 inches. It will be equipped with 156 hatching troughs, and it is estimated that 10,000,000 fish can be hatched each season.

"The building will be only about half the size of the Wallows station, but oh account of the mild climate here," said Mr. VanDusen, "we will be able to handle a great many more eggs. We can carry on more than half of the work out in the open."

While here the fish warden will select a site for a hatchery on the Coquille river, to be in readiness for fall work. Heretofore the heavy logging in the different forks of the Coquille has prevented the fish from going up the streams far enough, and eggs were taken at the Coos river station and hatched and the small fry taken over there in large milk cans and turned loose when they were a couple of inches long. Mr. VanDusen considers the Coos river hatchery one of the best locations in the West.

The Minneapolis Murder.

(Four O'Clock Edition.)
Minneapolis, March 30.—The attempt to connect Petro Stoja with the murder of the six Bulgarians failed. The funeral were held today. Stoja said he had been the leader of the band of which the dead were members, but declares they were not of his party.

Will Keep Hands Off.

(Four O'Clock Edition.)
Washington, March 30.—If the President follows the cabinet's advice he won't interfere with the coal situation. It is understood he has been counseled it will be inadvisable to appoint a commission now. It has been pointed out that the miners and operators have not exhausted all their means to avert a strike.

Preparing for a Strike.

(Four O'clock Edition.)
Saginaw, Mich., March 30.—The Pere Marquette road has discontinued 21 trains on its various lines in Michigan on account of the threatened coal strike, and its inability to store coal for more than 30 days. It has confiscated all the coal found.

Big Meeting Tonight.

Santa Cruz, Cal., March 30.—The annual students' conference of the Young Women's Christian Association of the Pacific slope opens tonight at the Capitola, with 200 delegates present. Miss Bertha Gorle, national secretary, is in charge.

RIVER BURSTS SEVERE

Thousands of Acres of Grain and Pasture Land Flooded in California

(Four O'Clock Edition.)

Losd, Cal., March 30.—The Mokelumne levee, near Sacramento, on the San Joaquin border, broke during the night. Thousands of acres of wheat and pasture lands are flooded. The cut is a quarter of a mile long, and much livestock is threatened.

CROWD PREVENTS HANGING

Baltimore, Md., March 30.—This morning disorder prevails at Towson, the county seat of Baltimore county, where the authorities are endeavoring to hang the negro, Isaac Winter, for the murder a few weeks ago of an aged toll-gate keeper named Reinhardt. The excited mob tore down the barricade about the jail yard, and the police were unable to cope with it. The trees and housetops are filled with masses of people. The crowd is so dense the sheriff is unable to execute the prisoner.

Baltimore, Md., March 30.—Winder was hanged at 11:40. He struggled and fought until beaten into submission and placed over the trap.

End of an Interesting Life.

Florence, March 30.—The death of Signora Jessie White Mario has revived the memories of her remarkable career as a staunch ally of Giuseppe Garibaldi, with whom she went to the various campaigns in which he fought. As a young girl named Jessie White, she left her home at Cowes while still in her teens to study art in France and Italy. She was the daughter of a well known Isle of Wight boat builder. In Italy she made the acquaintance of the Garibaldi family, and acted as a sort of governess in the Garibaldi household.

In 1857 Miss White was engaged in journalistic work, and contributed to English newspapers articles dealing with the political situation in Italy. About that time she married Major Alberto Mario, one of Garibaldi's officers. She threw herself with ardor into the struggle for Italian unity and was imprisoned with her husband for a month or two, being banished in the end. After a stay in America Signor and Signora Mario rejoined Garibaldi's camp and Signora Mario resumed her journalistic work.

With Garibaldi's "red shirts" Signora Mario went through the Italian campaigns of 1859 and 1860. She had on several occasions to escape from dangerous situations in disguise and frequently risked her life by taking the place of others who were being pursued and in imminent peril of capture. Garibaldi spoke of her as the bravest woman of modern times and Mazzini, Victor Emmanuel and other Italian leaders were warm in admiration of her. She refused all rewards for her services with the exception of two gold medals, which were struck in her honor by some of the wounded whom she had attended in her office as inspectress of ambulances, a post conferred upon her on the battlefield by Garibaldi.

Of the mementoes of her adventurous career which she cherished most were two photographs of herself which Garibaldi presented to her. One was inscribed to herself as "To my dearest sister," and bore the dates of four campaigns in which she had been engaged. The other was addressed to her husband, whom Garibaldi addressed as "My dearest friend and brother-in-arms."

Social conditions are badly out of tune when more respect is paid to a full purse than a good heart.
