

Here's an "ELASTIC" Idea for Spring House-Cleaning

THE Globe-Wernicke Unit Book-Case Libraries are as easy to take down as they are to build up! You can move them from room to room or from house to house without taking out the books.

What a boon to housekeepers! Not to have to take out every book, dust it and put it back in the same old way on the same old shelf. Globe-Wernicke Book-Case Units are dust-proof—every unit has a glass door that is lined, and also an anti-binding equalizer that prevents the door jamming or sticking. The opportunities for making an attractive home library with these cases are practically unlimited.

A set of illustrated suggestions for home libraries mailed free to any enquirer. No other concern manufactures either the variety of styles, sizes and finishes that the Globe-Wernicke Company does.

RESIST TUTTLE ROAD LAW

Opposition and Remonstrance to Its Provisions

Good Roadster Objects

To the Editor:
I have been interested in what has been appearing in The Journal from time to time on the Tuttle road law, under the arbitrary powers given the county court. A petition was presented for the improvement of the Salem-Jefferson road, containing 57 names, 25 of whom live on another road within the two-mile limit, but are not benefited and do not use the road, and have already been informed that they are not interested, and will not have to pay anything. Said 25 are on the tax list to the tune of $22,000. Eighteen of the remaining 32 names do not appear on the 1905 tax list. One with $51 personal property, the remaining 13 pay about $15,000. On the strength of this disinterested petition, the court has appointed viewers, one of whom has a greater direct interest than any man in Marion county. The viewers have been over the road, and are ready for the property holders along said road to begin paying their per diem.

GOOD ROADSTER

Remonstrance from Liberty.

We, the undersigned, residents and owners of real estate situated within two miles on either side and one mile beyond the terminus of what is known as the Liberty-Independence road and the Prospect Hill road, described in the petitions for the improvements thereof, now on file in the county court for Marion county, Oregon, under what is known as the Tuttle road law, do hereby object to, and remonstrate against the allowance by the court of the proposed improvement of said county roads:

A Narrow Escape.

Jim Darrow, one of the veterans of South Salem, had a narrow escape from losing his life yesterday, while excavating stumps on the property of Dr. Robinson, on South Commercial street. He had put in a blast of dynamite, and the explosion came before he expected it, and a huge piece of the stump flew into the air, glazing the side of his head with such force as to cut it in several places. He was cared for by some of the neighbors, and was soon all right, but just a little scared from such an escape.

From Winter to Summer Quickly.

It is really amazing how quickly one may travel from an almost polar winter, with all of its characteristics, into an early spring and its agricultural activities. Traveling at the average rate of 40 miles an hour in a southern direction, a single night is long enough to get from winter's snowy blanket and icy fetters to many indications of approaching spring. The snow has disappeared, except from the northern slopes, and the waters of streams, securely imprisoned under thick and impenetrable roofs of ice the night before, are now breaking through and running cold and blue in ice bordered riffs, murmuring and gurgling as if in glee at their escape from winter's cruel prison house.

As the day advances the winter wheat grows green marvelously fast; the meadows and pastures are rapidly putting themselves in shape to entertain the animal guests that will soon arrive; the willow branches are garbing themselves in their golden green gala colors to welcome the swelling buds that announce the coming leaves. The highways that were long streaks of black mire over prairies or hills in the morning have changed to dry, gray lines in a single day, and before that day's close the first born dust of spring is seen following teams in baby clouds.

The second night shuts out the speedily changing scene, and the changes wrought during its veiled hours seem the more wonderful by reason of the marked contrast between the earth's aspect between the going down and rising of the sun. The traveler is now only 36 hours from his home, where winter's sway is yet supreme and gives no token of ever resigning, but he finds himself confronted by conditions that make him feel that by some witchery of magic he has been transferred suddenly from February to May, or even June.

The air is balmy, fragrant, and full of the melody of singing birds. The plowman is afield; the soil is being made ready for the new crops of cane and cotton; early spring vegetables are being harvested for home use or distant market; fruit trees and vines are in blossom or have already set their fruit. The only suggestion of the snow banks of 36 hours ago are the masses of white roses in door yards and along the fences. Overcoats are discarded and shirts and overalls seem almost burdensome raiment. Houses without foundations other than posts or slender brick piers, lifting the structures two or three feet above ground, tell the story of no required protection from cold blasts in that part of the building, and the architecture of the whole indicates that warbling off severe cold was not a part of the builder's scheme.

The degree and suddenness of the change one experiences in so few hours has a peculiar effect upon him. He often finds himself stopping to think what time of the year it is, and is surprised when assured that he is still in mid-winter, that January is not yet gone; and still more so when he remembers that it is only a full day and a half since his cheeks tingled, his eyes watered and his whole frame shivered in the atmosphere of a northern winter.

The railroad of today makes possible the wonder working experiences herewith suggested. No other mode of transit can do it, and the wonder is that it can, all things considered. We boast of the geographical extent of our country, and it is impossible to realize how small the railroad makes it, trying us from cold blasts to warm zephyrs, from ice to palm, from balls to oranges, and from furs to summers almost while we sleep. It is a wonderful age this, and probably the wonderful in the promise it gives more wonderful ages to follow.

Scientific Talks on Labor.

Philadelphia, April 6.—The American Academy of Political and Social Science opened its tenth annual meeting here today. The meeting will last two days and promises to be an interesting event held by the organization. The academy has grown since it was founded ten years ago. It has now about 3300 members, of whom about 200 are residents in foreign countries. The attendance at the meeting is unusually large and among the present are many men of great distinction.

The general topic to be discussed at the meeting this year is "The Improvement of Labor Conditions in the United States," and four subjects have been arranged for the discussion of this subject. Under the general subject four sub-topics have been chosen: "The Length of the Work Day," "The Settlement of Labor Conflicts by Means of Trade Agreements," "The Condition of the Worker in the North," "The Condition of the Working Women in the United States."

Among the prominent speakers will take part in the discussion: Robert Hunter of New York; E. Vreeland, president of the National City Railway company; Samuel B. May, secretary of the general union board of the New York Trades; George H. Ellis, president of the United Typographical Association; William B. Prescott, ex-president of the International Typographical Association; E. E. Clark, grand chief conductor of the Order of Railway Conductors; Mrs. J. G. Phelps Stokes.

Fruit Growers Meet Tomorrow.

The Marion County Horticultural Society will hold its first regular meeting tomorrow, Saturday, at the city hall, at 1:30 p. m. The importance of a horticultural society to the fruit interests of the county lies in the educational features. It is not intended as a co-operative selling association—that is looked after by the growers' co-operative unions—but as a place where ideas and experiences are talked over and methods discussed.

The attendance of everyone interested in growing fruit, flowers or shrubbery, either for market or pleasure, is desired.

Governor Chamberlain has promised to be present and address the meeting, provided business does not call him away. Prof. R. H. Lake, of O. A. C., will be present. M. McDonald will offer some suggestions in regard to walnut culture. Noah Welch will read a paper on small fruit. J. E. Murphy will present the subject of "The Drainage," and L. M. Gilbert "Lessons from the March Breeze." A free discussion on all subjects presented will be had.

Human Blood Marks.

A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the home of J. H. Williams, a well known merchant of Har. Ky. He writes: "Twenty years ago I had severe hemorrhages of the lungs, and was near death when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have remained well ever since." It cures Hemorrhages, Chronic Coughs, Settled Colds, and Bronchitis, and is the only known cure for Weak Lungs. Every bottle guaranteed by J. C. Perry, druggist. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

JOWER GIVEN THE LIMIT.

No Mercy Shown Chinaman, Who Must Go to Jail and Pay Fine.

Despite the efforts of the offenders, W. S. Jower, the Chinese, was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and 90 days' imprisonment for disorderly conduct with Martha Smith, or Parquer.

Martha has a sister, Mrs. Nora Smith living at 944 Gastenbein avenue, and the reason Martha did not tell the court this was that she was afraid of the disgrace that would come to her relative.

A physician of the Dekum building, became interested in the orphan, and called at the municipal court, and requested that she be placed under his care, as she became very ill last night and needed medical attendance. George Steyer, of the North East Mission, also applied at the court, and requested that he be given a chance to aid the girl.

Deputy Attorney Fitzgerald stated this afternoon that he would keep Martha under his control until he could decide what was best for her.

"She is a pretty girl, and is 15 years of age, instead of 20, as she first told me," said Mr. Fitzgerald. "The child is of a character easily led, and I will see that she is started on the right road."

"Habe" Cullen was before Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald and Captain Bruis this morning, and admitted that she had been a companion of Martha Smith, and did not deny that she first led her astray. "Habe" Cullen is now Mrs. G. S. Irish. Mr. Fitzgerald administered a severe rebuke to her, and dismissed her from his office. It is reported that Martha Smith's correct name is Martha Piquet.

That she will have care is certain by the expression of Judge Cameron and Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald, and it was the gratified opinion of all connected with the case that Mrs. M. J. Walker, proprietress of the Kingston House, was fined $100 for her connection with the case. It took Judge Cameron three minutes to decide this woman's fate, as no defense was made by her attorney.

The case against Jower, charged with having opium in his possession, was continued for one week, owing to the necessary absence of his attorney in Spokane.—Telegram.

Smith-LaRant Wedding.

Hon. Robert Glenn Smith, of Grants Pass, and Miss Ida V. LaRant, of Wilbur, were married at the home of the bride at Wilbur this week. The bride is a sister of Mrs. R. A. Booth, of Eugene, and the groom is widely known throughout the Willamette valley. He was one of the ablest men in the last session of the Oregon Legislature and many have reason to remember the silver tones of the honorable gentleman in the house of representatives.

A Dandy for Burns.

Dr. Bergin, Pass, Ill., writes: "I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment; always recommended it to my friends, as I am confident there is no better made. 'It is a dandy for burns.' Those who live on farms are especially liable to many accidental cuts, burns, bruises, which heal rapidly when Ballard's Snow Liniment is applied. It should always be kept in the house for cases of emergency." 25c, 50c and $1. Sold by D. J. Fry.

Prof. W. P. Drew, blind school glee club, boys' band and Salem's boy soprano will give musical numbers at the Boys' Club camp fire tonight.

Did You See Them?

The last year's suits that I fixed up for this year's wear. Look just like new. Albert Shaw, 489 Court street.

The big parade starts at 7:20 o'clock from Y. M. C. A. along Commercial, State, High, Court and Commercial to Y. M. C. A. All performers will parade in costume.

When Emperor William visited Crefeld in 1903 a group of girls complained to his majesty that they had no dancing partners and begged him to send a regiment of cavalry here. The emperor promised to do so, and today a regiment of hussars are here from Dusseldorf, and with it came the emperor, who had decided to take part in the regiment's reception.

The young women of the city enthusiastically acclaimed the soldiers and banded the staff officers heaps of floral offerings for his majesty. The latter, replying to the mayor's speech of welcome, said: "I have kept my word. Today I have given the town its garrison and the young ladies their partners."

The emperor's remarks were greeted with cheers.

The city, which is the center of the silk and velvet industry, was gayly decorated for the occasion, a mile of the principal streets being hung with decorations of velvet and silk.
