RABBI WISE

Sunday was a strenuous day for Rabbi Wise of Portland, who spent the day in Salem. At 9 o'clock he addressed the inmates of the state prison; at 11 o'clock he spoke at the Unitarian church, and in the afternoon he made an address to the boys at the Reform school. At the prison the services were begun by singing the doxology, which was led by the prison choir. One of the boys sang a solo Rabbi Wise then read the 2rd Psalm and after prayer by the chaplain, Rev. St. Pierre, the prison orchestra discoursed sweet music. One of the men played a violin solo which was partieularly well rendered. In a few well chosen words Chaplain St. Pierre introduced Dr. Wise as one of the prisoners' best friends, one who in spite of his many duties at home was willing to come to Salem and speak to them. That the men appreciated the Rabbi's address was manifested by the intense attention given the speaker and the hearty laughter that greeted the humorous stories he so aptly interwove in

The speaker congratulated the prisoners on the splendid spirit of self sacrifice they exhibited in their contribution to the San Francisco sufferers He said he would always be proud to have had a part in the drafting and assisting in the enactment of the inde-Leaves Corvallis11:30 a. m. terminate and parole laws now on the Arrives at Albany12:15 p. m. statute books of the state and which appeared to work so satisfactory. Men are striving above any other thing to acquire power, with some it is money, with others educatice, and there are men that use that power rightly and there are others who All of the above connect with South- pect, not pride, and here he told the himself because he is a man, the greatest thing in the world. It was the self control which made the Japanese indomitable, courageous and unconquered in the late war with Russia.

"Man is put into the world to do hard thing. But suppose," said Dr. Wise, "that he forgets himself, that he loses control of self, who will say that he can not regain himself though he has fallen. H emay regain himself the possibility of man." The discourse was of a practical, positive and helpful nature, and left a strong impres sion upon these who listened to it.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, the eloquent and energetic minister of Beth Israel Temple, of Portland, occupied the pulpit of Unity church yesterday morning and was greeted by a large audience. Some special music had been provided for the occasion and after a short prayer by the pastor, Rev. Powell, the distinguished Jewish leader and orator, said:

"Who is the true optimist? The true optimist, it has been said, is the WEEKLY man who, in the midst of rain and storm, will say, 'How beautifully and radiantly is the sun shining!' I would rather hold that the optimist is he who in the midst of rain and storm declares, 'It is raining; the storm is upon us: but I am going to do my work as if the sun was shining radiant ly.' The board of aldermen considered a roposition to make New York a paraise. The plan is contained in a brief that was submitted to Mayor McClellan by L. B. Lathrop and Dr. Hans Liebreich of Gloucester, Mass. The mayor referred the matter to the board of aldermen. It was set forth in the eles of dust and various other things all of which go to make up what is called a plague. Upon approaching New York the traveler sees a gigantic cloud which is similar to a volcanic witch kettle. It is this which comprises the plague, and the plan is a system of "air canalization and evacuation to carry off all this poisonous deposit it somewhere in the Atlantic ity will be reduced to the lowest minimum." At is stated that the cost of 000, but it is suggested that if the city desires to make an inexpensive experiment it may try the plan in the subway, and in a few minutes thereby rid the tube of the foul atmosphere It is estimated that this "plague" contains 150,000,000 cubic yards which can be carried off through the sewers thus allowing the pure oxygen of the upper cloud regions to cover the city The board of aldermen referred the proposition to the health committee, without suggestion.

She eagerly asked the price, and to the amazement of her friend she paid spot eash, and ordered the hat sent at once "But what do you want with a brown straw?" asked the chum, "you haven" a brown gown." "Oh, I know all that," answered the purchaser, "but do you see all the ribbon I am getting on that hat? Well, I can get a brown linen suit and wear the hat a few times. Then, you see, I am just daffed itself. He then spoke of the man who meaning of the faces that looked at about russet shoes. I wear them the whole year round-in the house, I mean -in the winter. People are asking whether the San Francisco disaster will effect the presidential campaign. One of the leaders in the political field owns much property in the stricken city, and it is unquestionably lost a great deal of its thing is sure-the buildings will be of value. Will money be as ready to hand out and easy to lavish on all political schemes the leader fancies? It does not appear possible that the sinews of war can be supplied as readily as they have been, and changes of attitude on the part of public questions may soon be looked for. The earthquake may have shaken Mr. Hearst's power to wage political war as much as it has length is to be built at a point upon on hand in no time.
