California Affairs Are Mixed.

(Four O'Clock Edition.)
Sacramento, Cal., June 5.—The validating bills were given a knockout blow when the assembly convened this morning. Yielding to the clamor against it, the assembly judiciary committee, at last night's meeting, withdrew its measures, and action in accordance with this recommendation was taken immediately after the committee submitted its report. Included in the reports was the recommendation that McInerney's bill, providing for the establishment of land titles be passed. The committee also took favorable action on the special verdict bill. Bills extending the statute of limitation in the matter of action on mortgages and book accounts went the way of the validating bills. The session of the senate was again very brief, little being done beyond the receipt of the report of the finance committee, which recommended for passage of bills providing for the appropriation of $3000 for the immediate use of the insurance commissioner and a further appropriation of $5000 a year for the same official. Also an appropriation of $35,000 for the state normal school at San Jose, which was damaged by the earthquake.

Made Things Lively.

Half a dozen men on horseback in pursuit of 20 frightened steers made an exciting scene on various streets in Corvallis Tuesday. The object was to get the animals across the ferry, and in the attempt to get them to the river nearly the whole band broke away and swam across Mary's river, three of them floating into the Willamette and scrambling up the bank near the ferry. Chief Lane, J. C. Lowe, Charlie Schenfield and one or two others were working at the ferry landing, and as the horsemen and band of steers swept towards the spot, the telephone men made a bee line up the nearest pole. Mr. Lowe was seen to seek shelter behind a wild rose bush several hundred yards away, while Chief Lane, according to report, began to repeat, "Now I lay me down to sleep" with more fervor than his usual wont. After much racing about, the steers were finally crossed on the ferry and placed in fresh pasture on the Linn county side.—Corvallis Gazette.

A FINE COMPANY HERE

"The Country Girl," a four-act comedy drama was presented by the Brigham-Caulkins Company at the Edison last evening before a crowded house. The play is full of both humor and pathos, and contains some splendid scenes. The work of the company is first-class in every respect. Mr. Caulkins is a strong actor, and played his role splendidly. Miss Iva Shepard, as "Meroy Baxter," a country girl, well, she is simply delicious; tenderness, pathos, humor, wit, sweetness and just true American girlhood, and—it is all there.

The grade of the North Bank railroad (so-called) will be the nearest level of all tracks on the Pacific coast, and will also be the nearest straight, considering its length. One locomotive can handle 100 freight cars either way, between Vancouver and Pasco. The westward trend, although down grade, drops only one foot in 500. This accords with the reports of the original surveys made 40 years ago. At Vancouver or Portland engines with 100 cars may enter or depart without inconvenience or loss of time.—Sherman County Observer.

The funeral of W. N. Chambers, for several years United States customs inspector, was held under the auspices of the local lodge of Elks, of which he was a member, at the lodge rooms of the order yesterday afternoon, the formal burial service being observed. Rev. J. Bowersox, pastor of the second United Evangelical church, preached the sermon. The obsequies were attended by large delegations from the Elks, the Eagles and the Woodmen of the World, to which fraternities Mr. Chambers belonged. Many beautiful floral offerings were contributed by these orders and by Mr. Chambers' friends. The pallbearers were D. J. Gregory, T. E. Manner and Samuel Jones, representing the Elks, and M. J. Gallagher, W. B. Crewdson and E. L. Logan, from the United States customs offices. The remains were cremated. Mr. Chambers' death was due to Bright's disease, and came after a brief illness, during which he was removed to the Good Samaritan hospital, where he passed away last Friday. Mr. Chambers had resided in this city about 13 years, coming here from Salem, and was 56 years old. He leaves a widow and adopted daughter.—Telegram.

Obituary.

Lillie May Hessman died at her home in Wasco, Oregon, June 1st, after an illness of three weeks. She was born near Turner March 27, 1882. She became a Christian four years ago, and her sweet, Christian character has been the remark of everyone who knew her. A large circle of friends and neighbors attended the funeral at Turner, Sunday, June 3d. The services were conducted by Elder D. Errett, of the First Christian church of Salem. The surviving members of the family are Henry Hessman, her father; J. B. Hessman, J. H. Hessman, of Gates; E. H. Jory, adopted son, of Salem, brothers, and Mrs. J. W. Still, of Jordan.

The personal loss of this beautiful life was manifested by the expressed sorrow at the services, as evidenced by the family and a host of sympathizing friends. Only the memory of her splendid life, and her womanly virtues can in any way atone for her personal presence.
