CLERK WITH A GRAFT

Had a Rake Off of Fifteen Thousand Dollars a Year

Philadelphia, June 6.—Additional evidence of graft among the Pennsylvania railroad officials was developed by the interstate commerce commission today. J. R. Boyer, chief clerk of the motive power department, admitted getting money from the coal companies. Much came to him in unrecorded letters. His rake-off on the tonnage was received from the operators furnishing the company coal. Boyer's receipts from one company in two years amounted to $15,000. Another company paid Boyer $18,000. Payments stopped when the investigation began. The coal companies furnishing the railroad with engine coal paid Boyer $46,000 in three years. Boyer's salary was $600 annually. He said he never disclosed the money given him, and his superiors had no knowledge of the transaction. He said he never solicited the money. He did not wrestle with his conscience, and did not think he had done anything reprehensible. He said he did not favor the companies that paid

CHICAGO PACKERS KICKING

(Four O'clock Edition.)

Washington, June 6.—Thomas E. Wilson, representing the Chicago packers, has invited the house committee of agriculture to visit the plants, and the invitation may be accepted. He read a statement favoring the extension of inspection and a system of sanitary regulations; endorsed the recommendation in the Neill-Reynolds report, but objected to the packers paying the inspection fee. He recommended placing an inspection date on meats, and allowing the secretary of agriculture to be the judge of sanitation construction. Wilson and Neill clashed when Wilson denied the incident in the report of a hog slipping into a privy. Neill reiterated that it happened in one of the largest establishments, but would not say which. Wilson objected to taking the packers' business out of the packers' hands and placing it in that of theorists' and chemists' hands, and denied that meat was "reprocessed."

Liquor Men Want Lower Rates.

Louisville, Ky., June 5.—The annual convention of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association opened here today with a large attendance of delegates representing every part of the United States. The convention will last three days and the local liquor men have made special efforts for the entertainment of the delegates. At the same time the National Association of Mail Order Liquor Dealers is holding its annual convention here at the Seelbach. This association, which is incorporated under the laws of Kentucky, has now about 40 members. It was organized last year in Chicago with an original membership of seven members.

Matters of great importance to the liquor trade will be discussed at both conventions. The principal fight now on in which the mail order houses are interested, is a fight with the express companies for a reduced rate of transportation. The companies held for the regular merchandise rate, but through the efforts of the association a reduction has been granted. The reduction, however, has not been great enough to satisfy the demands of the association, and the fight is still being continued. Robert I. Crigler of Covington, Ky., is president of the association.
