SURPRISES OF THE ELECTION.

That Dr. Withycombe was defeated. That Jonathan Bourne was elected. That Justice Hailey of the supreme court was defeated. That the people upheld the general appropriation bill. That the big appropriations for normal schools and higher education were not defeated. That the amendments to the local option law were defeated. That woman suffrage was defeated by an increased vote. That not a single Democrat should have been elected to the house of representatives.

VOTING ON LIKES AND DISLIKES.

The Oregonian considers it very un-reasoning on the part of so many people that they voted for Governor Chamberlain because they "liked" the man, ALTHOUGH OPPOSED TO HIS POLITICAL PRINCIPLES.

WELL, MOST PEOPLE DO "LIKE" A LIKEABLE MAN—OR WOMAN.

People are more governed by their "likes" and "dislikes," by their inclinations and prejudices, however unreasonable that may be, than by their calm deliberate judgment, or reasoning faculties.

At the foundation of likes and dislikes is incipient love and hate. The Oregonian believes voters, acting for the public welfare, should be guided solely by principle.

IN THIS RESPECT IT IS RIGHT, BUT A GREAT PART OF OUR POLITICS IS THE RESULT OF SENTIMENT.

Especially are we inclined to form our estimate of men and women from the standpoint of mere personal likes and dislikes.

If there is such a thing as being criminally Democratic, Governor Chamberlain has hardly been guilty.

Many who did not vote for him believe him to be a good man, and that he has made an excellent governor.

It is related of the Saviour, who was never a candidate for office, that he constantly increased in favor with God and man, AND THAT THE COMMON PEOPLE FOLLOWED HIM GLADLY.

If Governor Chamberlain will go on making himself "liked" by people of all parties he will make Oregon a good governor for another term.

A WORD TO THE DEFEATED.

(Reprinted from the Daily Capital Journal of April 28, 1906, by request.)

Defeated aspirants for political office should not take their defeat too much to heart.

If they stood for truth and principle, they need not mourn, BECAUSE IN THE LONG RUN RIGHT WILL WIN.

Truth and principle need no man's success. The successful man needs truth and principle far more than they need him.

Individuals are only strong and efficient for good work when they stand for and reflect truth and principle.

Old Coughs

New coughs are bad enough. Old coughs are worse, much worse. They always make one think of bronchitis, consumption. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral quickly cures new coughs. And it cures old ones, too. The next time you see your doctor, ask him why this medicine is so promptly relieves coughs.

THE CURRENTS OF PROGRESS.

So far as any defeated man has helped carry on a campaign that promotes good government, so far as he has been a factor in establishing a better political system, he has been a public factor.

The processes that have to be taken in the evolution of a political system must all be worked out by human agencies, and the defeated play as important a part as the successful.

Realizing that all consciousness and intelligence come from one source, as all light and heat come from one central sun in the solar system, THE AGGREGATE INTELLIGENCE IS THE SUPREME WILL IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS.

All who assist in giving this intelligence free expression in elections are doing God's work.

All who accept these verdicts as the consensus of general intelligence are doing God's bidding.

SO THE MAN WHO IS DEFEATED IN A FAIRLY CONDUCTED POLITICAL CAMPAIGN HAS NO CAUSE TO BEWAIL THE RESULT.

Leave all such results to truth and principle, and go on smilingly to the next task.

There are other duties to perform, other tasks before us, other problems to solve.

The world needs the man and woman of true heart, clear brain, and ready and willing hands in politics, as in every other walk of life.

FOR SUCH THERE IS NO DEFEAT. There are only larger opportunities to profit by the experiences of the past.

"Go bury thy sorrow, the world has its share."

NEW NATURALIZATION LAW.

The new naturalization law passed by congress has some drastic features.

It requires that the application to become a citizen shall be on file 90 days before it is acted on by the court.

The alien wishing to become a citizen shall be able to speak English before receiving his final papers.

It creates a new bureau or commissioner of naturalization, who shall reside in Washington, D. C.

Those who shall be branch bureaus in all the states and territories under the direction of the central bureau.

THOSE WHO PRIZE CITIZENSHIP WILL APPLAUD SAFEGUARDS THROWN NATURALIZATION.

THERE IS A STRONG DEMAND THAT THE BARS BE PUT UP AGAINST RECKLESS ADMISSION OF FOREIGN IMMIGRATION.

Many courts have been too careless in admitting unprepared foreigners to citizenship.

On the other hand, there should be no unjust restrictions or unnecessary expense put in the way of foreigners who are qualified for citizenship, becoming American citizens.

BOSSSES AND LEADERS.

It has not been a good year for bosses in Oregon politics.

BUT SOMETHING LIKE REAL LEADERSHIP OF THE PEOPLE HAS BEEN DEVELOPED BY THE DIRECT PRIMARY.

Bossism and bosses have been pretty effectually obliterated as an affirmative proposition.

The boss or dictator can still get in his work in preventing the success of some weak aspirant for nomination or election.

But an energetic leader of the people can make his record direct to the people, win their support and defy the boss or the machine.

THE DIRECT PRIMARY SYSTEM WILL DEVELOP MORE LEADERSHIP AMONG THE PEOPLE AND DISCOURAGE BOSSISM JUST IN PROPORTION.

But the people must realize that bossism dies hard. The machine does not give up with one defeat.

The disposition of men who get power is to use it selfishly and corruptly. Real leadership is unselfish.

The people should demand the application of the direct primary system to all elections.

THAT IS THE WAY TO WEED OUT THE BOSSSES.

Make every official responsible to the people instead of to the boss or the boss-ridden machine.

TRIBUTE TO DEAD AT SEA.

Naval Veterans Sail to Point Bonita and Strew Blossoms Upon the Waters.

(San Francisco Chronicle.)

The "winding sheet" of the sailors who fell in the Civil War was decorated yesterday, flowers being cast on the waves of the ocean from the deck of the army tug Slocum. The ceremonies were under the auspices of the naval committee of the general committee, Phelps Squadron No. 12, United States Navy Veterans and the ladies of George H. Thomas Circle, Grand Army of the Republic. The naval committee consisted of Commodore Thomas A. Nerney, in charge of the arrangements; Fleet Commander P. H. Maas and Shipmate William Healey, Phelps Squadron committee, Commander Thomas Green, Fleet Chaplain F. G. Wisker, Ensign J. N. Tiernan, Shipmate William Buckley and E. J. Dallahan.

The Slocum left Howard street wharf at 8:20 a. m., having on board the committees and comrades and the ladies of George H. Thomas post, G. A. R., headed for the sea. Off Point Bonita a heavy ground swell was met and within a few moments Commodore Nerney saw several of the many ladies under his charge flying signals of distress in the form of handkerchiefs pressed against whitening lips. The commodore regretted having to change his orders, but chivalry compelled, and he passed the word to the captain to stand in under the point. The course was changed until more quiet water was reached.

After selections from the marine band from the United States naval training station at Yerba Buena, Fleet Chaplain F. G. Wisker delivered the following invocation:

"Almighty God, Father of all, in the depths of our hearts we would hear the celestial word, 'I am the resurrection and the life.' As shipmates after shipmate departs, and we meet with ranks broken, help us to be faithful unto thee and to each other. We beseech thee to look in mercy on the widows and children of deceased shipmates, and with thine own tenderness console and comfort them. Heavenly Father, bless the men who preserved us a Nation; bless and save our country for all time with the freedom of peace and righteousness, and through thy great mercy may we meet at last before thy throne in heaven."

Captain J. M. Floyd, of Phelps Squadron, then said: "Shipmates, we are assembled today to honor our heroic dead. The duty of the hour is of impressive significance; by it we are reminded that the sacrifice of our fallen shipmates has not been in vain; that we have a united country, strengthened by the memory of experience common to us all; that we inculcate with a comprehensive realization that there is no North, no South, no East nor West, but one common country and flag and emphasize to the world the great principle of patriotism. Men of national renown and integrity enlisted and died that the country might live; that the grand inheritance bequeathed to us by our forefathers might remain unbroken; that the union of all must be one and indivisible. And now as we gather within sound of the waves which were in life the hero's joy and in death his shroud; as we strew garlands of earth's fairest adornment upon the billows in tender memory of our heroic dead, let us recall their virtues, their privations, their fidelity to duty, and pray that the country for whose supremacy they died shall live until time shall be no more."

Pelham W. Ames of Phelps Squadron, Naval Veterans, delivered an address, in which he said:

"When soldiers are decking the graves of their comrades who fell in battle, we who served in the navy are strewing our blossoms upon the waters. Who that served in the War of the Rebellion can forget that the navy fought hand in hand with the army—that it was always ready, either to lead or to follow? There was no hesitating in the navy; no jealousy; no struggle for preferment—simply a determination to do what was best, and to do it fearlessly and promptly. Foote, with his little squadron, went with Grant at Donaldson, McHenry and Shiloh. Dupont led the way at Beaufort and the army followed him. Farragut cut through the lines at New Orleans and Mobile; Porter followed the army at Fort Fisher; Walker led the navy at Red river; Vicksburg fell because the army and navy worked together; Cushing rushed into the jaws of death and put out the Albatross; the little Monitor beat back the giant ironclad Merrimack. The record of the navy speaks for itself, and its unnumbered and unrecorded dead are again remembered by us fittingly and well." The speaker closed with an eloquent eulogy of the heroes of the old navy.

Nellie Holbrook Blinn of Thomas circle then gave a recitation, and was followed by the Sons of Veterans' quartet, consisting of Mrs. Isabella Meyer and Mrs. D. Anna Roth, sopranos; Mrs. Harriet L. McCoy, alto, and Monroe J. Orr, bass. "Nearer, My God to Thee," and "Garland Their Graves" were sung; there was another selection by the Marine Band and the ladies of the G. A. R. carried out their memorial ritual, Mrs. A. E. Bradley, the president, leading.

Fleet Commander P. H. Maas delivered an eloquent eulogy on the late Commander John Foley, whom he declared to have been "a true friend and a good shipmate of the old navy."

The ceremony of strewing the waves with flowers followed, the ladies ranging themselves along the rail on either side of the boat and casting the blossoms overboard to the accompaniment of a minute gun. Chief Gunner H. A. Hilton of the Marion and Seaman Gunner Joseph Hawley being in charge of the one-pounder rapid fire Hotchkiss rifle. As the last of the flowers went overboard two flags, erect on broad floats, were launched and floated out to sea in a drift of bright-hued blossoms, while the band played the "Star Spangled Banner" and the audience sang. At the conclusion the Lord's Prayer was recited, Fleet Chaplain Wisker leading, after which the tug steamed for the Presidio wharf, to permit those on board to take part in the ceremonies at the National cemetery.

Commodore Nerney was in Los Angeles on Sunday, when he was advised by wire that he was in charge of the arrangements. He arrived here on Monday, saw Major Devol, who readily granted the tug, and the commandant at Yerba Buena willingly sent the band.

Head Ache Sometimes?

If so, it will interest you to know that it can be stopped with Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills; and without any bad after-effects, and this without danger of forming a drug habit or having your stomach disarranged. They positively contain no opium, morphine, cocaine, chloral, ether or chloroform in any form. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain, and leave only a sense of relief. The reason for this is explained by the fact that headache comes from tired, irritable, turbulent, over-taxed brain nerves. Anti-Pain Pills soothe and strengthen these nerves, thus removing the cause. They are harmless when taken as directed.

"We use Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for the cure of headache, and we think that there is nothing that will equal them. They will cure the severest spell of nervous or sick headache in a very few minutes. I am of a nervous temperament, and occasionally have spells when my nerves seem to be completely exhausted, and I tremble so I can scarcely contain myself. At these times I always take the Anti-Pain Pills, and they quiet me right away. It is remarkable what a soothing effect they have upon the nerves."
