OHIO'S GOVERNOR IS DEAD

Death Sets Aside the Democratic Victory Lieut. Governor Harris is Sworn in Cincinnati, June 19.—John M. Pattison, governor of Ohio, died of Bright's disease at 4:20 yesterday afternoon, at his home at Milford, 15 miles east of here. He will be buried Thursday near his home, after services in the Methodist church. Week ago the governor was carried into his home from which he had gone five months before to his inauguration as chief executive of the state, the intervening time having been spent on a bed of pain. His death came suddenly and unexpectedly by physicians and family. Early last evening Governor Pattison suffered acute pain, but later sank into a quiet sleep. At 10 o'clock Dr. Belt made his usual morning call, and found the patient in a comatose state. The governor never rallied, and death came peacefully this afternoon. The governor's wife and two daughters were at his bedside when he died.

Eaton, O., June 19.—Governor Harris says he will not assume the duties of the office until after Pattison's funeral, and will continue Pattison's appointments for a time, at least. The time of the funeral is so far undetermined, but will probably be on Thursday.

GHOST SITS ON THE LID

Hubbard Spook Holds Down His Job in the Old Fry Warehouse

Hubbard, Or., June 19.—Many people here have seen a strange sight while passing the old Fry warehouse during the past week, and at certain hours of the night. What seems to be a human form clothed in ghostly apparel has been seen passing some of the windows, and at times sitting upon the very top of the old structure. There has been some considerable argument as to what it really is, and the old building is being shunned by the youngsters of the city. At first it was supposed to be a reflection from light, but, as the city lights are not running, and as it was seen after the night service was out, the mystery is growing deeper, and a search of the interior of the building reveals nothing. A few more of the daring are going to make an investigation, and should the ghost turn out to be a prowler he will be severely dealt with.

Sailors Will Continue Fight.

(Four O'clock Edition.)
San Francisco, June 19.—The sailors' union has decided to carry on the fight against the steamship owners without the assistance of the longshoremen or teamsters, by withdrawing from the city front federation. It is expected that similar action will be taken today by the firemen, cooks and stewards, all of whom are incensed at the action of the longshoremen in loading vessels during the strike. Everything is quiet on the water front. The sailors claim they have won the fight, although it is reported that ship owners are importing men from the great lakes.

AURORA'S FRUIT CROPS

Aurora, Or., June 19.—The warm weather of the past few days has ripened the cherries in this section, and pickers are now busy gathering the immense crop that grows in and around this city. Nowhere in the state are there more cherry trees, or so many different varieties, as there are right here in Aurora. The crop this year is unusually large, and the cold weather in March did not have any effect on it. Peaches are also going to be a good crop on the high lands.

Married a Dead Man.

Prague, June 19.—Application has been made to a police magistrate by the wife of an artisan for assistance to ascertain the whereabouts of her husband, who had recently left her without any apparent cause. Investigation based upon particulars furnished by the woman brought to light the astounding fact that the husband of the woman has been entered on the registers as having died twelve years ago. To her distress the woman learned that she had married a man who by some means had obtained possession of the papers of another individual who died in 1894, and assumed the dead man's name, under which he had since lived with his wife, who had no idea that her husband's name was not his own. What induced the man to change his name, or why he has now disappeared, is for the present a mystery. The police are completely baffled, and all sorts of theories are hazarded as regards the identity of the missing husband.

Preferences to Be Considered.

Washington, June 19.—Artillery officers who want special duty may be able to get it hereafter by virtue of a system which the acting chief of the corps, Col. G. F. E. Harrison, has recommended. He believes that it would be advantageous to allow artillery officers to express their preferences for detached duty or for stations. These expressions are to be kept on file in the office of the chief of artillery and are to be consulted whenever it is necessary to make a change in location or a transfer of an officer from one duty to another. Of course, personal preferences cannot always be allowed to control, but where it would not interfere with the public interests to do so, it is proposed to consult this list, and thus contribute to the contentment of the officers most directly concerned by such changes. It is expected that this plan will be adopted and perhaps extended to other branches of the army service.

There will be eight divisions and each will represent the Republican clubs and organizations of a Philadelphia senatorial district under the new apportionment. Adjutant-General Thomas Stewart will act as grand marshal of the jubilee parade and Governor Peasypacker, Speaker Cannon and the members of the governor's staff will review the parade. Hop Prospects Bright.

Aurora, Or., June 19.—The hop crop in and around this place is looking fine since the recent warm weather. The continued rainy weather in the fore part of the month, and the prevailing high winds had a tendency to retard the growth of the vine somewhat, but with warmer weather the vines are coming right along, and all the yards are looking fine. There will be a large crop harvested here this year. Not many in this section have contracted for this year's pick.
