

HAMLIN SMITH ELECTED

South Salem Candidate for School Director Elected By Light Vote

Hamlin F. Smith, the South Salem candidate, was elected school director yesterday afternoon at the special election. He won out over J. L. Stockton, the only other candidate, by a vote of 307 to 204. Mr. Smith carried the second, third, fourth and seventh wards while Mr. Stockton carried the first, fifth and sixth wards.

Very little interest was manifested in the school election yesterday, and the vote cast was the lightest in many years. Mr. Stockton remained in his store all day, and his friends were not active, or the result might have been different. The people seemed to feel satisfied that both were good men, and no mistake would be made in either event. The people of South Salem were the only ones who had an interest in the matter, or the vote might have been still smaller. They had been planning for about six months to have a candidate, and to make a demand for certain improvements that are very much needed. Their school is the only one without sewerage, and without sidewalks and with unfinished rooms, hence they were inclined to work for the success of Mr. Smith, who lives over there.

The vote on the proposition of having a high school was even lighter than that for school director, and was only considered as a matter of form in making the plan legal.

The vote for director follows:

Wards	Smith, Stockton.	Stockton
No. 1	22	24
No. 2	62	29
No. 3	35	19
No. 4	75	57
No. 5	18	30
No. 6	33	31
No. 7	62	11
Total	307	204

TURNER CAMP MEETING

Of Christian Church to be Held in Big Tabernacle

Next Thursday will see the opening of the sixteenth annual session of the Oregon Christian Missionary convention at Turner, Ore., where a spacious tabernacle has been erected by the Turner heirs in memory of their parents and especially adapted to the work of the convention.

This gathering will represent the 100 congregations of the Christian church in Oregon, numbering in all about 10,000 members. The ten days' convention will include sessions of the Christian Ministerial association, the Oregon Christian Missionary association, the Christian Woman's board of missions, Christian Sunday School association, Y. P. S. C. E. and Educational Union of the Christian church. Each department of the work is to be represented by its own special program and delegation.

In connection with these sessions of the convention a daily Bible institute will be conducted by President E. C. Sanderson of the Eugene Divinity School and a summer normal for Sunday school workers will be directed by Evangelist J. P. Conder of Portland. Preparations are being made for the camping of 500 delegates, and it is expected that on each of the two Sundays of the convention there will be between 4000 and 5000 people in attendance. Many Salem people will attend, and on the last Sunday, July 1, the Sunday school of the Salem church will go there in a body.

Summer Session.
The Capital Business College remains open during the summer months. A number of new pupils have entered recently—some for full courses, and others for special studies. Anyone interested in such studies as shorthand, bookkeeping, penmanship, typewriting and business arithmetic, will find the summer months an excellent time to pursue these branches at this school. Call or send for information. tf

BASEBALL TOMORROW.

Ramblers to Again Meet the Dallas Tribunes.

The Rambler baseball team will cross bats with the Dallas Tribunes tomorrow afternoon on the university athletic field. The game promises to be closely contested. The Tribunes' team consists of the best college and town baseball tossers of the Polk county seat. The Rambler line-up will be: Holman, pitcher; Bashor, catcher; Gabrielson or Dyer, 1st base; Farmer, 2d base; Roberts, 3rd base; Cary, short stop; Perkins, left field; Kay, center field; Dyer and Holmes, right field. The Ramblers, smarting under the defeat sustained two weeks ago, expect to redeem themselves and play the game of their lives. With this ideal baseball weather it is believed a large number of the local fans will be out to give vent to their pent-up enthusiasm.

PLAN MERRY FOURTH

Committee Met Last Night and Arranged Many of the Details for Celebration

Salem will celebrate the Fourth of July as it has never before been commemorated in this city. The various committees met in the city hall last evening and talked over the plans upon which they have been working for several weeks past. Naturally in the arrangements of such a celebration the thing to be ascertained primarily is the amount of money available to carry out the affair to successful completion. That some hard but effective work has been done by the various committees was demonstrated by the announcement that nearly $1150 had been raised among the business firms of the city. The business of the evening was the apportionment of money to the committees who have charge of the arrangements for the celebration. Manager Rollin K. Page stated he had taken steps relative to the illuminations and that 600 incandescent lights would be employed for that purpose. The Citizens' Light & Traction Co. will make a liberal donation for that part of the celebration, and about $100 was apportioned to the illumination fund. The scheme if carried out as suggested by Mr. Page will prove unusually attractive, especially at the intersection of State and Commercial streets. That party of the city will be a blaze of glory never before seen here.

Since the San Francisco disaster it has been difficult to obtain electrical appliances, but Salem will not suffer in the lighting effects to be given the evening of the Fourth.

The parade, too, promises to be the finest ever seen here. The business firms of the city are going to be represented by floats of all descriptions, sizes and shapes. When in Portland a few days ago, Major Loomis contracted for four of the floats that were in the great parade at the Made-in-Oregon fair. These will be decorated anew and especially fitted up for the celebration. In the parade will also be seen the various trade unions of the city, the lodges, the militia, the firemen, the high school, the rural mail carriers, etc. The committee is also considering to offer prizes for the best display in the procession. Chairman West was enthusiastic over that part of the celebration and indications are that the parade will approach to gorgeousness. It is also probable that the Uniform Rank of the Knights of Pythias from Woodburn will take part in this great civic parade. As for the music, four bands will peel forth patriotic airs and stir the blood of the assembled patriots. Lieutenant Holman was appointed chairman on the military committee.

A vote of thanks was extended to the members of the Woman's Club for their interest in the affair and they were requested to assist in the decorating of the floats and of the speakers' stand in Marion square, where the literary exercises will be held. The finance committee will continue to solicit funds and will make a special effort to create added interest in the choice of the Goddess of Liberty. The vote, while showing a marked improvement, is not what it should be. The great hit, however, is to be the comical section of the parade. Hal Patton has charge of it and that of itself assures one new and original feature. He made a report relative to the "comicalities" which, if carried out, will be worth seeing. Some attention was also given to the sports and all the amusements incidental with the old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration will not be overlooked. Salem, as we have said before, will outdo itself. Great will be the celebration of the nation's natal day.

That Tired Feeling.

Will Play With the Beavers.
Curtis Coleman, son of J. R. Coleman, who lives near this city, and who is a student of the Willamette University, and a member of the baseball team, has been signed by Walter McCredie, manager of the Portland Beavers.

This will be quite a surprise to his many friends. Coleman was recommended to McCredie by Virgil Garvin, a member of the Portland team, who coached the Salem high school team the past season. Coleman is 19 years old, and has played on the Willamette team for the past three years, at second base, where his fielding and batting average is high. He is considered to be a good man, and his friends are confident that he will make good with the Beavers. He will be tried out this week.

McCormick Cutting Machinery

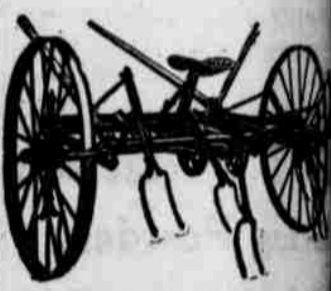

Stands for all that's good. 75 years of the combined intelligence of the brightest mechanics that has ever known, are represented in perfect product we have today. McCormick mowers are heavy to drive the knife through the best grass produced in this or any county.

A light mower often pulls because it can't cut it. It's easier to cut grass than to pull it. Try it. The wide frame gives plenty weight to offset the cutter bar, absolutely no side draft. Hitch UNDER THE TONGUE on the MAIN SHOE makes the perfect draft known, with entire absence of neck weight. Long hickory pitman makes stroke and long life. Call and inspect.

McCormick Rakes

Have the same elements that make the mowers famous where it is needed and so handle that a 12-year-old boy can do the work as well as a man.

McCormick Tedders

Will help you save the extra hay that this season has produced you're not familiar with them and we'll show and explain. A car of McCormick machinery unloading. Get in your order now. New machines for rent.
