THREE STILL ACUTE

Clergy Continue to Stir the Waters in Willamette University Muddle

The muddle in the affairs of Willamette University is still in the throes of acute agitation.

Different people and different committees continue to stir up the waters. Two separate committees are engaged in making investigations—a committee of the Salem Ministerial Association is looking after the welfare of Professor W. P. Drew, and a committee on faculty of the board of trustees is investigating certain charges that are said to have been made by the student body against Professor C. O. Boyer.

In a conversation this morning, Rev. Mr. Robinson, chairman of the ministers' committee, said that the position of the clergy in the Drew matter had been misconstrued.

The position the preachers seem to take is this. The inference seems to be that Drew was fired on account of his position on the saloon question. The preachers say they have positive proof that Dr. Coleman gave this as a reason at the meeting of the trustees. The preachers do not pretend to say that this is the real reason, but at any

OF INTEREST TO HOP GROWERS

Federal Court Decides a Case Where the Crop Was Sold Three Times

Benjamin Schwarz & Sons vs. Kennedy.

On December 2, 1903, Mr. Joseph Harris, manager in Oregon for the plaintiffs, bought from a Chinaman named Lee Gon 86 bales of hops for 15 1/2 cents per pound. At that time a memorandum of the sale was signed by the Chinaman. It will be remembered by all who were interested in the hop business that the market at that time was rapidly ascending. Mr. Harris agreed with the Chinaman that he would come down next day and inspect the hops. Pursuant to his agreement Mr. Harris, accompanied by his assistants, did examine the hops and brand and accept them. As stated above, it will be remembered that the market was ascending. It appears that a few hours after the Chinaman signed the bill of sale to Schwarz & Sons for 15 1/2 cents per pound, he executed another similar instrument in favor of Adolph Wolf & Sons, well-known hop merchants of Silverton, for 16 1/2 cents per pound. It seems that on the morning of the 3rd of December, when Mr. Harris and his assistants were in the act of inspecting and receiving the hops, the Chinaman, Lee Gon, was over at Woodburn, and while there sold his crop the third time to Mr. John Kennedy, now deceased, for 17 cents per pound. Mr. Kennedy obtained possession of the hops forthwith, and then Benjamin Schwarz & Sons began an action against the Chinaman, Lee Gon, and Mr. Kennedy, to recover possession of the crop. This action was commenced in the circuit court for this county, and was tried in January, 1904, before Honorable George H. Burnett and a jury. At the trial it appeared that one Ah Chop claimed a slight interest in the crop, and because of the peculiar rules of law governing cases of undivided property, Judge Burnett charged the jury that their verdict should be for the defendant, in case they found that Ah Chop had any interest in the crop, because he, Ah Chop, had not signed the bill of sale. The plaintiff's attempt to show that Ah Chop was present when Lee Gon signed the bill of sale and that he readily assented to the sale. However that may be, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, and from the judgment entered on that verdict, Benjamin Schwarz & Sons appealed to the supreme court, and after trial in that court, the judgment of the circuit court was affirmed. After a consideration of the whole case, the attorneys for Benjamin Schwarz & Sons decided to begin another action in the U. S. circuit court against John Kennedy for the value of the hops. Among lawyers this last named action is commonly known as conversion. Schwarz

Robbing Yourself

That is just what you are doing when you fail to get regular and sufficient sleep. Your body requires this unconscious period for repair work; without it your nerve energy becomes exhausted, and you are tired, worn-out, nervous, excitable; have headache, neuralgia, indigestion, poor appetite, or other ailments caused by a lack of nerve force. Make it your business to sleep. If you are restless, take Dr. Miles' Nervine; it soothes and strengthens the nerves, and brings sweet, refreshing, life-giving sleep, and gives the organs power to work naturally. Try it to-day.

"I had a severe spell of fever, which left me in a very weak condition and very nervous. I had severe spells of headache and neuralgia, and could sleep but very little. Every effort that was made to recover my strength was of no avail until I began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. After I commenced to take the Nervine my sleep was profound and restful, and the pains in my head, as well as the neuralgia pains, left me to a certain extent and I grew gradually better."

& Sons contended that the proceedings in the state court had not precluded them from prosecuting this action in the federal court, and in this contention they were sustained by the Honorable Charles E. Wolverton, U. S. District Judge. The case was set for trial on Friday last, the 15th inst., and on Tuesday morning, the 19th inst., the jury returned a verdict in favor of Benjamin Schwarz & Sons for $2602.36, (the plaintiff sued for $2800) and upon this verdict Judge Wolverton entered judgment in their favor.

This case is peculiarly interesting to the people of this county. It is admitted everywhere that in Marion county more hops are produced than in any other portion of the United States. It is also well known that juries in this county have permitted their bias and prejudice to swerve their judgment and bring in verdicts against the brokers and the brewers. It is admitted by every brewer and hop broker and their attorneys that it is impossible to secure in this city an impartial consideration of their rights in an action before a jury of this county. This is most regrettable, because of the fact that this city and county are more greatly interested in the hop industry than any other portion of the Union, and it is to be hoped that a better feeling will prevail in the future.

The verdict for Benjamin Schwarz & Sons in the federal court is a most signal victory for themselves and their attorneys, Carson & Cannon. As stated before, Schwarz & Sons failed in the state courts, both circuit and supreme, but on account of the fact that the judgments of both courts was inconclusive upon the question of the ownership of the hops, the issues were again tried between the parties in the federal court, and there, before a jury selected from the whole state of Oregon, a verdict was rendered in favor of Schwarz & Sons after a careful trial. The attorneys for the defendant, Messrs. Grant Corby and George G. Bingham, of this city, have not yet stated whether it is the intention of their client to prosecute the causes before the federal appellate court. The Journal has no interest in this case whatever, but it takes the present opportunity of observing that the substantial interests of Salem and Marion county require that the state courts and juries should treat controversies over the sale of hops in the same impartial manner as is observed in the trial of other causes, and especially cease from exhibiting prejudice against brewers and hop merchants. It is very prejudicial to the interests of any community to arraign class against class, race against race, or religion against religion, and the same remark can be appropriately applied to controversies of this nature. After several years of litigation, the highest court in this state has declared in this case that contracts must be performed, and that prejudice should not be tolerated. While we congratulate Benjamin Schwarz & Sons and their attorneys, Carson & Cannon, upon the result of the trial, we feel that the people of this state ought to be congratulated more heartily upon the fact that prejudice and narrowness are discounted by Oregon courts and juries.

About Food Adulteration.

A case of considerable interest to the lovers of pure food is that of the State of Oregon against George Perrich, who is accused by J. W. Ball, the state food and dairy commissioner of having sold lard May 3, 1906, which is said to have been adulterated with low, which injuriously affected the quality and purity of this article of food, and that the same was not properly marked to distinguish it from pure article. The case was begun this morning in Justice H. H. Turner court.

An Alarming Situation.
