They are the dependable machines that run day after day with the maximum of service and the minimum of wear, and when you do need an extra part, nine times out of ten we have it in stock ready for you, without having to keep you waiting 24 hours while the hay spoils.
Ever think of that?
If not, just think it over a minute, and you'll conclude like many a farmer has that it is poor economy to buy anything but a standard make of machine, and one that is well represented locally with a good stock of extras always on hand.

Gamma Sigma Convocation.

Brookport, N. Y., June 26.—The thirty-seventh annual convocation of the Gamma Sigma fraternity began here today and will extend over three days. Several hundred delegates from all parts of the country are here to attend the convocation, which promises to be one of the most interesting and successful ever held.

The Gamma Sigma fraternity was organized in the fall of 1869, in the state normal school of this village. Since that time it has grown until it has chapters from Boston as far west as Chicago, and an active membership and alumni of about 6,000.

Last year the convocation was held at Rochester with Beta chapter, and the year before in Lockport. The Hon. Fred Ackerson of Niagara Falls is the president of the organization.

The forenoon was devoted to the reception of the arriving delegates and some routine meetings of the officers and committeemen. The opening session will be held in the afternoon and in the evening a reception will be held. Tomorrow there will be another business session and the banquet will take place in the evening. Postmaster W. B. Wilcox of New York will act as toastmaster and among the principal speakers of the evening will be President Ackerson of Niagara Falls, Judge E. H. Clark of Rochester, William F. Armstrong of Buffalo and others. The famous Gamma Sigma quartet will sing a number of selections.

Harris Gets Promoted.

A few days ago Motorman Harris, of the Asylum street car line, got a new uniform. That afternoon when he swung down from his car in front of The Capital Journal office, he was accosted by an old gentleman from the country, who extended his hand in friendly greeting.

"I am afraid I do not remember you," said Harris, as he clasped the stranger's fin.

"Oh, yes, you do," responded the stranger, still shaking the street car man's mit. "I met you at the barracks; you are the captain of the Salvation Army."

There are also some communications of interest to the city from Senator Fulton.

North Salem Improvements.

The residents of North Salem are rejoicing at the improvement of the road leading to Silverton. The city has appropriated a goodly sum, which, together with the contributions from property owners along the highway, ought to make that road one of the best in the city at all times of the year. It is planned to grade many of the streets, and thus give that part of the city the appearance of a live, progressive community.

Road Work Progressing.

The good weather has given an opportunity for active work on the road building experiment conducted near the fair grounds by the government experts. The grading is progressing nicely, and headway is being made with that part of the work.

Very Annoying to Some People.

People that are known to be weak and sickly, by their neighbors, are asked the question every day whether they are feeling better. Do you feel stronger? Are you gaining flesh? Their friends know if they are gaining flesh it is one of the sure signs of returning health. If they can only get a remedy that will make solid, healthy flesh, recovery is assured. People with nervous troubles, loss of flesh and strength, no ambition, languid, and always tired, have thin, watery blood. The food they eat does not nourish them, it does not make blood. If after each meal they would take Dr. Blood and Nerve Tonic their food would be turned into rich, red blood, making solid flesh and strength. The tablets are sold in boxes by all drug stores for 75 cents, or three boxes for $2. People who use this tonic gain in solid flesh from one to three pounds per week; they feel better and know they are on the road to health.

THE STORY OF CLASSIFIED TOWN

CHAPTER X
This is the Judge who seldom smiles,
His life is a round of tedious trials,
He has handled many decisions down;
This legal light of Classified Town.

An opinion from the bench he gave
That plainly shows his wisdom grave.
Said he, "the evidence I have heard,
Makes argument appear absurd."

"The public verdict makes the case
A simple one, the only place
To put a want ad, large or small,
Is in the Journal, it leads them all."

STATE NEWS

Miss Esther Miles, of Independence, died of paralysis at her home there yesterday.

The new cars for the electric line in Forest Grove have arrived, and will soon be in operation.

There were more June marriages in Oregon this year than any previous June in the state's history.

The office of the daily news at Aberdeen, Wash., was treated to a coat of red paint Saturday night.

Mrs. Frank Reiser was elected grand president of the ladies of the G. A. R. at the Grants Pass encampment.

W. G. Gilstrap has again assumed editorial charge of the Eugene register, which heretofore will be an eight-page paper.

R. A. Harris, secretary of the state road commission, has called a meeting of the commissioners for the last Saturday in July, at Portland.

There is a great scarcity of laborers in Unadilla county, and the farmers are afraid their harvest will suffer. Wages are from $1.50 to $4.00 per day, according to class of work, with board.

Labor is in great demand in and around Cottage Grove. Sawmills find an unprecedented market for their product, and the Bohemian mine properties are becoming great wealth producers.

One of the most successful annual pioneer reunions of Polk county took place at Dallas Saturday, and it was largely attended. G. O. Holman made the address of the day.

W. M. Ralston, a pioneer of the Willamette valley, and the founder of the town of Lebanon, died at Albany Saturday. He left two sons, Lonser Ralston, of Portland, and Joseph Ralston, of Albany. He was a prominent Mason.

Ike Perry, Jr., the night clerk at the Hotel Albert, at The Dalles, has disappeared and took all the money with him. He left a card saying he has borrowed the money, and would return it at some future date.

Emma Voeiler, a 15-year-old caddie at the Waverly golf links, at Portland, played a whole 18-hole course in 99 strokes at the recent tournament held there. This is considered the most brilliant play made on the coast this year.

Watt Smith, a pioneer timber cruiser of Tillamook, died at that place Saturday of tuberculosis. He was under indictment, with several other Tillamook men, in the land frauds. For years he has conducted the "Half-Way House" between Forest Grove and Tillamook.

The stiff easterly wind Saturday caused considerable apprehension among the farmers around The Dalles, it being feared that the wind would parch the grain and ruin the fruit crops. It is now thought that not much damage was done.

An advance of $2 per thousand in rough lumber, with an advance on better grades to match, is announced by the lumber association of the Northwest. The extreme demand for lumber all over the coast and in the East occasions the advance.

At the conclusion of last night's count Tom Ward, who is contesting Stearns' election to the sheriff's office in Multnomah county, was only three votes behind his opponent. A little more than one-half the vote has been counted, and had it not been for Ward's supporters writing on their tickets he would easily win out.

Racing for the Grand Prix.

Le Mans, France, June 25.—The great automobile races under the auspices of the Automobile Club of France which is the famous speed contest for the Grand Prix offered annually by the club, began this morning over the Sarthe course, which is probably one of the best and most interesting automobile race courses in the world. The races will occupy two days, owing to the large number of contestants who have entered their machines for the great event. Thirty-four machines have been entered for the race, a larger number than entered for any previous grand prix race. It is rather remarkable that neither American nor English machines will take part in this race.

Thousands of automobile enthusiasts from all parts of Europe, and even a number of Americans and automobilists from other countries are here to attend the race and the people in the villages along this route in the Sarthe district are reaping a rich harvest from the transient guests. For weeks the local committee in charge of the arrangements for the race, has devoted its time and efforts to the educating of the farmers and villagers along the route to be taken by the racing automobiles. The committee has made strenuous efforts to overcome the hostility of the country people to an automobile racing on their roads. The members of the committee called a meeting of the villagers, explained to them the advantages, financial and otherwise, which the use of their roads for the grand race were bound to have, taught them the wisdom of keeping to one side of the road with their wagons, instead of taking to the middle of the road, where huge automobiles were racing on these main roads at a speed of a mile a minute, and even tried to stir up the interest of the simple folk in auto racing, by showing them cinematograph views of some of the famous auto races. The result of all these efforts was that the farmers became, to some extent, reconciled to the race and promised to keep out of the way of the flying monsters as much as possible. The roads along which the courses of the race had been fixed were lined with curious country people, from early this morning, and the farmers with their wives and children, seemed greatly interested in the great race.

Only about one-half of the machines started this morning. Of the thirty-four cars entered for the race, all but twelve represent French firms. The machines and their respective drivers are as follows: Henry Darracq, Hugery, Wagner and Henriot; three Ballards, North, Taste and Turt; three Brothers, Horace, Le Brun and Basillier; three De Dietrichs, Loblou, Shallera and Elliot; F. Sheperd; three Itala, Cagna, Grozziati and Fabry; three Fiat, Lancia, Nazzaro and Weilshott; three Day, Arlo-Claumont, M. A. Clement, Villemain and Lafontaine; three Mercedes, two Gregoires, Tevenoux and Florie; Jamstey, Baron du Casars and Florie; two Gregoires, Tevenoux and Civelli du Bosch; one Gebrou, Rigolly; one Valpes, Barrisoux.
