HEAT RIPENS SKIDOO

And it Will Be Ready for Picking Saturday Next--and It's Fine Fruit

"The Skidoo! What kind of a do is that?" asked the man from the country of a friend. "You know as much about it as I do," replied the other. But the fact of the matter is that the Elks' big show, known as the Skidoo, stands in a class of amusements by itself. It will be unique, novel and entertaining. Naturally scores of startling surprises are in store for the visitors.

The Elks have a knack of doing things well and this enterprise will be one of them.

The local herd is "after the dough" and it will be forthcoming, too, because the people will want to see what a "Skidoo" is. The slang phrase has become so popular that the word is on the tip of the tongue of every Salem urchin. Yesterday the wares were placed on the counters of the country store and from appearances there will be bargains galore. The needs of all will be provided for and no one need go home without a dainty souvenir from the Skidoo.

Provisions have been made to enlarge the original size of the big show and a large canvas enclosure will be erected on State street, for the storing of additional features and shows. The Murphy building is one solid mass of booths, prettily decorated and made quaintly attractive. In the decoration scheme red, white and blue predominate, but the gorgeous colors of the Orient have been adopted and blended with beautiful effects.

Sons one said last night that to hear the stentorian tones of the pipelers would of itself be worth the price of admission. Among the amusements provided for will be the "Wheels of Fortune," "raffles," shooting galleries, fortune telling parlors, fish ponds, etc.

"The smile that doesn't come off" will be seen on the faces of all visitors of the Skidoo. The atmosphere will be a remedy for the blues.

The affair bids to be the most successful of the kind attempted here. People should not confound the Skidoo with what is known in common parlance as carnival. The Skidoo is for you, the biggest "do" you can ever get to.

A Pleasant Way to Travel.
The above is the usual verdict of the traveler using the Missouri Pacific railway between the Pacific coast and the east, and we believe that the service and accommodations given merit this statement. From Denver, Colorado Springs and Denver there are two through trains daily to Kansas City and St. Louis, carrying Pullman's latest standard electric-lighted sleeping cars, chair cars and up-to-date dining cars. The same excellent service is operated from Kansas City and St. Louis to Memphis, Little Rock and Hot Springs. If you are going east or south, write for particulars and full information.

Irrigation in the West.
New York Sun.
The men who are pushing irrigation into the arid regions of the great west are benefiting more of the populace of this country directly and indirectly than any other body of men who are interested in public work.

More irrigation means many more productive homes for individual farmers, and homes that, once occupied, will not be deserted, as crops and prosperity are insured to the farmer who has the water supply under his control.

Irrigation means more traffic for the railroads, more and better food for the people who live where food is scarce and high. It develops those regions of the country that most need developing; it relieves congestion in the older agricultural regions by affording new and attractive fields for the progressive young men. It is a work that should be more appreciated and encouraged.

WANT JUTE MILL

Farmers in Eastern Oregon Will Advocate the State Making Grain Sacks

Umatilla county farmers who have organized the Inland Empire Wheat Growers' association will take up the matter of starting a jute mill in the Oregon penitentiary for the purpose of furnishing Oregon farmers and Oregon stockmen with grain and wool sacks at reasonable prices.

With this in view a persistent campaign for a jute mill will be started. Oregon legislators will be enlisted and public sentiment will be aroused to the practicability of the scheme. The exorbitant prices of sacks this season has caused farmers to think about self protection, and the state jute mill is the only practical solution of the question.

The state of Washington has a jute mill at the Walla Walla penitentiary, costing $75,000, with a capacity of 8500 sacks per day of ten hours. The raw jute comes from Calcutta, India, and before this year the sacks from the state mill have been sold to Washington farmers at $85 per 1000, or 6 1/2 cents each, but this year, on account of a slight increase in the cost of the raw jute, its price was advanced to $85 per 1000, or $20 less than the regular market price of sacks in Pendleton, and Walla Walla.

The Walla Walla plant furnishes employment for one hundred convicts at a fair profit to the state and after paying all expenses the mill pays good interest on the investment besides furnishing Washington farmers with grain sacks at two cents below market price. The farmers and taxpayers of Washington are well pleased with the jute mill of that state and Oregon farmers will take the Washington plant as a model for some radical legislation next session of the Oregon legislature.
