

TILLMAN ON BIG STICK

Says the President Crept Between Father Allison's Legs for Safety

Washington, June 29.—Tillman called up the conference report on the rate bill, and he refused to sign it because the conference include pipe lines in the enforcement proceedings in transportation. He said the influences behind his report are sinister. He said he would vote for the report because he would not get a separate vote on the pipe lines. He said "That for a time the big stick and the pitchfork were joined together, but when the pitchfork got to the string line it saw the big stick's coattails bustling toward the rear, and the President, sliding on all fours, got between Father Allison's legs."

May Eat Meat Today.

Washington, June 29.—In accordance with the dispensation granted by the pope on account of the feast of Saints Peter and Paul, Roman Catholics throughout the world will be permitted to eat meat today. The dispensation was communicated to the various dioceses in this country some time ago through the regular channels.

Yaquis on the Warpath.

San Antonio, Tex., June 29.—Advices from across the border say mineral development in Sonora is practically at standstill on account of the Yaqui Indians, who are still on the warpath.

Off for Oyster Bay.

Washington, June 29.—The President is preparing to go to Oyster Bay this evening, if congress adjourns.

CENTRAL AMERICAN ELECTION

San Francisco, June 29.—War is to be declared by Salvador against Guatemala, according to the statements of passengers arriving on the steamer City of Panama from Central American points this morning. Already, acting upon instructions from ex-President Regalado, Salvadorian troops have left to aid Guatemalan insurgents. At the time of the departure of the Panama, Barrillas was entering Guatemala from the Mexican border with General Toledo, and another regiment of insurgents was preparing to advance from Salvador.

The San Francisco Sailors' Strike.

San Francisco, June 29.—Ship owners whose vessels are affected by the sailors' strike are standing out today on the decision not to arbitrate. They state that they have not made any move toward importing strike-breakers, claiming they can get all the men they want here. The Japanese liner America Maru leaves for the Orient tomorrow without an ounce of freight, as the result of the trouble.

House Takes Its Medicine.

Washington, June 29.—The house adopted the conference report on the naturalization bill, and also concurred in the senate amendment to the public building bill, and sent the measure to conference.

RICH JUICY READING

Mrs. Thaw Intends to Tell of Her Life Before Marriage to Save Her Husband

New York, June 29.—Thaw's defense of emotional insanity has precedent in the recent acquittal of Josephine Terranova, who was freed upon her relation of abuses by her uncle and aunt, which she avenged by slaying both. Defendant's friends believe his case cannot fail to follow the same natural trend, and result in his freedom. Evelyn has decided to tell the whole story and lay bare her life before marriage, in a desperate effort to save her husband's life. The defense intends to show that Thaw knew all about his wife's affairs, and will attempt to prove they were enough to overthrow the reason of any man who brooded upon them.

One great grievance, it is asserted by the prosecution, rankled Thaw for some time. It is said that before marriage Evelyn threatened him with a civil suit, backed with an affidavit, that Thaw would have paid any sum to suppress. He compromised and married the girl. It is said that White had much to do with the preparation of the affidavit. The prosecution may attempt to show this caused much of Thaw's hatred. It angered Thaw to think White knew so much.

He was arraigned and pleaded not guilty to the indictment for the murder of White. His attorney, former Judge Oleott, formally requested permission to withdraw the plea by next Tuesday, in order that any motions might be made, or a different plea entered. The permission was granted, and the prisoner remanded to the Tombs. Thaw is in better physical condition this morning than at any time since his incarceration. His wife did not appear in court. The prisoner rested well last night, and awoke in fine spirits. He is confident, and the forcing him to regular hours and a wholesome diet is bringing the color to his face. After 15 minutes' exercise in the corridor he ate breakfast. At 10 o'clock, handcuffed to Deputy Sheriff Bell, he was taken to court, walking behind a negro pickpocket. Fearing the photographers, Thaw sought and obtained permission to move a few feet away. Thaw's plea was made in a firm voice. It is not thought possible the plea will be changed. Oleott merely wanted a way open for any possible contingencies.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 29.—Josiah Thaw, Harry's brother, made a hurried visit to this city, conferred with the family attorney and hastened to return to New York. Gordon denies that any local attorneys will appear in New York, as those there are employed, who are familiar with the situation and local conditions. It is understood a fund for the most complete array of legal talent in the criminal court has been provided.

DENIES HE VOWED REVENGE

New York, June 29.—Lawrence, the only son of Stanford White, denies making a vow of vengeance. He says he did not see a representative of the paper saying he had made such a vow.

About Russian Jews.

London, June 29.—Sir Samuel Montague, the greatest authority in England on the Russian Jews, says the world's outcry, especially the American congress' action, is having a salutary effect in reducing the suffering of the Jews. He thinks the Jews who fled will finally return, and the government will recognize their worth to the country. Delegates are going to instruct the Christian peasants as to the value of Jewish neighbors, and urge them to live peaceably, although the government instigated the riots to detract from the revolutionary trend.

Chicago Markets.

Chicago, June 29.—Wheat 82 1/2 @ 81, corn 52 1/2 @ 52 1/2, oats 39 1/2 @ 39 1/2.

GREAT RAIN FALL

London Has One of the Greatest Drenchings in Its History

London, June 29.—The rain this morning was the greatest except twice in the history of the city. The Thames rose and flooded many buildings. During the storm 100,679,040 tons of water fell.

Telegraphers' Tournament.

Boston, June 29.—What promises to be the greatest telegraphers' tournament ever held here or in any other city of this country, will begin at Tremont Temple this afternoon. The list of prizes to be competed for is greater than ever before and the entries are unusually numerous, showing the great interest of the profession in all parts of the country in this contest of speed and accuracy. Among those who will take part in the various contests are men of considerable prominence like W. M. Gibson of New York, the present world's champion, F. M. McClintic, also of New York; Philip J. Faulkner and many others who have at different times shown their remarkable skill in manipulating the key.

Of course, the chief interest is centered in the message, broker and press classes, but the management has made such a liberal offer to the railroad operators that that class of the profession will be unusually well represented.

Army Chances for New Doctors.

Washington, June 29.—Army medical officers are somewhat disappointed over the fact that only seven candidates for appointment as assistant surgeons have been found qualified in the preliminary examination. These seven will attend a session of special instruction at the Army Medical School in Washington, after which they will be finally examined for commission. One of these provisional candidates is Dr. Arthur C. Christie of New York. In the preliminary examination fifty-seven candidates were invited to appear, of whom forty-one were examined, and of the latter seven qualified. Eleven were found physically unfit. One withdrew and twenty-three were rejected. There are twenty-seven vacancies in the junior grade of the army medical corps, and if the seven now provisionally qualified were appointed, there would still be more vacancies than are desirable. The situation is a serious one, involving as it does extraordinary duty on the part of officers who must take the place of those represented by vacancies. It is felt that the situation would be much relieved if congress were to enact pending legislation.

Work for Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Brooklyn, June 29.—The situation at the Brooklyn navy yard will be slightly improved by the fact that, beginning with Monday next, the bureau of yards and docks will have a slightly increased fund available for the employment of certain yard workmen, watchmen, etc., who had to be laid off on account of the exhaustion of the funds at the disposal of the bureau.

Much trouble and annoyance was incurred by reason of the discovery made in the present fiscal year that there was not enough money to purchase fuel and maintain a watch force and street cleaners at the navy yard. The situation was not helped in the least by the refusal of congress to appropriate any money by way of deficiency. After next week it will be possible to take on most of the men who furloughed at Brooklyn and care will be taken to see that the annual appropriation does not become so reduced as to embarrass the department in its management of the yard forces. At the same time, the strictest economy will have to be practiced.

To Educate Consuls.

Washington, June 29.—The President today ordered the merit system of civil service be extended to consuls and consuls-general. Offices above a certain grade will be filled by promotion, and others through examination, for which rates will be prescribed.

Must Put Up Alimony.

San Francisco, June 29.—Engine Bert, president of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, was today ordered to pay his wife $40 a month alimony.

STEAMER SINKING IN HARBOR

Portland, Or., June 29.—The steamer Northland is sinking in this harbor. There is a hole bored in the bottom of the vessel, and company officials suspect union sympathizers.

The engineers found four feet of water in the hold of the vessel at 2 o'clock this morning, and rapidly rising. Pumps kept the vessel afloat. It is believed holes were bored while the ship was on the drydock. So far they have been unable to locate the leak.

Western New York Turnfest.

Rochester, N. Y., June 29.—For three days this city and particularly Seneca park will be the gathering place and stamping ground of the Turners of the Western New York District, who are holding their annual Turnfest here. Management of the big gymnastic event is in the hands of the Rochester Turnverein, which is playing host to their gymnastic friends in Buffalo, Syracuse, Utica, Auburn, Fort Plain and other cities within the western district.

Today being the opening day of the Turnfest, is devoted principally to the preliminaries. During the morning the local committees received the arriving Turners as they stepped from their trains and conducted them to headquarters at Turner hall, where everything was prepared for the accommodation and wants of the arriving athletes. The afternoon will be devoted to sightseeing and in the evening a reception will be given in honor of the guests. Tomorrow the great prize contest will be held at Seneca park. The contests will begin in the morning and continue all through the day. In the evening the visiting Turners and their hosts will assemble in Turner hall, where a commensal will be held, with speeches, music and singing. On Sunday there will be a volkfest at the park, with popular games, music and dancing and in the afternoon the prizes will be awarded to the victors in the various contests.

FLOOD ON THE COLORADO.

Settlement of Palo Verde Under Water From Broken Levee.

Further particulars of the big flood in the Colorado are contained in the following dispatch, dated at Riverside, Cal., Thursday:

The levee built around the town of Palo Verde, in the east end of Riverside county, has given away, and the entire settlement is flooded. People have driven their stock to the hills and deserted their homes. The Colorado river is eight miles wide, and thousands of acres of alfalfa and grain are under water and will be total losses.

Palo Verde is a town of about 2000 people, located on the Colorado river, in the southeastern corner of Riverside county, and about 75 miles from the Mexican border. It was settled about five years ago, by people principally from Fresno and Los Angeles.

The land there is extremely fertile and the valley was reaching a high standard of cultivation.

The flood is caused by melting snows in the upper watershed. Those returning from Palo Verde passed by Salton Sea, and they say that the water in the basin is rising at the rate of 2 1/2 inches a day. The Southern Pacific tracks have been moved to higher ground several times to escape the rising tide and are now less than 200 feet distant from the water, and in several places it crosses under the tracks.

A great flood is pouring into the Salton sink from the Colorado river through the former canal in lakes, which are now converted into wide channels. From the train, as it skirts the upper edge of the Salton Sea, it is impossible to see the farther shores. It is estimated that Salton Sea is now about 40 miles long and 20 miles wide. It has the appearance of an ocean in that its surface is covered by white-caps, and, with a strong wind blowing, has a heavy surf.

There is no present prospect of the inflow being stopped, and how high the sea will rise is still a matter of conjecture. It is practically certain that the Southern Pacific will again have to move many miles of its track. The Imperial Valley residents deny that any danger to their section of the country exists, although observers dispute this.

LANE COUNTY IS DRY

Judge Harris so Decides at Eugene This Morning Law Takes Effect Sunday

Eugene, Or., June 29.—(Special to the Journal.)—Judge Harris today rendered his decision in the local option case, and under his findings Lane county will be dry. The same question came up in Linn, Benton and Yamhill counties, all of which went dry, and it is probable Judge Harris' opinion will be endorsed by the other judges. The case will, no doubt, be appealed to the supreme court. The law goes into effect Sunday, July 1st.

STEVENS ELECTED SHERIFF

Stevens, at the adjournment of court last night, had a lead over Word of ten votes, and Word stood in running pretty low. There are only 651 votes yet to be counted, and Word supporters feel that it is all off. There remains just one ray of hope, and that is the final action on the votes held out for future consideration, but it all looks like Stevens.

A dispatch from Portland this afternoon says: The recount for the sheriff's office was finished at noon today, and Robert Stevens, Republican, is elected by 25 plurality.

An Archeological Find.

Butte, June 29.—B. B. Strong, who is working a mine near Anaconda, has brought into that city a knife of stone carved with heads of animals, unearthed 65 feet from the mouth of a tunnel driven into a hill 200 feet from the peak. Mr. Strong also found, near the knife, a huge stone in the shape of an altar, and believed to have been the sacrificial stone of a prehistoric people. A peculiar nauseating odor, unlike anything encountered in mines in Montana, leads Mr. Strong to believe that further along his workings he will encounter either mummies or a charnel house. The knife will be sent to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington. Local archeologists believe Mr. Strong has stumbled upon the ancient burying ground of those vanished races whose traces are seen in Southern Colorado, in Wyoming and in Western Nebraska, and to study whose forts and buried cities an expedition from the University of Nebraska is soon to leave for Wyoming.

Two Negroes to Fight.

New Orleans, June 29.—Considerable interest is manifested in sporting circles here and outside of the state in the ten-round fight between Joe Green, the local negro favorite and southern champion, and Ed Lowery, another colored boxer, of Plaquemine, La., which will come off in the casino at Lincoln park this evening. The mill will be held under the auspices of the Thalia Athletic club and is for a considerable purse. Both fighters are said to be in excellent trim, but Green seems to be the general favorite.

Another Law to Be Broken.

(Four O'clock Edition.)

Washington, June 29.—The announcement in the house that the senate had adopted the pure food bill was applauded. The house followed suit and sent the bill to the President for his signature.

Mrs. Dedmon Acquitted.

(Four O'clock Edition.)

Mariposa, Cal., June 29.—Mrs. Margaret Dedmon, accused of killing her husband, by pouring boiling water over him, was acquitted of the charge of murder today.
