Born on the Train.
All of the passengers on Wednesday morning's northbound overland were greatly interested in the safe arrival at Woodburn of Mrs. Frank Blasko and her baby boy, which was born on the train as it was approaching Grants Pass Tuesday night. Dr. Jones was on duty and was physician in attendance. Mrs. Blasko was on her way from California to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eekhout, of this vicinity. In honor of the town where the birth took place, the passengers named the baby "Grant." Mother and child are doing well.—Woodburn Independent.

BeWARE of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and acts in the blood. Price, 75c per bottle. Sold by druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

ABOUT WATER SUPPLY

Officers Making Examination Into and Experiments Concerning Irrigation

State Engineer Lewis is working in harmony with Arthur P. Stover, of the department of agriculture of the general government, in making experiments in irrigation in Oregon, and especially in the Willamette valley. There is an item in the appropriation bill pending in congress allowing $5000 for experimental purposes in irrigation in the valley. If this money is secured the experiments will be made this and next year. That Mr. Lewis believes will be of great benefit to the farmers of the Willamette valley. There is some available money for this purpose and the work will be carried on in a small way regardless of the fate of the $5,000 appropriation.

The matter was brought to the front by the action of State Engineer Lewis in trying to get the legislature to pass a practical law regarding water rights. As the law now stands, half the litigation in the courts in that part of the state where irrigation is general, comes from disputes over water rights. It has almost reached the point where there is no such thing in Oregon as vested water rights and each judge has his own ideas as to what constitutes riparian rights and the Pacific coast doctrine of priority of appropriation. Mr. Lewis got the idea that most of the opposition to any change in the water right laws came from the legislators from the Willamette valley counties, and this was the beginning of the plan to have the valley farmers interested in irrigation.

It is a well known fact that in some seasons irrigation in the Willamette valley is just as needful and adds as much to the increase in production as it does in Eastern Oregon or in the interior of the state. Every miller in the valley knows that on the Willamette valley lands that are not irrigated wheat lacks so much in gluten that the valley mills send to the irrigated districts in Eastern Oregon and Washington for wheat to mix with the product of the valley.

The idea of the agricultural department and State Engineer Lewis is to conduct a series of experiments to ascertain just how much per acre the Willamette valley farmer can afford to spend for irrigation purposes. Some of these experiments will probably be made at the experiment station at Corvallis and small experiments will be made in connection with the work of individual farmers in different places in the valley.

Near Woodburn are nine wells from a depth of 100 to 125 feet, in which the water rises nearly to the top. Experiments will be made in other parts of the valley to ascertain if this condition is general. If it is, the question of water supply is settled, as these wells cost only $500 or $600 to bore and put in operation. With wood alcohol on the free list it will cost only a small amount to install and operate a pumping station.

State Engineer Lewis believes that within two years valuable experiments will be made in the valley and that irrigation will become the rule in this part of the state and that output of Willamette valley products will be doubled.

Men Wanted.
Sawmill and lumber yard laborers, $2.25 per day. Woodsmen, $2.25 to $3.00. Steady work. Apply to Booth-Kelly Lumber Co., Eugene, Or. 5-22-11

Another Incorporation.
Incorporation papers were filed with the secretary of state today by the Portland Railway, Light and Power Company, with J. F. Cahalan, E. B. Seabrook and C. A. Maney as incorporators. The company is capitalized at $15,000,000, divided into shares of $100 each. The principal office of the incorporation is to be at Portland.

Another Organization.
Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday with the secretary of state by the Stoppers of the World, a fraternal organization. The incorporators are: W. Cooper Morris, J. L. Mitchell, P. A. McPherson, Dr. Garland Moss and Dr. L. M. Thornston, all of Portland. This new order is to bear similar relations among miners that the Hoo Hoo do to the lumbermen.

Off to the Penitentiary.
Sheriff T. D. Taylor left this morning for Salem with Oscar Stone, who is under an indeterminate sentence in the penitentiary for obtaining money under false pretenses.—East Oregonian.

NATURE'S WARNING.

Salem People Must Recognize and Heed It.

Kidney ills come quietly—mysteriously. But nature always warns you through the urine. Notice the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy—If there are settlements and sediment, Passages too frequent, scanty, painful.

It's time then to use Doan's Kidney Pills. To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes.

Doan's have done great work in Salem.

A. J. Wood, of 250 Cottage street, Salem, Ore., says: "Kidney and bladder trouble became so bad with me about two months ago that I was obliged to do something to ease the suffering. It bothered me most in the morning and perhaps for two or three hours after getting up. Too frequent action of the kidney secretions was very annoying and embarrassing. I had known people who had received the best of results from Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a box of them at Dr. Stone's drug store. Before I had used one box I was completely free from every symptom of the trouble. The kidneys were regulated and my general health became better. I can hardly express in words the good opinion I have of Doan's Kidney Pills for cases of kidney complaint or back-ache."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Millburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's—and take no other.

"For the Red, White and Blue."

Crowded houses continue to greet the Brigham-Cooper Company at every performance of "The Bohemians." This play is the most popular yet presented, and is even more popular than was "The Country Girl," which every one liked so well. Next week being Fourth of July week, the management has arranged a patriotic program, consisting of a patriotic four-act drama entitled "For the Red, White and Blue." The plot of the play is a romantic and absorbing story of the Civil War; it is full of patriotism and the spirit of 1864. There will be songs, music and specialties to suit the occasion. The prices will remain the same, 10 and 20 cents, with special matinees to be announced later.

Deadly Serpent Bites.

Are as common in India as are stomach and liver disorders with us. For the latter, however, there is a sure remedy. Electric Bitters, the great restorative medicine, of which S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., says: "They restored my wife to perfect health after years of suffering with dyspepsia and a chronically torpid liver." Electric Bitters cure chills and fever, malaria, biliousness, lame back, kidney troubles and bladder disorders. Sold only on guaranteed by J. C. Perry, druggist, Salem, Or. Price, 50c.

Peace Envoy Not Yet Named.

The battle is still raging, and the Malt Bread holds front ranks, and is skirmishing both to the right and left, and only occasionally finds one of the enemies. It is a well-grounded fact that the citizens are in favor of a well-established firm so much so that they are trading their worthless checks for Pure Malt Bread checks at a premium. This is an established fact that can be proven beyond a doubt. What is the password? "Pure Malt Bread."

Will Discuss Library Matters.

Narragansett Pier, R. I., June 29.—The largest and probably most important annual conference of the American Library association ever held opened here today. It is the thirty-first annual conference of the organization. Last year the conference was held in Portland, Ore., the year before in St. Louis. The association is national in character, and has about 1500 members, who are librarians and their assistants, state library commissioners, trustees of libraries and men and women who are interested in library work.

At the opening session today the delegates were welcomed by Lieutenant Governor Frederick W. Jackson and Roland G. Hazard. Among those in attendance are F. F. Hill, president, Brooklyn Public Library; ex-President Richardson, Princeton Library; Herbert Putnam, librarian or congress; Henry T. Tedder, London; A. E. Bostwick, New York Public Library; W. I. Fletcher, Amherst; H. E. Legler, library commissioner, Wisconsin; James H. Canfield, Columbia university; John Pendleton Kennedy, state librarian, Virginia; W. C. Kimball, public library commissioner, New Jersey; W. T. Porter, Cincinnati; F. E. J. Taggart, San Francisco; M. Lunnis, Public Library, Los Angeles; H. C. Buchanan, State Library, New Jersey; J. C. Dana, Newark; W. H. Brett, Cleveland, and David A. Boddy, Brooklyn.

Among the women who are in attendance are many who occupy high places in library work. The list includes Miss Plummer of Pratt Institute Library; Miss Hitchler, Brooklyn Public Library; Miss Jackson, Carnegie Library, Pittsburgh; Miss Hoagland, of the Indiana commission; Miss Downey, of the Ottumwa, Ia., library; Miss Neeser, Free Library, Philadelphia; Miss Campbell, Passaic Public Library; Miss Stewart, Public Library, Boston; Miss Arnold, of the Indiana commission; Miss Askew, of the New Jersey commission; Miss Rathbone, of the East Orange, N. J., library; Miss Stearns, of the Wisconsin commission; Miss Bullock, of the Nebraska commission, and Miss Ridgway, of Philadelphia.

Many important matters will come up for consideration and discussion during the sessions of the conference, which will last a week. Among the subjects will be "The Public Library as a Municipal Institute," "Planning and Construction of Library Buildings," "Subjects Fit for Fiction," "Books for the Blind," "Books for the Foreign Population," and "Libraries and Settlement Work."

On Monday next there will be a special conference of the Trustees, when the following interesting papers will be read: "The Basis of Library Taxation," by Dr. James H. Canfield, Columbia university; "The Whole Duty of a Trustee from a Librarian's Standpoint," by Arthur E. Bostwick, New York Public Library; "The Whole Duty of a Trustee from a Trustee's Standpoint," J. J. Rosengarten, trustee of the Free Library, Philadelphia; "The Carnegie Donations," by David A. Boddy, president of the board of trustees, Brooklyn public library; "The Ideal Relation between Trustees and Librarian," by Melvil Dewey, president of the American Library Institute; "What an Editor Thinks of Trustees," by Miss M. E. Ahern, editor of Public Libraries.

THE STORY OF CLASSIFIED TOWN

CHAPTER XIII.

In Classified Town there were men of all grades; Men with professions, and men who had trades, Butchers and bakers and furnitures makers; Tinkers and tailors and owners of acres.

They held a great meeting, it filled a large hall; There were speeches and papers that pleased one and all; But the one great event remained for the last When this resolution was cheerily passed:

"Resolved, That all workers their thanks should extend To Journal want ads, they're the workman's friend. To those seeking work they point out the way To just the right job, at just the right pay."

valued approximately at $393,575. One of the largest catches was made by the William Baylis, which brought to San Francisco 35,000 pounds of bone, valued at $150,000.

The total tonnage of the whalers sailing from San Francisco amounts to ten steamers and barks, and six schooners, aggregating 3766 tons. Seven of these vessels escaped before the ice closed in last year.

The American whaling fleet of some 1000 vessels, plying all seas of the earth has, since the advent of petroleum, which has replaced whale oil, dwindled down to about fifteen sailing from New Bedford and less than twenty stilling from San Francisco. In 1857 the whaling industry at New Bedford reached its highest point. At that time its whaling fleet was worth more than $12,000,000 and required 10,000 seamen. With the discovery of mineral oils after the civil war, whale catching practically received its death blow.
