CONVERT THE OREGONIAN.

The Oregonian should meet the error of its ways and become more orthodox in its religious views.

Dr. Hill should quit the employ of the millionaires and pharisees long enough to convert the Oregonian.

Its cold and heartless materialism in neglecting the vested rights of the pharisee IS DISCOURAGING TO CAPITAL INVESTED IN CHURCHES

Does not the Oregonian know that Dr. Hill is a labor union man, and pleads the cause of the down-trodden at $500 per month and an occasional trip to the holy land to row into the bargain?

In the early days when Scott and Pittcock were young men trying to pick up a living among the big stumps when Portland was new timber, there was no Y. M. C. A. stretching out its helping hands to set right the young.

They had to grow up the best they could with such simple equipments of morality as the golden rule, and cattle for yourself and the devil take the hindmost, AND THE FORMER WAS NOT AS MUCH PRACTICED AS AT PRESENT.

The man with the least conscience and the most cunning did not always get the highest rewards for his activity, but frequently dangled at the end of a rope.

When in their old age Scott and Pittcock are trying to get right and are exposing the avarice and greed and general unwholesomeness of the trusts and monopolies, they ought not to be discouraged.

Dr. Hill has no patent or monopoly on being good. There is no law that forbids any man, even though he be a heavy sinner from away back, from turning from evil and being just as good as he can be.

We are not claiming that Scott and Pittcock are as good as Dr. Hill or any of his new lights of public morality, BUT FOR THE CHANCE THEY HAD, IN AN UNLIGHTED pioneer age, when no ministers preached for glory in lieu of cash, THEY HAVE DONE FAIRLY WELL.

If Harvey Scott ever gets to heaven he will probably be felled off in a cent's measure with Job Powell, Dr. Driver, and other backwoods exponents of the book-back variety.

The high-sounding, high-gone, smooth-shaven hypocrites of orthodox would not retain the pharisees unless they were compensating sinners who washed themselves at the watering troughs and dried on a salubrious towel.

It's a hard job, trying to split a tough old sinner, but Dr. Hill and Rev. Frougler should forego their annual coming at the summer resorts and coming to the Oregonian into a clean, moral, religious newspaper.

THE STATESMAN AND THE PEOPLE.

Popular government does not suit the fastidious tastes of the Salem Statesman. If it could only stop the awful calamity of the people having too much to say it would be happy.

Most politicians are loath to the inevitable that the old way of electing senators has to go THAT THE LITTLE CROSS MARK MADE IN

Your Cold

How will your cold be tonight? Worse, probably. How about tomorrow? The trouble is, colds always tend downward. Stop this downward tendency with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Your doctor will tell you why it can do this. Ask him all about it. Ask him if he has anything better for coughs and colds. Then follow his advice, whatever it is.

THE ELECTION BOOTH SHOULD BE FINAL.

The direct primary law is also conceded to be a step in the right direction, but the Statesman is telling his readers to revive the old corrupted log-rolling convention system.

Direct legislation is also a bad thing according to the Statesman. The only law-making power, the only power of repeal or initiative should be in the hands of the all-wise and incorruptible legislatures.

The people may still further take into their hands the recall that will enable them to say come into private life, Mr. Official, if you don't behave, AND THEN THE STATESMAN WOULD DIE OF A CATNIP FIT.

Of course the nomination and election of Jonathan Bourne by the people should be declared null and void and some pure and honest and incorruptible Statesman candidate should be made senator.

This is a fearful subject and should not be pursued any further. The wickedness of the common people is too plainly evident and they are determined to ruin our fair land by crippling the power of the legislature in several ways. THEY WILL NEXT BE SAYING THE LEGISLATURE SHALL NOT EMPLOY OVER FOUR HUNDRED LADY CLERKS.

In a little bit this country will not be fit to live in and we look for the editor of the Statesman to move to Haffen's lay or some place where they have not absorbed the pervasiveness and now fangled idea that the people are fit to be trusted.

ON TO CHEMAWA.

After three years of effort there is at last to be an electric line to Chemawa, upon interested parties can dig up some new way to stop it.

The granting of franchises has become the great hot-air industry of the Willamette valley. To have the Salem city council wake up and put in a little of the joke that means something is refreshing.

THE CLAUSE THAT PROVIDES FOR IMMEDIATE CONSTRUCTION TO CHEMAWA and to have the cars running by September 10th will give this city a suburban connection that is worth having.

It means the employment of labor, the expenditure of money, the bringing of new business to Salem merchants, and the growth and development of the city.

Far more than a line direct to Portland does this city need short lines running into the thickly settled country on all sides of us THAT WILL BRING BUSINESS TO US.

The mayor and the council deserves great credit for their successful effort in granting a franchise that carries a forfeiture clause, if things are not done within a reasonable time.

GENERAL HOP REPORT.

New York Market.

The local market continues to present very quiet features, with little interest manifested by either brewer or dealer. Continued absence of important business comes a weaker tone and asking prices are a shade lower than a week ago, and we make a deduction in the quotation on all grades.

Advises from all the principal markets indicate about the same general position as here with no reports of new business of importance. Crop news from the Pacific Coast continues very favorable with reports of fine decreasing in Oregon and Washington.

All the reports from growing sections in New York state are that the wine is making steady progress, with yields looking fairly good and are absolutely free of vermin. Continental advices continue to report more or less lies, but English advices report the crop outlook as improving.

German Market.

The weather has been rainy and cold during the last weeks. The hop plant has, therefore, been held back somewhat in its development and some plantations are showing a rather irregular standing; also some insects have appeared in several districts. A few days ago, however, the weather changed for the better and we are enjoying at present a warm and bright day again. If this favorable weather continues the plant will in a very short time have fully recovered from its backwardness, the general condition of the vine being thoroughly healthy.

Business in 1905's crop is rather active considering the advanced season

There are 100 to 150 bales daily sold on the market for foreign and German account. Tendencies and prices are firm on account of the small stocks we have to dispose of. (Choice qualities, 1905, @ Mk. 90 at 100 Good qualities, 1905, @ Mk. 70 at 80 Medium to com., 1905, @ Mk. 40 at 50

As to the price that will prevail for the season's crop no one at present attempts to say. It will probably be along the 10 cent mark, as this is the basis of all the contracts that have been made for this year's crops. The only thing that may cause a rise is a short crop in England. Reports are that the prospects of a big crop in England are good.

Notes. The Cobleskill Times says: At Worcester the heavy rains have been beneficial to the progress of the young vine. Fly has appeared.

The Cooperstown Republican says: Hops are very backward and uneven. The weather may be such as to bring the vine on yet, but the outlook is not for a heavy growth of vine. As for the market, there is none.

Waterville Market.

The growing crop now demands all the attention of hop raisers, and dealers and others are much interested in the progress of the vine, which so far is favorable. The weather has been suitable and the prospects are good for an average crop.

A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth Melver, of Vanceboro, Me., permitted a little cold to go unnoticed until a tragic finish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold; but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life." Guaranteed best cough and cold cure, at J. C. Perry's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A Peculiar City.

A traveler's tale has it that Nang-ham, a Siamese city, home of the royal family, is a sort of municipal harem. Its population is composed of women and children alone. It is in the center of Bangkok, has high walls around it, and in its population of 9000 there is not a single man, though the king occasionally pays a visit. There are shops, markets, temples, theaters, streets and avenues, parks, lakes, trees and flower gardens, a hall of justice, judges, executioners, police, generals and soldiers, all the positions, official and otherwise, being filled by women. The only man in all Siam who can enter this city is the king.

Talk Is Not Cheap

The Telegram very emphatically says: "The Congressional Record, they say, is proof that members of congress uttered 20,000,000 words on the floors of the houses during the recent session of that body; and certainly that publication has grown fat and bulgy, beyond precedent. The congress, however, did the substantial thing also, by appropriation of $900,000,000. The debates, then, cost the country $45 per word. Better memorable has often been had for less money."

Only 82 Years Old.

"I am only 82 years old and don't expect even when I get to be real old to feel that way as long as I can get Electric Bitters," says Mrs. E. H. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. Surely there's nothing else keeps the old as young and makes the weak as strong as this grand tonic medicine. Dyspepsia, torpid liver, indamed kidneys or chronic constipation are unknown after taking Electric Bitters a reasonable time. Guaranteed by J. C. Perry, druggist. Price 50c.

A Famous Remedy

"I cured my cough with German Syrup." He writes to Dr. G. D. Green: "An asthma as I felt was, doctor dear, I'm feeling best this ever I've been!"

The poor consumptive should not be the victim of experiment, as he often is, but the moment the dread disease manifests its presence he should be given Beecher's German Syrup—a pure, non-alcoholic medicine that is made especially for the cure of consumption, and has a world-wide fame as a certain remedy for catarrh, colds, coughs, croup, sore throat and all bronchial affections in old and young. It is sold in all civilized countries, and has been famous as a consumption cure for almost half a century.

Trial bottle, 25c. Big bottle, 50c. At all druggists throughout the world. Sold in Salem by S. C. Stone.

SMILES.

The Elks only cleared fifteen hundred plunks. Congress has adjourned. But the Oregon legislature is still to come. The wonderful popularity of the Elks with the ladies remains unbroken. The type on Portland papers is hard enough to read without splattering red and blue ink all over it. Soon is time for hop yard weddings. —Independence West Side. Then we may look for Capt. Lyon to lead some blushing Polk county maiden to the altar of future hopes.

Woodman Jottings says: "Too many applicants simply unobtrusively lie about their family history when being examined for insurance." This is probably better than to tell the truth. Ryan is wise in saying that it is too early to be a candidate, and that there may be others. Roosevelt is wiser in saying that he will not be a candidate at all. That is the most fetchy thing to say.

Engels' Guard: Oregon politicians had an unnecessary scare. The anti-pass measure has been declared ineffectual because the enacting clause was omitted by W. S. U'Ren, the supreme source of Oregon law.

J. W. Bennett and Joseph Teal, on their return from Ten Mile lake, complain of catching only 400 trout, and say that the lake is so high that fishing is not good. If they were not noted sports and fishermen of renown that story would be received with a smile.

"The Garden of Allah," by Robert Hildens, is to receive its eleventh impression; "The Woman with the Fan," by the same author, its sixth. The continued demand for "The Garden of Allah" goes to show that not all modern fiction, at any rate, is of an ephemeral nature.

George C. Brownell never raised half the political keel in Oregon politics that another gentleman down Clackamas way has produced, and yet the people took it all out on George. He only advocated what the other fellow proposed, and the people as usual have crucified the wrong man.

There are a number of improvements pending that cannot all be condemned and enjoined. Some of them will go through, and Salem will be a better town for a laboring man to live in. The feeling is growing stronger in favor of permanent street improvements, and this will bear good fruit, put money in circulation, and stimulate building and advance the prices of real estate.

County Commissioner Goulet has been sworn in. He is the Woodburn man who broke into the county court contrary to program. He has been a country livery stable keeper and horse buyer, and has considerable horse sense. He was raised down on French Prairie, and has been road supervisor a time or two, and has actually built good roads himself. Goulet is a man of little talk, but don't think for a minute that he will not do a lot of thinking and acting, though he is from the country.

There is trouble in the old country about securing competent help in hotels and homes. Here is a newspaper from "Friedrichshaven am dem Bodensee," in which a hotel man advertises for a girl to work in the kitchen at high wages. "Kann sofort eintreten bei hohem Lohn." Another man advertises for a house-keeper, or "Mag' die kochen kann nach Bauern Styl und auch melken." can get a job at her own price—"bei hohem Lohn und guter Behandlung." That means that Johann Amsch, "Gutsbesitzer und Schneidmeister," will see to it that she has kindling, and will start the fire for her if she happens to be out late to a church sociable.

Between the details of the Thaw-White trial in New York and the Crawford trial in Washington, there is not much room to conduct a clean newspaper.

ITS MERIT IS PROVED

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Cincinnati Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, and thinking people generally.

Mrs. Sara Wilson

The following letter is only one of many thousands which are on file in the Pinkham office, and go to prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be a remedy of great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvelous results among sick and ailing women.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "About nine months ago I was a great sufferer with female trouble, which caused me severe pain, extreme nervousness and frequent headaches, from which the doctor failed to relieve me. I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and within a short time felt better, and after taking five bottles of it I was entirely cured. I therefore heartily recommend your Compound as a splendid female tonic. It makes the monthly periods regular and without pain; and what a blessing it is to find such a remedy after so many doctors fail to help you. I am pleased to recommend it to all suffering women."— Mrs. Sara Wilson, 31 East 3d Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

If you have suppressed or painful periods, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, pelvic catarrh, nervous prostration, dizziness, faintness, "don't-care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, backache or the blues, these are sure indications of female weakness, or some derangement of the organs. In such cases there is one tried and true remedy—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
