Call on F. E. Shafe, at his new store, 187 Commercial street, near Ferry. The finest stock of harness in Salem.

Changes Name Twice.
Carl Siegel will have his name changed by the court of Marion county to Vasco Fidell Lanson. Application to have this done was made today by G. W. Siegel, of the Lewisburg district. Fourteen years ago, while Mr. Siegel was living in Iowa, he adopted a 3-year-old boy from the orphan's home. The little boy's father had just died, and it was supposed that his mother was dying. Siegel had the boy's name changed to Carl Siegel, and then removed to Oregon. In the meantime the mother did not die, but married again, and soon became affluent. She instituted a search for her boy, but only recently succeeded in locating him. As soon as the situation became known, Mr. Siegel provided the boy with funds and sent him back to Iowa. Carl, or rather Vasco Fidell, wanted to stay, and now Mr. Siegel is having his name changed again.

New College Buildings.
Rev. Cephas Clapp, of Forest Grove, one of the trustees of Pacific university, who spoke at a missionary meeting held here yesterday, returned home this morning. He stated that the conditions in the faculty room at commencement time were not so bad as depicted by the newspapers; that the movement for the new girls' dormitory, to take the place of the one destroyed by fire some months ago, was making shape, and that the erection of the new brick addition to cost $25,000, would begin soon. Dr. Coghill, who had handed in his resignation from the chair of biology, has reconsidered it, and will remain another year.

Gets More Room.
Dr. R. H. White, the osteopath, has converted the rooms formerly used by the Evening Telegram into office rooms which will accommodate apartments to his suite.

A TRUE TALE OF JOHNNY

Journal Horse Editor Does Not Agree With the Brother at Bandon About Johnnies

Newsdays, when Johnnie is bad at school the teacher takes out her book and gives a black mark. Next day Johnnie is worse than ever. Fifty years ago when Johnnie was bad at school the teacher took down a dogwood sprout, made about a dozen black marks about his bare legs, and Johnnie never repeated the offense. Fifty years ago Johnnie got up at daylight, started the fire, fed the horses, milked a dozen longhorned cows that gave barely enough milk to put into the coffee, chopped and brought in wood enough to last another all day, ate a hearty breakfast and walked five miles to school. Today Johnnie doesn't get up at all unless he is forced to do so, eats little or no breakfast, goes out behind the barn to smoke a cigarette and if the school house is over three blocks away he grunts about the long distance he has to walk. The Johnnie of fifty years ago is now a hale, hearty man. Fifty years from now the Johnnie of today will be dead and buried. Isn't that a true tale of Johnnie?—Bandon Recorder.

There are Johnnies and Johnnies. Fifty years ago little Johnnie, in addition to the duties enumerated, straddled the old gray Pennsylvania mare, with feet just like stove lids, and a poop-deck like the great Christopher Columbus' good ship, the Santa Marie, and he had a long three-bushel sack with two bushels of corn in it, and he "tore" it to the mill, where there was also a distillery, and got half a bushel of corn meal and two gallons of whiskey; and when he got home he took the old stone jug with its cork stopper out to the harvest field and got a snort or two for his trouble, and his chubby drank with him. He didn't know how to roll a cigarette, but he chewed his niggerhead tobacco as a cow does her cud, or an Oregon girl her gum. His average of life was not so long as the Johnnie of today, though of course some of us old Johnnies of the fifty years ago hang on like ticks, and when the Angel Gabriel blows his last trumpet, he will have to appoint a committee to go round and knock us in the head, so he can finish his job and clean up the grounds.

There are some weakly Johnnies now, just as there were then, and they will fall by the wayside, just as the other weakly Johnnies did 50, and 500 and 5000 years ago.

Yet there are some Johnnies in these so-called degenerate days, lots of them, big, husky, strong-limbed Johnnies, with the red blood of health coursing through vein and artery. Johnnies who can swat a baseball over the fence for a home run or knock the cover off it, and then streak it around to the home plate like a telegraph message with a sweater on it. They can kick the pigskin harder and stand more rough usage without a whimper than the Johnnies when us relics of the good old days were boys. And besides that, they are not afraid to spend their vacation in the harvest fields, the hop yards, the berry patches or factories, where they can earn more money in three months than us Johnnies of fifty years ago ever dreamed of. The horse editor insists that the boys of today are as good and strong and healthy as any crop of that kind ever raised.

The horse editor has only one Johnnie and he is 23 years old—and he sometimes smokes cigarettes. He was at it continually from about 10 years of age until 18, and fortunately it stunted his growth so he is only six feet three inches tall and weighs a trifle over 200 pounds. Thank God for the cigarettes, that prevented him being a mutton or a giraffe or something over-size.

The Johnnies of today are a clean-limbed, bright-eyed, good lot of Johnnies, and if we had our wish we would be one of those same Johnnies and next to that we would be a sister to him—a bright-eyed, little webfoot Jennie.

Mrs. Mary McCoy, of Sweet Home, will be arrested today by Deputy Sheriff Stollmeier, of Albany, charged with obstructing the county officers in the performance of their duties. The trouble arose over a county road which is being built to Sweet Home, which would pass through the woman's property. But it seems that she does not want the road built, and has been running the officers off the place with a shotgun and horsewhip. It is thought the deputy will have a time getting the woman to come to Albany.

The Friends church began its annual conference at Newburg yesterday.
