

Do You Know Any of These People

The best advertising I have is the good work I have done for others. I have printed nothing but facts. Yet there are some of you who may be skeptical. If so, read these testimonials. They talk out loud.

June 7, 1906.—Dr. Wright put in a bridge, two crowns and filled five teeth for me, and I can say the work was painless and entirely satisfactory.
MRS. J. F. SAUNDERS,
Gervais, Or.

June 9, 1906.—A year ago Dr. Wright put two bridges in for me by his painless method, and they have given excellent satisfaction. So much so that he has today put on a gold crown, which was done without pain. If you wish satisfactory work go to Dr. Wright.
MRS. G. F. YOUNG,
R. P. D. No. 1, Salem

June 6, 1906.—I had three teeth filled by Dr. Wright's painless method, and I experienced no pain whatever.
MISS BELLE BUTLER,
Sublimity, Or.

June 13, 1906.—I had Dr. Wright remove a bridge which was put in my mouth by another dentist and insert one by his painless method. He also extracted a tooth for me, and I must say the work was painless and looks perfectly natural.
MRS. E. E. WISSING.

June 8, 1906.—Dr. Wright put in two bridges for me and several gold fillings, absolutely without pain. They are highly satisfactory and I am now having him insert two more bridges. Can't say if you want high-class, painless dentistry, my advice is to go to him.
MRS. PETER ZILINSKI,
Brooks, Or.

June 9, 1906.—Dr. Wright made me a full lower plate to replace the one I had made by another dentist, and it is a perfect fit.
MRS. W. FENNEL,
804 Liberty St., Salem.

June 30, 1906.—Dr. Wright has just extracted a tooth for me without any pain.
MRS. WM. BUTTE,
Salem, Or.

June 24, 1906.—I had a tooth extracted by Dr. Wright's painless method, and can say that it didn't hurt a particle.
B. VAUGHN,
Salem, Or.

June 15, 1906.—Dr. Wright put in a gold crown and a three-tooth bridge for me without causing me any pain whatever, and I will add that the work is entirely satisfactory.
MARTIN OLSEN,
Salem, Or.

The work will cost you less than that charged by other dentists in Salem. It's painless also.

The Destruction of San Francisco

BY EARTHQUAKE AND FIRE

By Charles Eugene Banks and Opie Read
Special :: Memorial :: Volume

This edition will be eagerly sought after by millions of Americans who have demonstrated their sympathy in a substantial manner by cheerfully answering the call of the stricken, and giving money, food and clothing with a generosity truly American. Every city, town and village throughout the land is stretching forth its hands to help those in distress. Human hearts are beating today in every hamlet in the world for friends or relatives dead or dying in the ruins.

There never was a time in the history of the world when all eyes were turned to one city, as now they are toward the once great city of San Francisco.

Interest is at fever heat and there is a demand for this book, by all people, that makes it a duty and an honor to be the means of bringing it to them.

This book tells, by pen and picture, the detailed story as gathered by writers on the grounds, of the awful calamity that befell San Francisco and the smaller cities of the Pacific coast, leaving hundreds of thousands homeless and at the mercy of their fellow men; of the loss of life and the destruction of property; the story of the disaster as told by the survivors; fighting fire with dynamite; murder and pillage by gangs; food and water famine; army guarding survivors under martial law; the ride and expose the fate of ghosts; buried alive in tombs of fire; a city turned into an inferno of furnaces; hundreds homeless; sympathy of nations; relief work of our people; contributions for the suffering from individuals, cities and congress; a nation's sympathy aroused.

The Whole Story of the Disaster

A "FARM TRUST,"

The High Financiers to Give Us the Real Thing.

For some years a concern calling itself the American Society of Equity has been endeavoring to create a gigantic trust for handling farm products, of which it is itself to be the beneficiary. Thus far nothing seems to have come of it except yearly "conventions" and powerful "resolutions" and a good circulation for an alleged agricultural paper which promulgates the trust doctrine. It is now, however, to have opposition of the most strenuous character, for a large number of the very rich men of the country have organized a trust which will operate, not on wind, but with real money and lots of it. Thus far the actual performance has been confined to acquiring very heavy interests in dairy products, poultry and eggs; but there is promise of extending its operations to include about everything which is eaten. Money is said to be no object, for whatever is needed can be had.

The names associated with this enterprise and the investment already made make it necessary to consider the project seriously. It has never been believed possible for any one concern to acquire such control of farm products as to exert any great influence on prices to consumers. It is evident that a group of our strongest financial men are now of the opinion either that such control can be obtained or that people enough can be convinced of its possibility to make a first-class market for stock. In other words, it is not yet clear whether the intent of these shrewd financiers is really to corner our food supplies or to unload stock on the market. The great publicity suddenly given to the movement rather indicates the latter. Those who intend to do real business usually proceed by "gun-slow" methods.

Nevertheless it is evidently possible for such a concern to do many things which would benefit the public and apparently be profitable. The talk of the proposed trust to the effect that it will "eliminate the middleman" is, of course, nonsense. What it really means is that it will itself become the universal middleman. There is no question about the fact that the present system results in prices to consumers ordinarily out of proportion to those paid the farmer. Then a universal middleman can deal directly with the consumers and keep down the price of the goods. It is evidently possible in all lines. With money enough great markets can be established in all cities where attractions would overcome the independence of modern Americans to go to market and save out of the line. In various ways it is possible to greatly improve our present service of raw food products. Whether the new trust proposes to do this remains to be seen.—Tacoma Ledger.

Big Demand for Portland Cement.

Almost the entire cement supply in the United States will be on its way here in a few months. It is computed that in a short time San Francisco will be using more cement in one day in the rebuilding than all the states of the Union were using a decade ago.

One of the large construction concerns of the city has engaged 1000 barrels of cement a day to be delivered in August. Later in the year it is expected that the demand will be such that the same firm will have to use 10,000 barrels a day, or about seventy carloads. This cement will be needed in the erection of about $5,000,000 worth of buildings.

It is impossible for the cement manufacturers on the coast to supply the demand, as all the cement manufactured out here is consumed under normal conditions. Cement will have to be imported from abroad. A large fleet of ships is now on the way to San Francisco from ports in Japan, Belgium, Australia, England, Germany and the Hawaiian islands. Even abroad the supply is being called upon to its fullest extent, and large orders are daily being placed by cable.

Eastern capital is interested in the situation, and some of the larger capitalists have sent men out on prospecting expeditions to see if some of the raw materials cannot be located.

A cement quarry at the present time would be almost as valuable as a gold mine, and the same eagerness and enthusiasm attend the search for it as that for the yellow metal.

Indigestion.

With its companions, heartburn, slowness, torpidity of the liver, indigestion, palpitation of the heart, blood, headache and other symptoms, salivary skin, foul tongue, offensive breath and a legion of ailments, is at once the most spread and destructive malady of the American people. The treatment will cure all these 50c bottle. For sale by D. J. P.

Sweating.

This weather is hot and it is those who were foolish enough to hard-running piano players with ventilation, sweat and feel fat. This is not the case with those who buy the light-running Pianola. Play, which children and old play with ease; it also makes music and is so simple in construction that there is no danger of its getting out of fix. It is smaller than any other player and is a beauty in design. Sold by Geo. C. Will.

Boil Drinking Water.

While the work of enlarging the sewer system is in progress it is better for all to boil their drinking water.—The progress of the work be noted in this paper.
