IMMENSE TIMBER DEAL

SPAULDING COMPANY ACQUIRES GERLINGER LANDS

All Interests Consolidated That Will Give Salem Another Railroad

The Spaulding Logging & Lumber Company, of this city, has acquired a one-third interest in the Salem, Dallas & Fall City railroad, and has bought out the timber land holdings of L. Gerlinger in the Falls City district of about 1500 acres. The railroad runs from Dallas to Falls City, and about five miles on into the big timber, 14 miles in all of first-class steam standard gauge equipment. The company has been buying right of way to Salem and is understood to have most of it secured for the extension from Dallas to Salem. It is not known that any action was taken at the Portland meeting of the interested parties, which was attended Friday by Charles K. Spaulding, acting for his company. Mr. Spaulding returned last night, but declined to make any statement as to the intention of the company in regard to building a line from Dallas to Salem, but that is one of the first things that will be taken up in the near future by the consolidated interests, that are now perfectly harmonized and consolidated and puts the Spaulding Lumber Company in possession of about 20,000 acres of the finest timber in Oregon.

Line to Mill City.
The Capital Journal interview with a Salem capitalist, who gave reasons why a line into the Santiam country would be the best thing for the city, has been a great deal commented on, and several farmers owning lands between Salem and Mehama have been heard to say that, for a bona fide project to construct such an electric line they would donate the right of way, and even help in the construction work. A Salem capitalist, who owns water power on the Santiam has stated that for such an electric line to Salem he would donate the right of way over his land and make the company building the same a present of a fine water power. All these pointers indicate that there is a deep interest in such a line, and that the people are prepared to act, and that no hot-air bunco scheme, merely to get franchisees through the towns, and then hold them up, would be considered for a moment. The people have it in their power to get electric lines constructed in any direction from Salem, and there are several projects maturing besides the line to Dallas and the line to Mill City.

Ice Cream Social.
The young ladies of the intermediate class of Leslie Sunday school, South Salem, will give an ice cream social on the lawn of Mrs. Amelia Miller, South Commercial street, between Miller and Wilson streets, on Tuesday evening, July 24th, beginning at 6 o'clock. Come everybody and enjoy the evening. The proceeds will go to help pay for the street improvement.

SOUTHERN OREGON CHAUTAUQUA

Great Gathering at Ashland Which Proved a Most Enthausiastic Affair

(Medford Tribune, July 18.)

Yesterday was an ideal day and was enjoyed to the limit by those fortunate enough to be passengers on the special train to Ashland to attend the meeting of the Rogue River Valley Development League. The Southern Oregon Chautauqua association had by previous arrangement set aside Tuesday as League Day and the exercises were of a nature to appeal to the leaguers. The special train left Grants Pass with over two hundred passengers. Medford furnished fully as many and with the contingents from Gold Hill, Central Point, Phoenix, Jacksonville, Talent, and other points brought the number up to over 500. Upon arrival at Ashland the visitors were met by committees and the Ashland band and escorted to the Commercial Club rooms. Here Mayor G. S. Butler, on behalf of the people of Ashland, tendered the visitors the freedom of the city. He was followed by E. V. Carter, president of the Commercial Club, who gave the visitors a hearty welcome. Dr. C. E. Ray, in behalf of the League, responded, thanking Ashland for its hospitality. Light refreshments were served to the visitors, who then dispersed to meet in the chautauqua hall at 2 p. m. Promptly at that hour a large audience gathered and listened to a short address of welcome by G. S. Billings, president of the Chautauqua Association. He was then followed by Dr. House of Portland who proved to be an eloquent speaker. Professor Campbell's topic was "Some Educational Phases of Education," and was a fine effort. Col. Hofer of Salem was on familiar ground when he told of Oregon and its products. Dr. C. B. Ray, W. A. Carter of Gold Hill, E. D. Briggs of Ashland, S. A. Pattison of Central Point and John Olwell also made addresses, brief and to the point.

The last speaker to appear on the platform was the picturesque character, Captain Jack Crawford, who in a short time had each face in the audience decorated with a bright smile.

An early adjournment was taken to permit attendance at the ball game. Lack of space forbids a description of a very interesting game. The score was 6 to 5 in favor of Grants Pass, fourteen innings being played.

The balloon ascension was according to program, the parachute leap included.

In the evening Capt. Jack Crawford entertained the large audience at the assembly hall, the capacity of that building, being 2000, being taxed. Captain Jack recited a number of his poems and with mingled pathos and humor held the attention of the audience until the mournful toot of the locomotive announced the impending departure of the special train.

The meeting of the executive board of the league was held in the Commercial Club rooms at 7 p. m. President C. E. Ray, Secretary M. E. Eggleston, Treasurer C. S. Patterson, and the delegates from Ashland, Medford, Grants Pass and Gold Hill were all present.

In the matter of the memorial to the Southern Pacific Company, requesting that the company revise their present policy in regard to the disposal of their lands in Jackson and Josephine counties, it was determined to defer action until the next meeting of the executive board.

The committees having in charge the project of securing aid from the county courts of Jackson and Josephine counties, to publish pamphlets and other forms of advertising descriptive of the Rogue river valley reported that the matter was under consideration in both courts. The Jackson county court has on hand about 2000 copies of the pamphlet published for distribution at the Lewis and Clark exposition and the court wishes to see these distributed before new ones are published.

Col. E. Hofer of the Salem Journal and president of the Willamette Valley Development League was present and, upon invitation, addressed the board. He gave a history of the pioneer development league, of which he has been the moving spirit for several years, and a summary of the statistics which he has collected bearing upon the products of Oregon and her urgent need of better transportation. At the request of the board, Col. Hofer then agreed to publish this in pamphlet form for the use of the league. With the facts and figures set forth in comprehensive form, it is proposed to lay the matter before the railroad builders of the nation and ascertain why Oregon's $100,000,000 of raw material production does not entitle her to more consideration at the hands of the great transportation interests. The meeting was then adjourned to meet at Grants Pass Monday night at 8 p. m.

Boat Club Meets.

The boat club has arranged for an evening on the banks of the Willamette. The affair will be held at Willamette Park Sunday evening, and the Salem band has been engaged to discourse music for the visitors. The park is about a mile and a half up the river, and is one of the prettiest places on the beautiful banks of the Willamette. The launches will make trips to the park every five minutes, leaving the landing at the foot of State street. It is to be hoped that this first attempt to provide wholesome Sunday evening recreation will be well patronized by the residents of the Capital City.

Barnes to Hang.

Unless Governor Chamberlain should exercise executive clemency, J. C. Barnes, of Douglas county, convicted of the murder of William Galus, will be executed at the state penitentiary Tuesday, September 18. Barnes was taken to Roseburg to be sentenced a few days ago, and the judge of the circuit court of Douglas county fixed the time of the execution at the date named. This will be the first in the history of Oregon that an execution has been fixed for a day of the week other than Friday.

It is likely that the execution will occur directly after 6 o'clock in the morning.

Just Another Page.

Mr. Rollin K. Page, manager of Citizens' Light & Traction Company, is going East in a few days. He is going for a purpose in which he is deeply interested, it probably ending in wedding bells, a home and the joy of living in Salem. As the affair is not to materialize until September, advise the Salem girls to get busy; they don't want him to get away. At the same time the horse editor can't say that the determined look in Mr. Page's eyes indicates that it is all off with the Webfoot girls, and that the Canadian girl has won out, "God bless 'em."
