Clear-eyed men of vision in all the churches note the fact that the secular press of the country does not rally to the support of ecclesiastics who are defending the ancient creeds and the standards of orthodoxy against those who, in their own churches, are breaking away from them.

Character. It is heresy in life rather than heresy in doctrine that has brought confusion upon the churches. It is the sympathy and respect of hosts of earnest men and women, alienated from it to a very large degree, that has given the workingmen in all countries, and created the most serious problem with which it has to deal.

much in the life of the world be Christian.—The Congregationalist.

A Tragic Finish. A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland.

THE HIGH TIDE OF GETTYSBURG.

The following stirring poem, written by Will Henry Thompson, of Seattle, father of Chester H. Thompson, the youthful murderer of Judge Emory, was first published in the Century Magazine, in July, 1885, and has been repeated many times since:

A cloud possessed the hollow field. The gathering battle's smoky shield. Afloat the gloom the lightning dashed.

Far heard above the angry gale. A cry above the angry tumult rose— The voice that rang through Shiloh's woods.

A thousand fell where Kemper led; A thousand fell where Garnett led; In blinding flame and straggling smoke.

But who shall break the ground that war? Before the awful face of Fate! The untried warriors of the South.

The heavy went down: Waterloo the scene. They leaped to Grant's red embrace. They only heard Fame's stentorian wails.

They stood, who saw the future come On through the fight's delirium! They smote and smote, who held the hope.

God bless! He forgot not how well That slanted and held that crumbling hill. God lives and reigns: He built and led.

Indigestion. With its companions, heart burn, flatulence, torpidity of the liver, constipation, palpitation of the heart, poor blood, headache and other nervous symptoms.

Why did Jesus with the three disciples be withheld this report of the transfiguration until after he had himself demonstrated the reality of the invisible life?

The kingdom of God is greater than any soul or all of them. Its interests demand that we look upon the barriers that surround us and gain a comprehensive vision of Jesus' mind, and that the vision be in the largest possible service to all that leads to the betterment of man.

By what secret have Mrs. Edde and her helpers been able to handle and lead the confusion of the thousands who believe in her version of the common Christian faith?
