BRYAN'S RUNNING PARTNER

John Mitchell Regarded as Vice Presidential Possibility

Chicago, July 30.—The special correspondent of the Evening Post at Indianapolis wires that paper as follows concerning the recent mention of John Mitchell as a possible vice-presidential candidate of the Democratic ticket:

Although Mr. Mitchell, as president of the United Mine Workers of America, has usually been too busy to deny any rumors that had to do with his possible part in politics, his Western friends are surprised that he has made no effort to kill off the boom for the vice-presidential nomination, which was started in the anthracite coal districts some time ago. The cry of "Bryan and Mitchell," which has been heard in many sections, may be heard by others.

Now that the American Federation of Labor and the United Mine Workers of America have decided to go into politics to bring about reforms that both organizations believe are due organized labor they will look over their own ranks first to pick out the available timber for public office.

If organized labor is determined to capture the chair of the presiding officer of the senate, thereby placing a man on the threshold of the White House, why should not this man be John Mitchell? Indeed he seems to be the most logical candidate of labor.

No labor leader is more favorably known to the country than Mitchell, and his champions declare he would be as strong with the people outside the union ranks as among those within. Although this seems to be a strange statement, Mitchell's history justifies it. He has consistently fought the socialist movement, and in the three national conventions of miners it was his influence that prevented the organization from wavering and partly committing itself to socialism. The socialists regard Mitchell as their arch enemy, and have sent their delegates to the convention time and again to counteract his influence. But this has always failed.

fease and swore to finding a natural tooth on the spot where the charred bones of the bodies were discovered. As Mrs. Hembree's teeth were false this went to prove that the head of the daughter, Ora, was with the bodies.

Besides testifying that no person could swear that the bones found in front of the stove by Eldridge and Thompson were human, Dr. Goucher of McMinnville stated that bones of a skull would burn more quickly than those of a femur.

Case Goes to Jury.

Testimony of the defense was concluded late this afternoon, the arguments made this evening and the case given to the jury about 11 o'clock tonight. The fate of the prisoner rests in the hands of a jury composed of C. B. Hardley M. Carl, I. Quick, J. Poeter, H. Alley, A. L. Miller, J. Jenkins, James Thompson, William Maxwell, William Tubbsing, P. Rhodes and P. B. Elliott. With the conclusion of the testimony and arguments the prevalent idea that the jury would never reach a verdict has grown and there is little chance of the fate of the prisoner before the end of a second trial.

Rio Janeiro, July 30.—Brazilian papers attach much importance to Secretary Root's visit. The reception planned by officials for him receives the most important discussion. LEONARD WILL'S FUNERAL.

Funeral Was the Largest Ever Held at Aurora.

Aurora, Or., July 30.—(Special)—The funeral of Leonard Will, who died Friday, at his residence here, was held Sunday, services being held at the grave by Rev. Mr. Cole. The funeral was one of the largest ever held in this section, people coming from miles around to pay their last respects to a man whom everyone liked and admired.

Leonard Will was born in Krugs-hoff, Bavaria, Germany, November 29, 1823. His age at the time of his death was 82 years, 7 months and 27 days. In 1829 he crossed the Atlantic with his parents and eight brothers. The family made their home in Iowa, and from there came to Bethel, Mo. At this place he married Triphine Forstner May 24, 1869, and in 1863 they crossed the plains with ox teams and arrived at Aurora October 5th, the same year. WILL SPAN THE PUDDING.

Southern Pacific Is Putting in New Bridge Near Aurora.

Aurora, Or., July 30.—(Special).—M. Oterbeck's pile driving crew is here with the pile driver putting in the piles for the new steel bridge over the Pudding river that the Southern Pacific road has decided on at this place. The old wooden bridge has outlived its usefulness, and the increasing heavy traffic has made it imperative for a modern bridge. Oterbeck is the man who had his old wooden pile driver up on the P. R. & N., after the floods a few weeks ago, and he drove piles all around the new steel, up-to-date driver that is used on that road. He did such good work, that the chief engineer said he would rather have him, his crew and the old-fashioned pile driver than all the new-fangled rigging they had on the O. R. & N.
