RUSSIAN GARRISON MUTINIED

Mutineers Succeeded in Seizing Fortress That Guards City of Helsingfors

Helsingfors, July 31.—The most serious mutiny in the Russian empire since the dissolution of the Douma occurred today at Sveaborg, the fortress which guards the harbor of this city. The soldiers ashore and the sailors in the fleet are affected. The entire garrison mutinied. The older troops were called out to quell the mutineers, and a fight ensued between the two factions. The mutineers succeeded in seizing the fortress. The sailors refuse to fire on the soldiers, who now control the fleet. The social democratic privates of the Finnish Red Guard have proclaimed a general strike of labor agitators, and have gone into the provinces to stir up the people.

the second district court of Nevada, sitting at Reno, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The case was submitted without argument, and the jury took but one ballot. It was out but a few minutes. (Four O'clock Edition.)

The disgruntled refugees claim the cost of the banquet will be paid out of relief funds, while many refugees are suffering for necessities. On the other hand it is implied that Dr. Devine aroused the indignation of some of the refugees by his campaign to oust what he calls "able-bodied loafers." ## OUTLOOK FOR FAIR.

Seven Counties Have Already Asked for Exhibition Space.

Albany, July 31.—Frank W. Durbin, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, was in Albany yesterday. He said he was highly pleased with the outlook for the state fair, and stated yesterday that, according to his books, by far the greater part of the space set aside for exhibitors in the pavillon had been taken, and but small space was now available. He found considerable interest in all parts of Western Oregon in the state fair on his recent trip through the counties, and in spite of the fact that most of the counties visited had exhibited at great expense at the Lewis and Clark exposition last year, a number of them had decided to take part this year, and furnish county exhibits.

The counties for which space has been reserved thus far are Benton, Linn, Lane, Marion, Columbia, Douglas and Jackson. The last named county, he said, had taken 50 feet front for its exhibit, and $1000 had been appropriated by the county court to show its resources at the state fair.

Mr. Durbin has announced that anything of merit in manufactures or agricultural products will be given free space at the fair this year, and will be given the preference over paid concessions. As an inducement to counties to exhibit Mr. Durbin has evolved an advertising plan that meets with satisfaction. He proposes to take good photographs of county exhibits at the fair when the exhibits are in perfect order, for use as illustrations in next year's catalogue, and each illustration is to be accompanied by a table showing the industries and products of the particular county represented. This published in the annual report and catalogue of the state fair, of which 5000 volumes are to be printed, is looked upon as good advertising counties exhibiting.

STATE HAS NO INTEREST

Swamp Land Controversy Must be Settled in Court of Equity.

Seven decisions were handed down in the supreme court today. The most important was the State of Oregon, plaintiff and appellant, against the Warner Valley Stock Company. It was appealed from the circuit court of Lake county, and the decision of the lower court was affirmed.

This suit was brought to cancel certain patents issued to lands which, it is alleged in the complaint, were settled and filed up by certain settlers as homesteaders, pre-emption and timber culture claims under the laws of the United States, and to which patent was afterward issued by the United States to the state as swamp lands, the same lands having been theretofore conveyed by the state to other parties, who conveyed to the defendants. The supreme court holds that, according to the allegations of the complaint, the state has no interest in the land in controversy, and therefore is not entitled to maintain any suit regarding the same. And also that it appears upon the face of the complaint that the suit was brought for the benefit of private parties, whose rights can be adjusted by proper proceedings in a court of equity, and therefore affirm the decree of the lower court sustaining a demurrer to the complaint.

This is one of a series of actions between certain settlers in the Warner valley country and the Warner Valley Live Stock Company, to determine the rights between the parties to a large quantity of land in Lake county, which is claimed by the Warner Valley Live Stock Company as swamp land, and claimed by the settlers under the homestead, pre-emption and timber culture laws. The effect of this ruling of the supreme court is that the state has no interest in these lands and the rights between the stock company and the settlers must be litigated by them individually, and not in the name of the state.

The other decisions were: Bridget Kane, respondent, against David Littlefield and Fred Cole, appellants; appeal from Baker county; Samuel White, judge. Judgment of lower court modified in an opinion by Judge Moore. The decree is modified so as to permit plaintiff to irrigate her land by the lower dam she had constructed, and the defendants are to recover costs upon this appeal.

Anna Oliver, appellant, against Fred Synhorst, street superintendent of La Grande; appeal from Union county; Robert Eakin, judge; reversed by Judge Bean. James F. Haun, appellant, against Edward J. Martin, respondent; appeal from Wallowa county; Robert Eakin, judge; affirmed by Judge Bean. This is a proceeding by way of cross-bill, filed in an action at law brought by defendant against plaintiff to recover possession of real property.

William Shaw, appellant, against Giles Hemphill, et al.; appeal from Union county; Robert Eakin, judge; judgment of lower court is reversed in an opinion by Judge Moore. The case is remanded with direction to sustain the motion to dismiss the appeal.
