Uncle Joe Cannon's Great Speech.

600,000, according to the statement of Mr. Gompers, are organized in what is popularly known as "unions." I feel quite sure that such organizations of labor, have, as a rule, been useful, not only to the laborer, but to the employer as well and to the whole citizenship of the Republic. If I were engaged in such occupation I have no doubt that I would be a member of the organization.

But it is absolutely necessary, before there can be a contest about a division of profits, that there should be profits to divide. There was but little profit to divide under the last administration of Grover Cleveland. There was much profit to divide under the administration of William McKinley and there is much profit to divide under the administration of Theodore Roosevelt, and labor on the average has been receiving a larger share of the profits in increasing wages every year since the election of McKinley.

The first thing for each citizen to do is to see to it that the economic and financial policies which enable the people to create a profit shall be continued. The conferences and contests touching the division of the profits from time to time will be regulated by the contending parties. Capital must get its fair share, or it will not continue in business; labor must get its fair share, or it will suffer. Neither can permanently prosper at the expense of the other. The very life of the Republic depends upon the integrity, the wisdom, the patriotism, and the vigilance of the people who make the Republic. Life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness are inalienable rights guaranteed by the constitution to each citizen, whether he be rich or poor, great or small. "The liberty of one man ceases where the liberty of another man begins."

In the contest between employer and employee from time to time, where differences could not be adjusted, the employer, on the one hand, has resorted to the lockout, and the employee, on the other hand, to the strike. While both are to be deplored, considering the volume of production and the increase of population, they are becoming less frequent. In my judgment, the time will come when all such differences will be settled amicably between the contending forces; but in all contests employer and employee alike must obey the law which governs all and protects all. The boycott and the blacklist will pass away.

Government by Injunction.
There has been much criticism and much denunciation against alleged "government by injunction," and violent attacks have been made upon the judiciary of the United States. During the late session of congress labor leaders differed as to the legislation that was desired. Mr. Gompers, professing to speak for the American Federation of Labor, denounced the so-called Fuller bill, pending before the house committee on the judiciary and advocated by Mr. H. R. Fuller, the representative of the railway labor unions, in the most bitter terms as being opposed to human liberty and the rights of labor. Mr. Gompers, with Mr. Spelling, his attorney, advocated a bill, introduced by request by Representative Pearre and pending before the same committee, which, in substance, prohibited United States courts from issuing injunctions in any case between employer and employee unless necessary to prevent irreparable injury to property or to a property right of the party making the application, for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law, and in the next sentence provided, "And for the purposes of this act no right to carry on business of any particular kind or at any particular place, or at all, shall be construed, held, considered, or treated as property or as constituting a property right." Mr. Spelling, speaking for Mr. Gompers and himself, claimed that such legislation ought to be enacted. It being near the end of the session, further consideration of the proposed legislation by the house judiciary committee was postponed until the next session of congress.

Speaking for myself, I am not in favor of this legislation demanded by Mr. Gompers. The power of the courts to issue writs of injunction to prevent irreparable injury to property or to a property right for which there is no adequate remedy at law is older than the constitution and as well established as any other principal of law or equity. The inalienable right of each citizen, be he weak or strong, is to come and go to and from his property without molestation and to carry on business thereon, and, in the exercise of such right, he is entitled to call upon the government for protection through the courts.

Mr. Gompers claims that in contests growing out of strikes or lockouts he is opposed to violence on the part of any one connected with the controversy. I will not question the good faith of the claim, but I do say that if the legislation he demands were enacted destruction of property by irresponsible persons in such controversies would increase. Again, if such legislation were enacted, under its cover vicious and irresponsible people belonging to the criminal class, not engaged in labor or seeking to labor, would avail themselves of the opportunity, as they have in many instances, in the name of contesting labor, of destroying property, and the owner thereof would be without remedy. The legislation that Mr. Gompers demands would turn loose in times of trouble the criminally disposed. In charity for him, I do not believe that he realizes the consequences that would result from that which he advocates, and, in justice to all the citizenship of the Republic, in justice to every man who lives in the sweat of his face by honest endeavor, I am now, and will be at all times, opposed to this legislation which he demands.

For thirty years I have represented a district where nearly all the constituency have lived, and are living, by their labor. They and those like unto them stand for law and order, for protection of property, and the inalienable rights of every citizen. Those who labor have trod, and are treading, no path that I have not trod and that my descendants will not tread. The organized labor that Mr. Gompers claims to represent is composed of people who have the right to organize. They are of all churches and of no church; they are skilled and unskilled; they belong to all the different parties; they are as intelligent and as patriotic as any other equal number of citizens of the Republic. In the transaction of the business of their organization I have no doubt but they will co-operate with those who from time to time they place in authority, but in their party affiliations, in choosing the policies of the Republic, I am ready to take my chances with them, and this, too, without regard to the demands of Mr. Gompers when he seeks to control their action at the ballotbox.

The President and Congress.
In the executive department of the government the record of the party has been brilliant, courageous, and honest, and the name of "Roosevelt" has become a synonym for all those qualities throughout the realms of civilization. He has been the president of all the people, and he has been tireless in his efforts to serve the people by wise, just, and fearless administration of the law. He has been particularly zealous in administering the law against the trusts and combinations of capital which have ignored the old adage of live and let live. The best trust, the paper trust, the tobacco trust, the drug trust, the coal combination, and various combinations of railroads and shippers have felt the heavy hand of the law and learned that it is strong enough to compel them to give all a square deal. The record of trust prosecutions and investigations into their practices is too long to here recite, but it is acknowledged to be most creditable even by our political opponents.

The congress has worked in harmony with the president and embodied into law more of his recommendations than has fallen to the lot of most chief executives. I believe the record of the fifty-ninth congress made in its first session will go into history as one of the best records of legislation for the benefit of all the people that has ever been made. The railroad rate law, the pure food law, the meat inspection amendment to the agricultural appropriation act, the free alcohol law, the consular reform legislation, the employers' liability law, all enacted at one session of congress, make a record of legislation which has not been paralleled in many years.

The amendment to the inter-state commerce law known as the Elkins law of 1902 and the rate legislation just enacted coupled with many decisions by the supreme court of the United States, render it reasonably certain that practices which had grown up by large shippers of commodities demanding and receiving from common carriers exceptional rates for transportation not enjoyed by others is prohibited by law and penalized both as to the railway or other common carrier and the shipper; so that it is safe to say that each citizen in the United States will be treated the same as every other citizen. With equal privileges to all, there is no reason to doubt that by enterprise, industry, and competition under equal conditions monopoly is decreasing and will finally cease and a square deal afforded to every competing citizen.

We are willing to stand by the record and trust to the intelligence of the people as to whether they will continue this record of prosperity and wise regulation of abuses or accept the preachings and promises of the demagogue.

The End of the World
Of troubles that robbed E. H. Wolfe, of Bear Grove, Ia., of all usefulness, came when he began taking Electric Bitters. He writes: "Two years ago Kidney Trouble caused me great suffering, which I would never have survived had I not taken Electric Bitters. They also cured me of General Debility." Sure cure for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney complaints, Blood Diseases, Headache, Dizziness and Weakness or bodily decline. Price, 50c. Guaranteed by J. C. Perry's drug store.
