Lumber Burned.
 Word reached Cottage Grove Saturday that on Wednesday night fire destroyed the lumber yard at the mill of D. W. Huffer, located near Divide, five miles south of that city. The loss aggregates 1,000,000 feet of good, clear and dressed lumber, which was worth, on an average, $14 per thousand feet, hence the loss falls quite heavily on Mr. Huffer. No insurance.
 The fire is thought to have originated from a smouldering yellow-jacket's nest which was burned out during the previous day in order to destroy the little pests, which annoyed the yard men, but it was thought the fire in the nest was entirely extinguished before the men quit work in the evening.
In Self Defense.

THIEVES VISITED "MAPLES."
Night Mauders Disturb the Bear, the Fox and the Sleepers.
 Thieves visited "The Maples" last night and no doubt would have been successful in securing a large amount of loot had it not been for the pet bear, the tame fox and the angry dogs. It was midnight and all the campers were wrapped in slumber, when Brula, Reynard and the canines began a concert, which aroused all the sleepers.
 It was soon discovered that intruders were on the ground, and hastily donning a few garments, all the male population started out on the war-path. With a lamp wrapped in a bathrobe, R. D. Gilbert, accompanied by Charles Cautkins, carrying a shotgun, and without a bathrobe, ran two men, supposed to be thieves, for several hundred yards through the brush. The offenders, having on shoes, naturally outran their pursuers and escaped.
Mashed His Foot.
 Leslie Hunter, of South Salem, met with quite an accident while on his vacation at Newport. About 10 days ago he left for that place, and while in the operation of putting up his tent, he mashed his foot. At first he did not notice it, but it grew worse, and he was obliged to return home. Saturday he had the injured member lanced, and it is hoped that it will soon be all right.
Woodburn Is Champion.
 Woodburn defeated the Schillers, of Portland, Sunday, on the Woodburn diamond, the score being 8 to 7. This makes Woodburn the amateur champion team of the state.

LIKES PRISON FARE.
After Retiring From Penitentiary, Colored Man Breaks Into Jail Twice.
 Jack McEwan, a colored man whose time in the state penitentiary expired last week, got drunk to celebrate his freedom and was locked up in the city jail. He was released Saturday and was arrested for prowling on the streets after midnight the same night and was again imprisoned. He was tried in the recorder's court this morning and was sentenced to five days in jail. When the recorder released him the first time he warned him to behave himself or leave Salem. McEwan was sent to prison from Pendleton.
X RAYS
 No use worrying about insurance. Most of the companies don't pay anyway, in the case of a general disaster. It is too expensive.
 What Oregon needs just now is numerous gangs of graders and tracklayers on its proposed railroads and the sidetracking of about 10,000 picturesque surveyors, with hightop shoes and we-own-the-earth manners.
 It will cost $2,000,000 to inspect the meat packers' business. The enforcement of the law against the packers, instead of the corporations, and the sending of one of them, such as Armour or Swift, to the pen, would save this expense, and make the packing houses models of cleanliness.

LARGE CROWDS ATTENDED.
"The Maples" Was in a Blaze of Glory Sunday Night.
 As is usual on Sunday evenings, a large crowd visited the beautiful resort in Polk county to listen to the music by the Maples orchestra. The program last evening was a good one and was excellently rendered. Among the features was an illustrated song by Henry Moyer, who was enthusiastically encored. "The Maples" is growing more and more popular as the season advances.
