X-RAYS

The Oregon Journal found space in its columns to build four more railroads Monday. The time tables are not yet printed.

• • •

George Gould, according to the Oregon Journal, has his eye on Oregon as a railroad possibility and has arranged for putting a road into every town on the coast, except Coos Bay.

• • •

Armour's father could illy spare the money to build a few meat refrigerator cars, but after a year or two's run with a small job lot of them, he ordered 1000 fruit refrigerator cars, and had doodles of money. Where did he get it?

• • •

The horse editor notes that there is a tariff on wheat for the protection of the farmer from Canadian importation and competition. The amazing part of it is that the only wheat imported from Canada is for seed, and the farmer has to pay the tariff. This is not a political squibb, but just a sugestion concerning the mooted tariff revision.

• • •

Armour, in his recent book, says that through owning the refrigerator cars the packers are able to ship meat into thousands of localities remote from the great source of supply in the west, and sell a superior "cut" cheaper than the butcher could sell an inferior "cut" taken from home-grown animals killed in his own slaughter house." He did not add that as soon as the local butcher was run out of business the packers doubled the price, and became robbers.

Popular Operas.

In Paris, for instance, the one really important achievement of the last season in the opera house was the new rehearsal of Gluck's "Armida." In Berlin, too, it has been the same. What has awakened the principal interest of the public has been the repetition or freshening up of the older works. Thus in honor of Mozart's anniversary appeared "Figaro's Wedding," dressed up afresh as far as music and decorations were concerned. So, also, were renovated afresh several of the principal works of Wagner, Gluck's "Orpheus," and Lortzing's "Waffenschmeid."On the other hand, no modern work which is likely to last appeared in the program for the season and the experiment of introducing an opera by one of the young Norwegian composers and also Stenhammer's "Fest auf Solhang" proved a failure. The Berlin opera house is certainly in some degree superior to its contemporary in Paris, especially in the variety and the international character of the season's programme. In Paris the repertoire has been nearly monopolized by the inevitable "Faust" together with a few works of the more modern French composers, and now also with several of the productions of Wagner. In Berlin, however, it has been possible to hear the works of Auber and Massenet, along with Donizetti's and Saint Saens' operas; along with Gounod appeared also the names of Beethoven, Weber and Cornelius. In short, the various epochs in history of music and of the nations which have been specially productive in this branch of art were far more comprehensively represented in Berlin than in Paris. This extensive character of the repertoire gives a certain value to the statistics of the Berlin opera house in so far as they testify to the musical taste at present in vogue. These statistics show that the worship of Wagner still continues to flourish most vigorously since by far the greater number of performances, viz, 75, have been those of his works; Mozart comes next with 25 works, as compared with 20 in the previous season. Should this increase in the number of the Mozart performances continue it might well be regarded as a favorable sign as to the improvement in musical taste, and as a healthy counterpoise to the worship of Wagner.

The modern composer whose works are most frequently performed is Leoncavallo, but he has certainly lost ground in popular favor, as is shown by the fact that 18 of his pieces have been played, as compared with 35 in the previous season. Lortzing's bright popular operas are continually growing in favor and were produced 14 times this season, as compared with six last season. One must certainly be very cautious on the whole in drawing conclusions from such figures. This alone can be confidently affirmed, that Wagner is at present more appreciated than ever, while the works of the younger generation retain their place in the repertoire with difficulty. Schilling's "Pfeifertag" was once more taken up and was well received by the critics, but very little supported by the public. Does the interest in Mozart and Lortzing indicate a changing round of public taste in favor of naturalness and simplicity? In that case, Leo Blech's engagement could not be more opportune and neither musical production nor musical taste would suffer from this veering round on the part of the public.—Continental Correspondence.

OREGON WEATHER BUREAU.

General Summary.

During the first day of the week showers occurred in the northern coast countries and in the northeast portion of the state. These showers, as a rule, were light, and droughty conditions continue in practically all portions of the state. Forest fires are burning in many places and the atmosphere has become very smoky. It is not expected that the forest fires will be put out or the atmosphere cleared of smoke until good, soaking rains occur, and they are badly needed at the present time. The temperature averaged about six degrees lower than the preceding week. The nights were about three degrees cooler than usual in the western counties and about two degrees cooler than usual in the eastern counties. The afternoon temperatures were about normal in all parts of the state. Light frosts were reported in a few exposed places in Tillamook county. The prevailing winds were northwesterly.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

CANNOT BECOME CITIZENS

Without Complying With New Law and Many Brands of Red Tape

Instead of being done in 15 minutes as is now the case, after September 29 the process of final admission of foreigners to citizenship will require at least 90 days, and in many cases a much longer time. This change has been brought about by an act of congress, which orders many radical changes in the process of naturalization.

The requirements generally remain the same, namely, a declaration of intention of becoming a citizen, and the application for final papers not less than two years after the declaration. The applicant must have resided in the United States at least five years.

Under the new law the bureau of immigration is made part of a bureau of naturalization, and this bureau must keep a register of the name, age, occupation, personal description, place of birth, last residence, intended place of residence in the United States, date of arrival of the immigrant and the name of the vessel on which he came. When application for final citizenship papers is made it must be accompanied by a certificate from the bureau of immigration and naturalization giving all these facts.

The declaration of intention may be made at any time by any foreigner over the age of 18 years. The declaration must give all the information noted by the immigration bureau, and also state that the declarer is not a polygamist not a believer in the practice of polygamy.

What Red Tape Requires.

After the applicant has resided in the United States five years, and not less than two years nor more than seven years from the declaration of intention, he must present to a court a petition asking to be admitted to citizenship. The petition must be in duplicate and must state for the third time all the information concerning himself that was given the immigration bureau, and if married, the alien must give his wife's name, her native country, and the name, age, place of birth and place of residence of each child living. The wife's age is not required.

It has been customary for a prospective citizen, after he has lived here the required number of years, to take his two witnesses, go to the court and usually in less than 15 minutes all the necessary steps have been taken, the alien is sworn to allegiance and is pronounced a good citizen.

Now, however, the petition must be filed and notice of it posted in a public place for 90 days before the alien is admitted. The courts have been accustomed to admit foreigners to citizenship whenever the matter was brought before them. Now there must be certain days designated.

The witnesses of the application may be served with subpoenas under the new law, and their attendance in court compelled.

Election Cuts Some Figure.

No person can be admitted to citizenship within 30 days preceding any general election in the district over which the court has jurisdiction. No alien will be allowed to become a citizen who cannot speak the English language, unless physically disabled.

The new law provides that the penalty for forging or counterfeiting a certificate of citizenship shall be imprisonment for not more than ten years, or by a fine not to exceed $10,000. It is provided that the blank forms furnished by the immigration and naturalization bureau must not be destroyed if they become defaced, but must be returned to the bureau, and the clerk of any court will be taxed $50 for each blank form for which he cannot account. If any person has unlawfully in his possession a blank certificate of citizenship he may be imprisoned at hard labor for not more than five years, or fined not more than $1000.

The fees for admission are reduced from $6 to $5, and half of this must be turned over to the federal government.

Any court of record that has a seal, a clerk and jurisdiction in actions in which the amount in controversy is unlimited has authority to admit aliens to citizenship under the new law.

Is Disease a Crime?

Not very long ago, a popular magazine published an editorial article in which the writer asserted, in substance, that all disease should be regarded as criminal. Certain it is, that much of the sickness and suffering of mankind is due to the violation of certain of Nature's laws. But to say that all sickness should be regarded as criminal, must appeal to every reasonable individual as radically wrong.

It would be harsh, unsympathetic, cruel, yes criminal, to condemn the poor, weak, over-worked housewife who sinks under the heavy load of household cares and burdens, and suffers from weaknesses, various displacements of pelvic organs and other derangements peculiar to her sex.

Frequent bearing of children, with its exacting demands upon the system, coupled with the care, worry and labor of rearing a large family, is often the cause of weaknesses, derangements and debility which are aggravated by the many household cares, and the hard, and never-ending work which the mother is called upon to perform. Dr. Pierce, the maker of that world-famed remedy for woman's peculiar weaknesses and ills—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—says that one of the greatest obstacles to the cure of this class of maladies is the fact that the poor, over-worked housewife can not get the needed rest from her many household cares and labor to enable her to secure from the use of his "Prescription" its full benefits. It is a matter of frequent experience, he says, in his extensive practice in these cases, to meet with those in which his treatment fails by reason of the patient's inability to abstain from hard work long enough to be cured. With those suffering from prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion of the uterus or other displacement of the womanly organs, it is very necessary that, in addition to taking his "Favorite Prescription" they abstain from being very much, or for long periods, on their feet. All heavy lifting or straining of any kind should also be avoided. As much out-door air as possible, with moderate, light exercise is also very important. Let the patient observe these rules and the "Favorite Prescription" will do the rest.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound.
