

SCIENCE FIND A MATERIAL SOUL

ALMER GATES.)

Years ago, as an incident connected with matters of scientific research, that certain of electric waves, not visible light, pass more through the body of a dead living organism, and I as a test for death. Transparency at death is due to the absence of electric currents which in functionally active muscles, and not, so far evidence, to the passage. When the body is a bundle of electric currents, waves cannot pass through the body, but when the body becomes transparent, and electric waves being longitudinal. This is the empire of electricity. Now, from the longest and slowest known electric waves to the shortest and fastest known ultraviolet waves there is a domain of pitches of over 33 octaves. No one known substance is transparent to all of these pitches; there is no known substance but that is opaque to some of these rays; and it is conceivable and probable that to some of these pitches the soul organism, if such there be, will be opaque, and, if so, it will cast a shadow—not a shadow which we can see with the unaided eyes, but which can be made visible by proper luminescent, phosphorescent, fluorescent, chemical, or other kinds of screens or surfaces. And this result especially is to be expected when two or more kinds of rays simultaneously are sent through the body, and still more probably if we discover other kinds of rays not yet known, especially those above the present upper limit of the invisible or ultraviolet spectrum—namely: such higher pitch waves as would be given off by particles smaller than atoms, and to which the smaller particles of the soul organism probably would be opaque.

This soul organism which we hope to find by the new method of research will be a material organism, although of a different kind of matter than the atoms composing our present visible bodies—a matter, for instance, consisting of solids, liquids and gases composed of particles much smaller than chemical atoms, smaller even than ions, which are a thousand times smaller than atoms. Perhaps the soul is composed of the particles out of which ions are built up, or even still smaller particles. And if we find physical evidences of such an organism, then by experimentally studying that organism we may hope to arrive at a few facts about the future life.

Wants More Trains.

The Merchants' Protective Association of Eugene has passed a resolution asking the Southern Pacific Company, after its bridge across the Willamette at Springfield is completed, to put on an interurban passenger train service between Eugene and Wendling and Natron. Three trains each day between Eugene and Wendling and two each day between Eugene and Natron are asked for.

The association also suggests that the company put on a daily passenger train between Eugene and Woodburn via Springfield and the East Side line. It is planned to have the train leave Woodburn at 6 or 7 o'clock in the morning, arriving at Eugene three or four hours later. On its down trip it could leave here at 4 or 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Twentieth Connecticut Reunion.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 23.—The forty-first annual reunion of the Twentieth Connecticut Volunteer Infantry is being held today at Savin Rock. An unusually interesting program has been arranged for the occasion and some prominent speakers will address the veterans. The business meeting was held this morning and was followed by a dinner. The afternoon will be devoted to a social gathering.

Fossil of Monster Horse Found.

Lander (Wyo.) archeologists have discovered the fossil remains of what appears to be a monster horse in the great fossil beds of the Sweet water divide, says the Omaha dispatch. The skeleton is 30 feet long and more than 30 feet high. The jawbones display powerful grinders that are only a little decayed.

visible part is not all of the spectrum. If solar light be caused to pass through a quartz prism only a small part of the spectrum is visible, by far the larger part wholly is invisible, and this invisible spectrum lies mostly below the red. The visible light passes quite freely through glass, but most of the invisible spectrum is screened out. But quartz is transparent also to most of the invisible spectrum. Dark heat waves will not pass through glass or quartz, but will pass through hard rubber or ebonites, and if our eyes could see by these rays ebonite would make good window glass. Now, below the longest and slowest heat waves are longer waves still, but they are different in form—heat and light waves being transverse vibrations, and electric waves being longitudinal. This is the empire of electricity. Now, from the longest and slowest known electric waves to the shortest and fastest known ultraviolet waves there is a domain of pitches of over 33 octaves. No one known substance is transparent to all of these pitches; there is no known substance but that is opaque to some of these rays; and it is conceivable and probable that to some of these pitches the soul organism, if such there be, will be opaque, and, if so, it will cast a shadow—not a shadow which we can see with the unaided eyes, but which can be made visible by proper luminescent, phosphorescent, fluorescent, chemical, or other kinds of screens or surfaces. A HEROINE.

As Dauntless as the Boy That Stood on the Burning Deck—The Berry Fire.

She was just a plain, straightforward old setting hen. It is not even necessary to record whether she was a Plymouth Rock or a common barnyard specimen, for it is a case where blood cuts no figure. Her escutcheon is one that a mere matter of blood can neither add to nor detract from.

She sat calmly on her nest the afternoon of the fatal day when the forest fires in the Cascades swept the village of Berry, laying half its houses low, destroying its school building and burning up every horse in the town. The smoke hung thick, the ashes fell in torrents and the roar and crackle of the wind-swept flames was awful. Every living thing in Berry was on the move but the setting hen. Children and women were fleeing with what effects they could carry to Detroit and the men were running here and there with an effort to save their houses. As though carved from colored stone and placed on a foundation of adamant, the old hen was motionless and fixed. Like the boy who stood on the burning deck "whence all but him had fled" she stuck to her post. The flames crept up close and even licked the moss that fringed her nest. They scorched away a portion of the long feathers or her tail and ate out a bit of her comb, but beneath her warm body were her precious eggs, and she never flinched. "Yew bet yer life she stayed with it," admiringly asseverated the 11-year old lad from Berry who related the incident, "as she won out."

And so she did. After the fire and in the midst of the waste of ashes and ruins they found her, scarred and seathed, but still sitting heroically on her nest, the eggs in which in due time will be hatched and the Treating Wrong Disease.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

The Girl in White.

She's a daisy, she's a hummer, she's a white rose of the summer; Oh, dainty latest comer, she's a vision of delight! She would charm e'en sages wary, cool and delicate and airy, Coming like a young snow fairy is the summer girl in white.

From big hat to little slipper, and a gown for style a ripper, With lace shade and gloves all chipper; a soft veil tied 'neath her chin, She's a symphony in whiteness, a delicious dream of brightness. A sprite of grace and lightness who the sternest heart could win. How the summer's torrid anguish, how the heat which makes men languish, Just her softest step can vanquish as she beams upon one's sight. She's the queen maid of the season, past all argument or reason, And the world is her's to seize on—the sweet summer girl in white.
