Prof. F. E. Newberry, formerly of the Willamette University, will open a music studio in the Odd Fellows building September 1.

Several wells are being dug on the fair grounds, which will add much to the convenience of the place.

The white paint that is being put on the buildings and fences is changing the appearance of the fair grounds from that of a deserted village to a White City.

The Merchants and Bookkeepers crossed bats on the Willamette field last evening. The game was a snappy one, and the Merchants won in a score of 4 to 3. There will be four games next week and the season will close with a big game on Labor Day.

Gertrude Doe went to sleep on a high stool in a State street restaurant at an early hour this morning and was removed to the city hall by the police in order that she might finish her snooze undisturbed. She is still sleeping, the sleep of the tired, and no doubt dreaming of running brooks, the old oaken bucket, or the street sprinkler, or any old thing with water in it.

One hop grower near Salem says he will have plenty of pickers if he has to pay as high as six bits a box.

G. W. Morrow, the Commercial street confectionery man, has returned from Marion Lake, where he was on an outing with a party of seven, mostly Woodburn people. They killed two deer and three bear, besides incidentally catching 1500 fish. That's the best game report of the season so far.

more paying is the demand of the hour.

The Capital Bakery furnished 2150 loaves of bread for the big circus on Wednesday, the best bread they have had in the state, and by skillful management they were able to fill all orders without inconveniencing regular customers. Mr. Ulom is increasing his capacity to accommodate the rapidly growing demand for malt bread.

The Anderson barber shop on Commercial street has been adorned with new paper and new prism windows. "Ernie" is making arrangements to add another chair to the up-to-date quartet which he now has.

The new theological building on the university campus is being fitted up with the latest apparatus and furnishings. CHIEF CORNELIUS RETURNS

Brawney Head of Police Department Returns With Whiskers Like a Mazama.

When Tom Cornelius returned home this morning from a two weeks outing, he had more whiskers on his face than a Mormon bishop and he was seen hurrying down the street to a barber shop. He intimated he was afraid that Policeman Longcor would run him in for a hobo.

The chief said he had a big time and he will resume the duties of his office tomorrow.

A Bicycle "Experience."

Henry Cashatte, a prominent school teacher of Eastern Oregon. Theodore Becker, of this city, and myself, said Mr. E. Haas to a Journal reporter, started on our wheels yesterday for a pleasure trip in Polk county. By the time we had reached Dallas the chain of Mr. Cashatte's wheel was in so many pieces that it was simply scrap iron; the spokes in the rear wheel were all torn out, caused by a fall over an embankment, and Mr. Cashatte looked as though he had gone through a Kansas cyclone.

The party was compelled to walk home, and covered the 12 miles of dry dusty road in a remarkably short time.

Game Wardens Will Meet.

The Jefferson Review says: There will be a meeting of the deputy game wardens of the Willamette valley at Salem August 31 to arrange for having the valley thoroughly patrolled during September. It is a good idea and will probably result in the conviction of many violators of the game law.

ANOTHER PROFESSOR IS FIRED

Professor W. H. Mahaffie of the Chair of Chemistry Leaves Willamette for Seattle

Professor W. H. Mahaffie, who for two years has occupied the chair of chemistry at Willamette University, left this morning for Seattle, where he will fill the chair of pharmacy in the University of Washington.

It has been given out quietly that Professor Mahaffie resigned his position in this city in order that he might take a more lucrative job in the Puget Sound town. Professor Mahaffie said this morning as he was leaving, that such was not the case. He admitted that the new position was a better one than the Salem job; but he said that he was re-elected to the chair of chemistry last June after holding the place for two terms and that he expected to stay, and was satisfied with the position and work. Some time ago, however, he received a letter from President Coleman of the Willamette University, saying that his services were no longer required in the school.

He had not resigned, and as for that matter has not done so yet. He said he felt like he was discharged, although he knew that the power to discharge and employ teachers is vested in the hands of the trustees. Still, he did not care to remain under the circumstances, and at once set about to obtain another position, with the result that the professorship at Seattle was offered him.

It is not positively known what will be the result of Professor Mahaffie's departure. It may be that Dr. Coleman will call a meeting of the board of trustees to elect a successor. It is said in some quarters that the vacant chair will be filled by Professor Charles O. Boyer, late principal of the Normal School and professor of physics and geology. It will be remembered that only a short time ago Professor Boyer tendered his resignation after certain vague and indefinite charges had been preferred against him by the students of the Normal School. The board, however, found no truth in any of the charges against Professor Boyer. But soon after his vindication, he tendered his resignation.

The Model Road.

About 1600 feet of the mile of experimental model road near the State Fair grounds, has been completed and is improving entirely satisfactory. For 1000 feet from the beginning near the entrance to the fair grounds, the road is 16 feet wide and has been rolled until it is almost as smooth and hard as asphalt.

In preparing the road bed, a trench seven inches deep was dug into this and rock and gravel was packed and on this was a layer of two inches of finer gravel, and over all a layer of screenings. All of this was then rolled and packed.

The road will be almost entirely free from dust and will make a driveway on which wet weather will have but little effect.
