

SOME VERY SARTLING STATEMENTS

ONE OF THE EDITORS OF THE MAGAZINE "TOMORROW" USES SOME PLAIN LANGUAGE, AND MAKES A TERRIBLE ARRAIGNMENT OF PRESENT-DAY MEN, WOMEN AND "MORALS."

Parker H. Bercombe, of the editorial staff of "Tomorrow," a wide awake Chicago magazine is about to put on the market a book with the title, "Chicago Cave Dwellers." Early in June he sent invitations to 108 Chicago ministers to attend a lecture given by him in that city, June 15.

At the appointed time, disregarding form and precedent, he entered the hall from his workshop in his overalls, his sleeves rolled up to the elbows, and without any preliminaries began one of the most remarkable addresses ever delivered in the Windy city. The lecture was "biting" and a spade was called a spade. The Journal reprints some of the paragraphs which give an idea of the lecture's mildest statement.

"In view of the advancing tendencies of rowdism, adultery, graft, and every form of vice, it is timely that Conservators of Public Morals should be called to account for their failure to secure better results. "To demonstrate one phase of the principle involved suppose a hundred six year old children from the best classes as they run be placed in fifty or a hundred families in the worst slum districts, say of Chicago, New York or London, and in ten or fifteen years you will to a certainty have developed ninety to a hundred thieves, thugs and prostitutes.

"There are twenty thousand professional prostitutes in Chicago, twenty-four thousand couples living in adultery without the form of marriage, more than twenty thousand women employed in down town stores and offices who have been deserted by their husbands. According to the health department there are more than forty thousand abortions a year performed in Chicago, but all of these irregularities are but a small percentage of the extent to which commandments, preachers, judges and law makers are completely ignored.

"In order to really measure the utter failure of the present system in preserving monogamy the following facts are astounding:

"There are more than fifty hotels in Chicago ranging from twenty-five to three hundred rooms each, the entire income prices of which is derived from renting rooms to illicit couples, at prices ranging from fifty cents to twenty-five dollars; besides this, every hotel in Chicago accepts its proportion of this class of patronage, when properly vetted, to the extent of from ten per cent to ninety per cent of their total receipts.

"Every department store and every down town drug store are daily and nightly to the knowledge of owners and managers made rendezvous of clandestine couples, some of the best located drug stores averaging as high as one hundred and twenty-five meetings per night, all with full knowledge of the proprietor who reaps his reward for silence by selling them toilet articles, drops, apparatus, etc.

"More than three-fourths of all the business of all night restaurants which are continually being augmented in numbers and increased in size, consists of the patronage of illicit couples who make the supper and the dollar tip for the waiter a part of the night's 'lark.'

"Visiting a fashionable down town restaurant recently I fell into conversation with the affable manager, and together we made a careful survey of the fifty or more couples seated at tables, and knowing his patrons and all the 'signs' and 'ear marks' he freely stated that among all those present there were not more than three what he called 'straight couples;' and the orchestra played on and the flowers and potted plants gave forth their perfume and the laughter, repartee and warm glances shot right and left and the waiter with exaggerated obeisance and understanding gathered in his tip and the proprietor is building an addition to his establishment.

"If it were not for this same class of theater patronage Chicago would not be known as the best show town in the country and those who are informed, especially club men, are best aware of the very high proportion of married men out with other women and married women out with their 'friends.'

"The several horse-whippings after theater in the vicinity of the Wellington hotel during last spring by irate wives are but a few of thousands of instances well known to the countless number of rounders and professional polygamists with which Chicago abounds.

"The divorce of ex-President Haywood, of the Athletic club, brought out a table conversation in another prominent city club, and in discussion the extent to which adultery was common among club men, and there are more than a dozen prominent clubs with four or five thousand members each, it was admitted by the score of gay widows present that more than ninety per cent were in the habit of ignoring the Seventh Commandment, and most of these daily think of but little else than who should be the next woman to fall into their tolls.

"A short time since, with the aid of three 'experts' I made a careful investigation into the lives of some three hundred prominent professional and business men, as their doings are currently known and understood among their associates in the various Chicago clubs, with most interesting results. Among those whose 'records' were thoroughly sifted were found a few among lawyers, physicians, bankers, business men, commission men, and hotel keepers who apparently lived monogamous lives, but of all the railroad men and newspaper men investigated, not one was found who did not break the Seventh Commandment.

"If the foregoing were not enough to completely rout all those claiming efficiency of the old system, one more citation will be sufficient; In the Eighteenth ward on the west side (no worse than several other wards in Chicago) there are not less than five hundred professional p—s who make their living by collecting a percentage on the shame of women. So brazen have these conscienceless creatures become that prior to a recent election a candidate for alderman was called upon by a committee of their group stating that the candidate could not have their vote until he declared his intentions relative to the profession of themselves and their principle.

"The candidate hinting that the influence of such characters could not amount to much, was promptly informed that every dry goods, hardware, grocery, drug store, meat market and saloon in the district drew their incomes and main support from the prostitutes also; they explained that this class of women are 'good spenders' and that all these other 'respectable' influences would also be thrown against him if he should oppose this controlling industry in the Eighteenth ward; and all this in the face of the fact that every

Pain

Wears Out the Nerves.

Do you realize that pain is weakening, and exhausts your vitality? Don't you remember how completely worn out you felt after that last attack of headache, neuralgia, backache, periodical or other spell of suffering? Nearly every case of inflammation, apoplexy, paralysis, epilepsy and insanity is directly due to the weakening influence of pain upon the brain nerves? For this reason every one who suffers from pain of any kind should not fail to get relief as quickly as possible.

You can do this by taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills—others do.

"I have used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for years, and can say they have never failed. I always keep them in the house, in fact I had rather be without sugar than I had rather be without using them. I had always suffered with sick headache, sometimes being in bed for three and four days. I had tried nearly everything I ever heard of, but after a short time the effect would wear off. It is five years now since I began taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and the results are as good as at first."

Whose Say-so is Best?

With nearly all medicines put up for sale through druggists, one has to take the maker's say-so alone as to their curative value. Of course, such testimony is not that of a disinterested party and accordingly is not to be given the same credit as if written from disinterested motives. Dr. Pierce's medicines, however, form a single and therefore striking exception to this rule. Their claims to the confidence of invalids does not rest solely upon their makers' say-so or praise. Their ingredients are matters of public knowledge, being printed on each separate bottle wrapper. Thus invalid sufferers are taken into Dr. Pierce's full confidence. Scores of leading medical men have written enough to fill volumes in praise of the curative value of the several ingredients entering into these well-known medicines.

Amongst these writers we find such medical lights as Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bonnet Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Hale, of the same city; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Prof. John Kim, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Dr. Grover Cox, of New York; Dr. Harvey, of Jefferson Medical College, of Pa., and scores of others equally eminent.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the worst cases of female weakness, profluvium, anteversion and retroversion and corrects irregularities, cures painful periods, dries up disagreeable and weakening discharges, sometimes known as pelvic catarrh, and a multitude of other diseases peculiar to women. Bear in mind, it is not a patent medicine, but the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated physician, of large experience in the cure of women's peculiar ailments, who frankly and confidently takes his patients into his full confidence by telling them just what his "Prescription" is composed of. Of no other medicine put up for women's special maladies and sold through druggists, can it be said that the maker is not afraid to deal thus frankly, openly and honorably, by letting every patient using the same know exactly what she is taking.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is guarded as sacredly secret and womanly confidences are protected by professional privacy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

sociologist knows under what system humanity might live—entirely immune from theft, prostitution and hypocrisy.

"Under the present system every child becomes a hypocrite and a pretender before it knows how to walk and if the mother is in 'society' these traits become the most important part of his education, in fact, hypocrisy is the main thought and scheme of human life and it is only wrong to be 'found out.'

"In recent years the masses and all the working people particularly have been taught to believe in the ultra honesty and reliability of bankers, officials, railway presidents and the wealthy class in general, but now we know that the most miserable felons eking out their horrid lives in jails, the keys being in control of capitalism, differ from the millionaire thieves in two respects only: first that they did not steal so much, and second that they steal with some degree of bravery and risk, something that the wholesale thief is sneak enough to avoid."
