

FRAULIEN KRUPP'S BRIDAL OUTFIT

Virtues in one generation become vices in the next. The contrast between Kaiser Wilhelm's "modern" power Germany and the despotic patriarchal Fatherland of the respected grandfather is shown strikingly by the wrath of the hon- orable tradespeople of Essen and Berlin the Krupp girls and their wedding garments. The richest heiresses in Germany are blamed for taking the blame from the poor man's mouth. It seems that Fraulien Bertha Krupp is old fashioned enough to have made her own clothes. In the years before the war with France, be- fore Germany became the "Great Power," and that time is not beyond the memory of man, every well brought up German girl did that. She was trained to be that best of German products, the Deutsche Hausfrau. A decent amount of school learning, a proper dose of religion, thorough knowledge of all pertaining to the household were installed in her, and above all a mastery of the art of science of German cooking, for the bride who could not exhibit within a reasonable time a well fat- tened "mann" as proof of her skill in the kitchen felt disgraced. As soon as the small girl's fingers could manage the needle the bolt of linen was brought and she set to work on her bridal outfit. Sheets, tablecloths, napkins, the many gar- ments that are none of man's busi- ness, were made and stored away in great quantities during the long years of maidenhood against the day when the inevitable he should turn up. Precious linen heirlooms were added, sewn by grandmothers and great grandmothers when they were girls. When the wedding day came the bride was ready with linen sewn by her own hand that should last for the whole prospective household so long as she lived. Society, high or low, demanded it, and the bride- groom was less essential to the ceremony than the store of linen. The Krupps held to the traditions. It was the old time German thor- oughness and thrift that built up the great steel works at Essen and brought in the millions. Regardless of their fortune, the children of the family were taught trades and the girls were trained as German maid- ens of old were. They wake up now to discover that Germany has pro- gressed, that a universal custom has become eccentric and that girls who have millions have no right to make their own underclothes, but must spend their money to encourage trade.—New York Sun.

N. Y. Knights Templar Conclave.
Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The annual conclave of the Grand Com- mandery of Knights Templar of the state of New York will open here this afternoon. The delegations from all parts of the state began to come in early this morning and all fore- noon committees of the local com- mandery were busy receiving the ar- riving delegations and escorting them to their respective headquar- ters. Many of the delegates are ac- companied by their ladies. Elaborate arrangements for the entertain- ment of the delegates have been made and they will be the guests of the local members at luncheon and dinner. It is expected that Eminent Sir Adelbert P. Knapp, of Saratoga, will be elected grand commander.

Mrs. Mackey Abolishes Rod.
Roelyn, L. I., Sept. 4.—Ever since here election as a member of the school board of Roelyn Mrs. Clarence Markay has practically conducted the school of this town according to her notions. Although she is the only woman member of the board of edu- cation, she exercises absolute control over that body, which meekly ap- proves everything the millionairess decrees. Her latest notion is the abolition of the rod in the schools of Roslyn, a measure which is the de- light of the unruly portion of the children, who have made life a bur- den to teachers as well as principals. The schools were opened today and with the beginning of the new school year the rod is abolished as an in- strument of correcting disobedient and unruly children. Although no positive statement in the matter has been made, it is expected that Mrs. Mackay will take it upon herself to bribe refractory children into good behavior by liberal donations of candy. Those who are well ac- quainted with the conditions in the Roslyn schools expect that many of the teachers and principals will be compelled to resign, because they will find it impossible, owing to Mrs. Mackay's ill-advised interference, to maintain discipline among the chil- dren.

Will Discuss Municipal Matters.
Chester, Pa., Sept. 4.—An import- ant convention of delegates repre- senting the municipal governments of cities of the third class through- out the country opened here today and will remain in session three days. It promises to be a very im- portant meeting and will carefully discuss many vital municipal sub- jects. Mayor S. R. Crothers of Ches- ter, is the chairman of the conven- tion. The local authorities and the various mercantile and industrial organizations have arranged an elab- orate program for the entertainment of the delegates attending the con- vention. Among the entertainment features of the convention will be a reed bird supper, a visit to the art gallery of Alfred O. Deshong, auto- mobile rides to Roach's ship yard, the Seaboard steel casting works, the Eddystone print works and the branch plant of the Baldwin loco- motive works, the Belmont iron works at Eddystone, the old Pusey house in Upland, John Morton's grave, the Penn monument and other interest- ing points. The delegates will also be taken on a boat ride to the League Island navy yard.

International Geological Congress.
Mexico City, Sept. 4.—The tenth international geological congress opened here today with a large at- tendance and will continue in session two weeks. Many of the foreign delegates to the congress arrived some time last month and have been travelling to various interesting points in this country in the mean- time. Among the distinguished geo- logists from all parts of the world who are in attendance at the con- gress are Walter Wabl, Franz Stradal, Victor Hackmann, Carl Hlawatsch, H. Ross, H. Credner, A. von Koenen, Conde and Condessa de Matuschka, Fritz von Kerner, George Greim, S. Gunther, Bernard Hobson, A. Dennenberg, W. Hammer, Carl Diener, Mrs. M. Diener, L. Dupare, O. Seiffert, A. Schenck, Charles Bogdanowitch, G. Stefanescu, Srita F. Stefanescu, E. Titze, K. Eckert, W. Salomon, G. Merciel, H. Sjogren, Mrs. S. Dall Munro, H. Erdmann, A. Osann, S. T. Sihoski, E. O. Hovey, Victor Uhlig, Alex Wetzstein, H. F. Cleland, A. J. David and many others.

There is more catarrh in this sec- tion of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be in- curable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local dis- ease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven cat- arrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken inter- nally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.
