

Sore Lungs

There is nothing its equal for coughs, colds in the chest, bronchitis, hoarseness, sore lungs, weak throats, and weak lungs. Doctors tell us the same thing. Ask your doctor about it.

We want everybody who has a hard cold in the chest to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Our long experience with it, over sixty years, tells us it is the best remedy for coughs, colds in the chest, bronchitis, hoarseness, sore lungs, weak throats, and weak lungs. Doctors tell us the same thing. Ask your doctor about it.

STATE FAIR NOTES

Everything Is Taking Shape for Oregon's Greatest Industrial Display

President Downing in discussing the situation this morning said: "I was compelled yesterday to see the scarcity of room in the least-half a dozen locations."

The pavilion has been enlarged at least one-third its former capacity. The answer to those who wish for more space is, "We can't accommodate you, as we have a full house."

The work in general is nearing completion; several loads of machinery have been placed in Machinery Hall and many more loads are to come. The hall will be remodeled slightly.

The front entrance will be made higher in some of the sections, thus making it uniform and giving more light. The east end of the hall will be taken out so that it will correspond with the front and give an entrance from the Rest pavilion.

Dairy Building.
Mr. Weeks in speaking of the dairy outlook said the two large milking machines would be the principal attraction, but every exhibit promised to excel those of previous years.

"In the past," he said, "there has been many displays incomplete; this year I intend to have each exhibit as full as it is possible to make it."

The milking machine works on the principle of a pulsating vacuum and is run by an engine.

Stock.
Many fine herds will be on exhibit this season. It is a little early for the cattle, hogs and sheep to arrive but Friday, Saturday and Sunday will witness lively scenes in the stock yards. Among those who are billed to arrive tomorrow are Atehinson from Newberg, with 17 Jerseys; P. A. Frakes, of Scappoose, with a herd of "Holsteins"; H. West, of Scappoose, "Jerseys"; Honeyman, of Scappoose, "Ayershires"; Gilbert & Patterson, "Herefords"; Tom Brunk, a drove of hogs and sheep.

Horses.
The race track is in excellent condition, all the racers are rehearsing their stunts each day and a racing program never excelled by any in fair history is promised.

The show of draft horses will be good.

A. C. Milton will arrive soon with four horses.

G. A. Westgate, of Albany, will be here with a bunch of trotters.

W. G. Eaton will be represented by a bunch of "Morgans."

J. D. Gordon will bring his "Clydes."

E. L. Masten will have a fine exhibit of breed horses.

Wm. Hastings "Clydesdales" and J. M. Nicholas and W. Judd will each have a bunch of "Perchons."

Tent City.

The camp grounds continue to grow in population as well as industries. This is a place that combines the conveniences of city life with the pleasures of the rural, a place where one can enjoy an outing in a well kept camp, yet have the conveniences of a city.

There will be two meat markets and a grocery store on the grounds which will supply the camp with good wholesome food; there are two wells of fine water and the grounds have a sanitary system that is modern in every respect.

The Wells a Study.

The wells are only 180 feet apart, yet there is 20 feet difference in the depth of water.

The formations and strata of the two are entirely different, one being of gravel and bed rock while the other contains, beneath the strata of rock, sand and vegetation. In digging the 65 foot well a layer of rock was struck and when this was broken through the pipes dropped 5 feet in quick sand and a large cedar log was struck which was probably deposited there when the Willamette valley was an inland sea and before Mt. Hood had sprouted. The water in both wells is good and there is an abundance of it.

Starving to Death.

Because her stomach was so weakened by useless drugging that she could not eat, Mrs. Mary H. Walters of St. Clair St., Columbus, O., was literally starving to death. She writes: "My stomach was so weak from useless drugs that I could not eat, and my nerves so wrecked that I could not sleep; and not before I was given up to die was I induced to try Electric Bitters; with the wonderful result that improvement began at once, and a complete cure followed." Best health tonic on earth. 50c. Guaranteed by J. C. Perry, druggist.

Steel Bridge at Harrisburg.

The steel railroad bridge built across the Willamette river at Harrisburg by the Southern Pacific has been completed, all the false work removed and the only work being done is that of painting the big structure. The bridge is one of the best yet built by the company. It has three spans of 150 feet each, and a draw 200 feet in length. The latter is suspended on a concrete pier 24 feet square, and when opened after construction was found to balance perfectly. In the construction of the draw alone, 14,000 rivets were used.

At the end of the bridge a neat house has been erected for the use of the watchman, who is on duty all the time, though the opening of the bridge will be a rare occurrence. The last time the draw of the old bridge was opened for a steamer was in March, 1904. The watchman will have a rather easy time of it.

The bridge was built by the maintenance-of-way department of the road, and the excellent of the department can be realized when it is known that the Springfield bridge started three weeks earlier by the construction department, a very much easier bridge to build, has not yet been completed, nor will it be for some little time. The Harrisburg bridge was built in the same place where the old bridge stood, and during the work not a single train was interfered with.—Lebanon Express.

Cure for Sick-Headache.

We had a letter the other day from a lady in the town of Boulder, Colo., that should be of interest to people who are troubled with spells of sick headache. She writes that she had these spells about four times a week, was obliged to go to bed and remain there from 8 to 10 hours each time. Had been troubled this way for several years, and the attacks became more frequent. Doctors done her no good, she tried dieting, as every body said it was from her stomach. Seeing an advertisement of Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills, which said, they cure sick headache by removing the cause, she decided to try one more, and sent 50 cents for two boxes. She said she had taken the last pill more than 4 months ago, has not had a sick spell of any kind for over 5 months. Druggists sell these pills for 25c per box. It only takes one for a dose, they cure sick headache every time.

Repairing the School Houses.

All of the big Salem school houses have been overhauled and repaired and put in good order for the time when the schools open. This work has been done by two of the janitors, who are handy with tools. They are C. T. McIntire and Albert Nye. Some bad leaks have been stopped up where the rains have been beating in during the past year, and a great deal has been done to save the school houses from being further damaged by the elements. The Lincoln school grounds are going to be graded, and the old wooden closets and fences will be removed, and the premises made far more attractive.

Concerning Odors.

A generous lump of soda placed in pots and pans in which fish, cabbage, onions and other strong-smelling foods have been cooked, will thoroughly cleanse and make them smell sweet and clean.

A teaspoonful of vinegar boiling on the stove will counteract the smell of strong food.

A teaspoonful of ground cloves on a few hot coals will produce the same result.

A few drops of sandalwood oil dropped on a hot stove is a delightful deodorizer.

A sponge placed in a saucer of boiling hot water, in which has been added a teaspoonful of oil of lavender, gives fragrance of violets to a room in which it is placed. Flies will not remain where the odor of oil of lavender is.

A stale crust of bread boiled with cabbage will absorb the disagreeable odor.

A large lump of charcoal in a refrigerator will prevent a musty smell.

A pound of coppers dissolved in boiling water, if poured into drain pipes, will dissolve the grease and other impurities.

An onion breath may be gotten rid of by swallowing a mouthful of vinegar or drinking half a cup of hot water in which a pinch of baking soda has been dissolved.

A few mouthfuls of lime water or a few drops of the tincture of myrrh in a tumbler of water will sweeten an unpleasant breath, and a small piece of orris root, if chewed, will give a violet odor to the breath.
