Kansas Man Lies in Family Vault for Eight Months Then Marries

A dispatch from Denver, Colo., Tuesday, says: On January 12 last, Frederick J. Harvey was declared dead by Kansas City physicians. The papers published death notices, his funeral was held and his body placed in the family vault. About the middle of May the body was removed to the home of his parents. On September 4 Harvey came to life and the next day married Miss Lilly Godfrey, of Denver. They left at once on a wedding tour.

Mr. Harvey is the son of Barnard Harvey and grandson of the deceased Frederick Harvey, the millionaire owner of all the eating-houses on the Santa Fe line and most of those on the Frisco. The family is well known throughout the United States.

Although all animation and respiration had ceased, his affianced wife, Miss Godfrey, would have it that he was not dead. She wept and moaned, took the death watch upon herself, and would not leave the casket until it was placed on a marble slab next the casket of his father and aunt in the family's tightly closed vault.

For four months Mr. Harvey lay in the company of his dead ancestors until Miss Godfrey, crazed by the feeling which grew upon her that her beloved was not dead, returned to Kansas City and begged and pleaded with the family to accompany her, and when the vault was opened they were astounded to find the coffin open, an oversight of the undertaker.

So lifelike did the body appear that they took it to the Harvey house and attended it daily until September 4, when Harvey suddenly sat up and proved, to be in such good physical condition that he and Miss Godfrey were married the next day and departed on a wedding tour, being due in Denver next week.

Tuberculosis and Sanitation.

The question of the effect of certain occupations on this disease has also been carefully investigated in France. It has been found that those trades that bring one into contact with dust (meters a poussières) are especially dangerous. Professor Landouzy's investigations among policemen and postal employes (both of whom have also very insidious offices—indeed the public complaint against the impure air in postoffices in Paris are most frequent), and also among laundry workers, have revealed a disastrous condition of affairs. Also among 257 workmen, carefully kept under observation by Professor Landouzy, consisting of carpenters, joiners, floor layers, and packers, all living under practically the same conditions, the mortality from tuberculosis amounted to more than 30 per cent.

Laundry workers, however, were found to be the most seriously affected. From statistics made at Billancourt, Boulogne-sur-Seine, etc. (districts in the neighborhood of Paris where laundries abound), the mortality from tuberculosis reached the alarming total of 75 per cent. So deadly is the handling of indiscriminate soiled linen, that women succumb after an average of 15 years, while men last from 18 to 22 years. This surely shows the need of certain precautions, such as special bags for the collection of soiled linen certainly of persons affected with tuberculosis, so that the contents could be disinfected before being handled in the usual way.

The Paris bakers a few days ago formed an organization for the improvement of the unsanitary conditions under which they have to work. It is stated authoritatively that, despite the government inspection of bakeries and the most modern hygienic apparatus, out of 400,000 bakers in Paris, 240,000 suffer from tuberculosis. This state of affairs is not only distressing to the workers, but a source of danger to the consumers of the bread, etc. A professional baker's school has consequently been opened to educate the men to practice hygienic methods.—Consular Report.

THE RUN ON THE BANKS

Depositors Still After Their Money, and Other Banks May Be Affected.

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—The run on the Hibernian Savings Bank continues. The line of depositors seeking to withdraw their funds was two blocks long this morning. The police arrested a man giving the name of Carroll, claiming to be from Tennessee, who was urging the women to stay in line and get their money, as the bank would close its doors this evening. Acting Secretary Tobin, of the Hibernian, says if the run continues much longer it will assume a serious aspect, and it is likely to affect other institutions.

Scotch Firm Will Build a Challenger for Teapot Thomas.

Glasgow, Scotland, Sept. 13.—Denny Bros., shipbuilders of this city, have perfected a new design and offer to build the Lipton cup challenger. This overturns the ideas of Watson and Fife, but it is believed it will make a good showing.

ARE THEY INSANE?

Case of Esther Mitchell and Mrs. Creffield.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 13.—The trial of Esther Mitchell and Mrs. Maud Creffield on the charge of insanity began before a commission appointed by the superior court yesterday morning. So far only the prisoners themselves and Mrs. Creffield's father, O. V. Hurt, of Corvallis, have been examined. The prisoners behave in their usual manner, coolly and collectedly answering the questions put to them, and showing little emotion, though willing to laugh where occasion arises.

Mr. Hurt testified to the fact that both his daughter, Mrs. Creffield, and her mother had been in the Oregon insane asylum at the time Holy Rollerism was at its height. Other witnesses from Oregon are Perry and Fred Mitchell, J. D. Gardner, of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society, and the matron of that institution, and Mrs. Hurt. It is not known whether more witnesses will be called to testify to the family history of the women. Prosecuting Attorney Kenneth MacKintosh and his deputy, John F. Miller, are strenuously resisting the effort to prove the women insane.

He Likes the Old Gal.

Hanover, Mass., Sept. 13.—James Garland, a millionaire, twice separated from his wife, remarried her today.

Buried in the Ruins.

Oakland, Sept. 13.—The roof of the California Fruit Canners' Association building on First and Filbert streets collapsed shortly before noon today, wrecking the building, and burying a number of employes in the ruins.

Oakland, Sept. 13.—All were taken out alive, and but two women were seriously injured. Six others received injuries which necessitated their being taken to their homes. The fact that the accident happened at the lunch hour prevented a greater disaster, with probable loss of life. Of 40 women usually at work in the room into which the roof fell, but 15 were there at the time of the accident. The building, which is of corrugated iron, is believed to have been weakened by the earthquake.

Defends His Father.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Theodore Stensland today declares false all insinuations that he betrayed his father. He says his father is not a thief, that his estate will cover all shortage and that Hering is the real culprit. Theodore says he closed the bank against the advice of James B. Forgan and other financiers.

Poor Chinese.

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 13.—The Chinese colony here is in a panic on account of the disappearance of eight of the most wealthy of the race during the past month. The celestials declare the Chinese society of San Francisco is at the bottom of the affair.

Democrats May Control.

Waterville, Me., Sept. 13.—The Sentinel, owned by Cyrus Davis, candidate for governor, claims the election is still in doubt, and thinks it probable the final returns will show the Democrats control the legislature.

Arthur Brock, who is head linotypewriter with Baltes & Co., in Portland, and Clyde Brock, assistant cashier in the First National bank at Hoppner, are in the city doing the fair and visiting their parents and many old time friends.

Ex-Governor J. H. Fletcher, of

Jefferson, is in the city. He had not learned of the accident of his son being burned by a live wire until he reached Salem this morning. Mr. Fletcher, Jr., is resting easier today, and will recover.

A Shot at the Professors.

"President Chinnaway," didactically began Professor Twigg, the village schoolmaster, in the midst of a recent session of the Grow Fat club.

"President who?" grouchy exploded the Old Codger, who was in one of his trouble-seeking moods.

"President Chinnaway of Blank college," mildly returned the first speaker. "He says—"

"Rum-tum-tiddy! Tee dum! Tee dum!" grated the veteran, in a sarcastic, monotonous grid. "Thirty days hath September, April, June and November; the rose is red, the violet blue, I'm going to move when my rent is due; the goat is in the hammock, the hens are in the lake, the swine are in the cider mill, what difference does it make? Pope Adrian was strangled to death by a hair in a glass of milk which he drank; nobody know what the little 'a' in the name of Thomas a Becket stood for; 'drat' is a deacon's 'damn'; a public office is a public fuss; lamellibranchiata includes clams, oysters and one variety of Baptists; eeny, meeny, mony, mi—"

"Why, what in the world, 'squire!" astoundedly interrupted the schoolmaster. "What do you mean by all that rigmorole? Even if those peculiar statements were true, of what use are they at this particular time, and what possible bearing can they have on the subject under discussion?"

"Just as much," grimly returned the old man, rising stiffly to his feet. "They are of just as much utility and timeliness as the utterances so continually parroted off by the college presidents of the land. Also, they are just as tiresome, just as pithless, and of just as little use to anybody on earth or in the by-gosh waters under the earth, except to those bulging-browed bores themselves. They get a great deal of free advertising and balm for their vanity by their gabble, which is forever pouring forth like the water used to come down at Lodore in the old third reader, while if I should get out on a prominent corner day after day and babble such flapdoodle. I'd probably be sent to the asylum or the legislature, and serve me mighty right, too, by glory! And that's my opinion of the average college president and all his works. I'm going home!"—Tom Watson's Magazine.

LOCAL OPTION WINS

In the suit of Lee Jeffries against John H. Scott, I. C. Needham and William Miley, composing the county court of Marion county, a petition for a writ of review, Judge Gallo-way this morning sustained the motion to quash the writ on the grounds that the court has no jurisdiction over the subject matter of this proceeding, or of the defendants; that the plaintiff has no legal capacity to maintain this suit; that the petition does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action or invoke the aid of a court of equity.

Lee Jeffries conducted a saloon at Mill City, in Horeb precinct, and was forced to go out of business on account of the county court ordering prohibition in said precinct, in accordance with the local option law, which was sustained in that precinct at the June election.

The Hop Situation.

The cold rains of the last two days have served to make work in the hop yards disagreeable, and picking has been suspended in many of the yards. There is fear among the growers that, if the rains continue, the pickers may leave. No damage has been done to the hops in this vicinity, and at present no pickers are leaving. In fact it could rain for a whole week, and do no harm. Hop men say that the rain will have no bad effect on the crop, but will give the hops a richer color, ripen them more evenly and clean them off.

Machinery, Vehicle and Implement Business for Sale

I expect to leave Salem within the next sixty days and therefore offer my stock and business for sale at once at landed cost of the goods.

This is an excellent opportunity to step into an established business, as this house has been in existence for fifteen years, and in that time has accumulated a lot of valuable agencies, and the volume of business transacted each year is proof of their excellence.

I will show any prospective purchaser just what is in the business, and will say that the proposition will not be open very long, hence would advise prompt action.

All accounts on our books must be settled promptly, as we want to close up our affairs at once.
