MONTE CRISTO AGAIN

Cumas Greatest Story Told in Living Character

The Grand Opera House was well filled last night when the curtain went up for the presentation of one of the most intensely interesting plays ever put on any stage. Those who have read the story, and who has not? can enjoy again its magic charm, intensified and made real by the actors' art. It was the reporter's misfortune that he was unable to see one act, but that was a sample that made him wish for more. Mr. Willard is an actor whose work will bear studying. The writer Monday night spoke of "The Silver King" as being 'a one-man play' and inadvertently paid a compliment to Mr. Willard unintended at the time, for he did not realize that it was the intenseness, the individuality that made the play, which is really pretty well balanced, seen all centered around Mr. Willard. Those who attended last night expressed their appreciation by freely-given applause, and those who attend tonight will have an evening's pleasure such as it seldom attainable, and long to be remembered.

Tonight that greatest of all modern stories, "Monte Cristo," will be again portrayed, and Friday night "The Danites," a strong play, strongly played.

MURDERERS ARE ARRAIGNED.

Hop Field Rioters Will Have Preliminary Trial Saturday.

James R. Seeley, Warren Eastman and William Murphy, three of the four men arrested yesterday for the murder of Marshal Krechter, of St. Paul, were arraigned this afternoon in Justice Webster's court, and were given until Saturday, when their preliminary examination will be held, to plead.

Fred Bastman, who is supposed to have fired the fatal shot, did not appear, having been removed from the jail to the hospital this morning.

NEGROSWICH BRUISER.

Blows Hot-Air Through His Head-piece.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Battling Nelson arrived today and hundreds of friends greeted him, declaring their allegiance will remain steadfast. Nelson declares the alleged foul was the negro's fault. He says Gans caused it to escape further punishment.

Unused to Street Cars.

One Salem lady was prevented from attending the fair this afternoon, but it is to be hoped she will get to go tonight. When a big crowd was lined up on Commercial street, waiting for a street car, a big, burly ruffian, in trying to board the car before it stopped, made a flying leap for the footboard, and in doing so knocked a Salem lady flat down in the muddy street. She was picked up unhurt, but her handsome gown and wrap were completely ruined.

The Southern Pacific, it is said by the San Francisco Call, is to build the coast railroad, not because it wants to, but to keep the Gould interests from locating the route. Well, it does not matter what the cause is, so long as Oregon gets the effect.

The Ad. Did It—

In yesterday's Journal was advertised a handbag lost by Mrs. E. B. Morse, who is a travelling representative of an eastern concern. She is stopping at Hotel Willamette during the fair, and her property was promptly returned to her by a Mr. Lane, of Pittsburg, who read her advertisement. A strange coincidence with the matter is the fact that Mr. Lane's uncle and aunt of Kansas City are intimate friends of Mrs. Morse. It is needless to say that the lady was happy upon the recovery of her property, and her experience in recovering it, should encourage all persons under similar circumstances.

The Gym. Craze—

Some of the Salem boys seem to have the gymnasium craze. That is right and proper, but after all the cheapest and best gymnast in the world—one that will exercise every bone and muscle in the body—is a flat piece of steel, nothed in one side, fitted tightly into a wooden frame, and, after being greased on both sides with bacon rind, rubbed into a stick of wood lengthwise on a sawbuck.

Won't Back Up—

The man who went out to milk near Turner and sat down on a boulder in the middle of the pasture and waited for the cow to back up, was a brother to the man who kept a store and wouldn't advertise because he reasoned that the purchasing public would back up to his place of business, when it wanted something.

He Can't Tattle—

People frequently inquire of the editor where he received his information concerning such an such a person, also who wrote this article or that. To impart information along this line is against the rules of a newspaper office and our friends and patrons will please bear this in mind. We always stand ready to correct a wrong or mis-statement.

Oregon Grows Them—

There are some 800,000 miles of telegraph and telephone lines in this country at the present time which requires 32,000,000 poles. A pole lasts on an average 12 years and is made from a tree sixty years old. To maintain a continuous supply five times as many trees must be growing in the forest as there are poles in use. Experiments are being made which if successful will very materially add to the length of the life of a pole.

Ed. Tuck and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Tuck, were examined yesterday by Justice Webster on the charge of having assaulted the 15-year-old child-wife of Lee Peterson, who witnessed the alleged assault and kept quiet about it for a week. The whole outfit is so unreliable that Justice Webster dismissed the action. The law that permitted a 60-year-old man to wed a feeble minded child of but little more than fourteen was unable to protect her from the advances of other villains.

Help Get Immigrants—

After reading this issue of the Journal send it to your friend in the distance; or better yet, call at the office and send it to your friend or relative for three months or a year. Throw in your mite toward placing our city and county where they belong upon the map. This paper will do its part; you do yours.

Be Savers—

The boy who saves his money becomes the banker, the merchant, the professional man. The boy who never saves a cent makes the man who "earns his bread by the sweat of his brow," who never owns a home or enjoys the luxuries of life. Reading Journal ads will save many from the latter class.

Salem people were all there yesterday, and many of them carried lunches prepared from groceries bought from H. H. Ragan. They had the best lunches, and this is the reason Ragan's trade is increasing so rapidly.
