Rev. J. Muelhaupt, of the German Reformed church, left this morning for Portland, where he will meet a party of ministers, and go with them to attend the synod which convenes in Terre Haute, Ind., October 3d.

August Farley, who came in over the Drain stage road yesterday, reports that the railroad graders have completed about two miles of their work. Campers are strung out along the line from Drain to Scottsburg. Some 60 men are working on the Paradise tunnel. Six and four horse teams are busily engaged hauling powder and winter supplies to different points on the route. There is no end to the number of livestock to be seen along the line, and the stock is in excellent condition, says Mr. Farley. The only trouble the contractors seem to be experiencing, at present, is securing laborers.

Many Hunters Ready.

More nimrods will go out after game when the hunting season begins than at any previous time since the new law has been enacted, making it necessary for hunters to provide themselves with hunters' licenses, and 884 licenses have been issued thus far by the county clerk.

Bond Approved.

In the matter of the estate of Ethel Cusick-Morse, deceased, the administrator's bond of W. B. Morse has been filed, and approved by County Judge Scott.

Better Late Than Never.

Hermann Hummels, aged 67, and Margaret Koerner, aged 48, both residents of Salem, were today granted a permit to marry.

DIED.

SHADOWING DIAMOND MINERS

Man Under Surveillance for a Year
Congratulated on His Honesty.

The close watch kept on the diamond miners of Kimberley is well illustrated by the following story:

"An officer of the De Beers corporation had been under the surveillance of detectives for a year. The men at the general office thought he was spending more money than he was earning. One day after the detective had followed the man for a whole year, had played poker with him, visited saloons with him and watched every movement, another officer of the company approached him, and laying his hand upon his shoulder, said:

"I want to congratulate you."
"What about?" asked the object of suspicion.

"Why, you're all right; you're an honest man."

"Of course I'm an honest man. What do you mean?"
The explanation was made. The suspected man learned that the detective who had followed him had been his closest personal friend all these months, knowing every move he made, how much money he won, how much he spent in high living and how much for the necessities of life.

"Now, according to our accounts of your doings for these weeks and days," said the official to the man under suspicion, "you ought to have just three pounds in your pocket this moment."

The man who had been shadowed 365 days thrust his hand into his pocket and found just a trifle less than three pounds.—World's Work.

Eugene Girl Weds.

The marriage of Miss Fannie B. McCallum to Lawrence Henry George was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. S. McCallum, 23 West Eleventh street, at Eugene, at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday forenoon, in the presence of 30 or more relatives of the couple.

The wedding was one of the prettiest that has occurred in Eugene this season.

The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Olympia, where they will reside, and where they first met a number of years ago.

Has Murdered Four.

Newburg, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Today Lizzie Halliday, the triple murderess, added the fourth victim to her list by slaying Millie Wicks, an attendant at the Mattewan state hospital.

A Small Raise Wanted.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—At a directors' meeting of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, at Milwaukee, the directors will ask the stockholders to increase the capital stock from $132,000,000 to $215,000,000.

Talkfest in Washington.

Washington, Sept. 27.—The general staff is holding its first fully attended meeting to discuss affairs in Cuba.

Helps the Banks.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Shaw announces that he deposited today $26,000,000 in the national banks.

Three in a Bed.

Think of the entire business of the burned district—2800 acres—thrust into the residence quarter, taking possession of modest homes and palatial homes alike along whole streets, and lawyers, doctors, brokers, insurance men, agents of all kinds, in parlors and sitting rooms and chambers on cross streets; the inmates of hotels and boarding houses and apartment houses and private residences that were burned thrust back like a tide into the region west of Van Ness avenue and overflowing all the section as far as the sand dunes and the seashore, and you can guess how San Francisco is sleeping nights.

Then there is a steady increase of population. Exiles are coming back. You meet them on the street, earnest, wistful-faced women who are bewildered by the strange aspect of the streets and ask directions and add "I was so homesick for San Francisco that I just had to come back." You meet strangers on the ferries, and in brokers' offices; you see piles of household goods on the docks daily, the conveniences of families whose heads are already at work here and want to establish a home and stay, and with few dwelling houses building and none to rent, these add to the pressure until you actually expect to hear a night-cry as you pass along a residence street. "Don't scrouge so."—San Francisco Journal of Progress.
