MILLER.—At the Open Air Sanatorium, near Milwaukie, Or., October 22, 1906, at 5 o'clock p. m., Arthur A. Miller, aged 48 years, Arthur A. Miller was born at Canton, Ohio, in 1858, and served an apprenticeship at the printing trade, beginning when 14 years of age. In 1882, at LaHarpe, Illinois, he married Miss Anna Batholomy, who survives him. Mr. and Mrs. Miller came to Salem in 1883, and here he followed his trade since that time, being connected with every publication in Salem at some time or other. He was employed on the Capital Journal up to within a week of his death, when frequent and violent hemorrhages, precursors of the end, compelled him to cease work. He was of a genial, kindly disposition, and was known and liked by the greater majority of Marion county people. Realizing that his life was measured only by days, he was yet uncomplaining, and had a kind greeting and a pleasant smile for his friends up to the very last. Broad-minded, charitable, upright, honest and conscientious; a kind husband and father, and a true friend, he has crossed the divide, leaving on this side a white record and a wealth of tender memories. He leaves besides his wife one son, Harry, aged 22, and ten brothers and sisters, all of whom are residents of the Middle West.

He was a member of the local typographical union, and of the United Artisans.

The body will be brought to Salem on the 6:23 train this evening, and notice of the funeral will be given later.

SAILOR BOARDING HOUSES

Knockout Sailor Kidnappers By the Supreme Court

The decision of the Multnomah circuit court was affirmed by the supreme court this morning in the cases of the State against James White, Harry White and William Smith, charged with kidnaping the Whites, "Mysterious" Billy Smith, the Grants and others as well known were the keepers of a notorious sailor boarding house in Portland, and were tried and convicted of kidnaping, in the circuit court. An appeal was taken and the opinion, which was by Judge Halley, sustaining the opinion of the lower court. The defendants will have to suffer the penalty, and this decision will probably effectually do away with the habit of kidnaping in Portland.

Other decisions were G. H. Lindsay against the Grand Route Lumber Company, appealed from Union county. Opinion by Judge Bean, affirmed. Lindsay obtained a judgment for $17,000 in the lower court for receiving permanent injuries while in the employ of the defendant company, caused by the company's negligence. The company appealed the case and the lower court is sustained.

William Hanley Company against J. D. Combes, from Grant county. Lower court reversed, and new trial ordered.

J. A. Morton against Oregon Short Line, from Malheur, remanded. Opinion by Judge Moore. The railroad is ordered to remove a bar that causes Morton's farm to overflow, within three months.

J. T. Goss against N. P. Railway Company, from Multnomah. Opinion of lower court affirmed. Goss sued the railroad for damages. He had his hand smashed in a car door, and attributed the accident to the negligence of the company.

A petition of the respondent in the Parkersville drainage suit was denied. The appellant had previously asked for a rehearing, which was granted. A motion for a rehearing in the suit of Sexton and Mathews against Malcolm McInnis was overruled.

A FEW SNAPS TILL NOV. 1st Sewing Machines, Vehicles Implements

My successor, Mr. S. A. Manning, the implement dealer, takes possession on November 1st, and until that time things go pretty cheaply here. The stock is wonderfully reduced in many lines, but here's an item or two that may interest you: One Studebaker 1 ¼-inch half-platform hack, leather trimmed, regular $100 grade, $87.50. One other heavy half-platform hack, formerly sold at $90.00, now $75.00. One farmer's survey with removable rear seat, regular $100—$75.00. Two open buggies, one side spring and one end spring, very cheap. A few bargains in sewing machines, both new and slightly used. We've had a splendid business of them, and you'll need to come early if you want your pick. I have only one disc plow yet to sell and one side-hill disc, besides a sulkey and a gang mould-board plow. Good buys every one of them. Drop in and look at any thing you may be interested in.

THOSE OWING ME Will please pay promptly now, as I will be leaving for Eastern Washington early in November and must have my money. Please do not wait for extensions as I cannot grant extra time.
