Tells Why Roosevelt is so Popular With the People

And why is the President popular? Now, Republicans, I want to ask you a question. I want you to answer it in your own minds before I do. Then see if your answer is the same as mine.

Why is President Roosevelt popular today?

I will give you my reason: Because he is the only prominent Republican who has had the courage to desert the Republican platform and adopt planks from the Democratic platform.

Now, Republicans, how does that agree with your reason? Have you any other reason?

I say to you that President Roosevelt has a good element of popularity that is borrowed from Democratic doctrines—from his supposed advocacy of something that Democrats have advocated before.

This is not the first time I have said it. I said it a year ago. I was about to leave home and I told the Democrats that the President was taking our platform, taking it plank by plank—deliberately. I told them I was almost afraid to be gone a year for fear he would take the rest of it while I was gone.

That was not the first time, either. A year ago last January I attended a banquet in Washington. It was given by the Gridiron club. The President himself was the guest of honor. From the beginning of the banquet to the end they were joking him about what he was taking from the Democratic platform. When it came my time to speak I said I hadn't felt so good in Washington for years as I did then to see the things I had advocated had been called an anarchist for advocating being made respectable by being advocated in high places. Then I enumerated some of the things he had taken.

I said I felt like the old colored woman who was sick and sent for a colored physician and when she got worse she sent for a white physician and the white physician examined her pulse and then said to her: "Did the other doctor take your temperature?"

She said: "I don't know. I ain't missed nothing but my watch yet." I told them I hadn't had time to take an inventory to see how much

I had lost. I told them I didn't object to it. I told them we felt complimented to have them think so highly of our ideas as to take them without asking for them. I told them it made me feel so good to see the Republicans getting up on our platform that if I couldn't take back what I said about them I at least didn't feel like saying it again.

I told them I felt a good deal like the young fellow I heard of—a very bashful young fellow—who courted his girl for a year before he had the courage to propose to her, and one evening he made bold enough to tell her that he loved her and ask her to marry him. She was a frank sort of girl, and she said:

"Why, Jim, I have been loving you these many months and I had just been waiting for you to tell me so I could tell you."

Jim was overcome with delight and when he went out he looked up at the stars and said "Why, I ain't got nothin' agin nobody."

That is the way I feel about it. I am just getting so I "ain't got nothin' agin nobody."

Oh, how pleasant it is to welcome to almost full fellowship these "reform Republicans." I am willing to take them in on the Methodist plan of six months probation. Yes, it makes us feel good to see the Democrats and the Populists and the Republicans all moving along in the same direction, all harmonious—with the Democrats a little bit ahead.

Why, they use to say that the Democrats camped each night where the Republicans had camped the night before. They don't say that now.

We have got it turned around now. The Republicans are following. When a Republican reformer wants to make some progress he is a little timid about it and gets down on his hands and knees and crawls around looking for tracks and when he sees where the Democratic army has gone he gets up and says: "Come on, boys! They have been here! This is safe!"

Oh, it is so nice. Yes, the President hasn't an element of popularity that he has not got by being a little Democratic. And, my friends, if a Republican President can become the only popular man in his party by being sporadically and spasmodically a little Democratic, what would be the popularity of a Democratic administration that was consistently and persistently and ever-lasting Democratic?

Some say city girls are poor, ignorant things. Some of them cannot tell a horse from a cow, but they do know that Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea is one of the greatest beautifiers known. Tea or Tablets, 35 cents. Dr. Stone's Store.

WINTER COURSE IN FARMING

Special Dairy and Short Courses at Corvallis College.

The Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis will offer this winter, as usual, two special courses along agricultural lines, which will be designated "the short course in agriculture," and "the special dairy course."

The short course in agriculture will open on Tuesday, January 8, 1907, at 9:00 a. m., and continue two weeks, closing on Friday, January 18. The course consists of a series of popular lectures along lines suited to aid horticulturists, dairymen, and others engaged in agricultural pursuits in developing the great natural resources of our state. The lectures are supplemented by laboratory work under the auspices of experts, who strive to make the course thoroughly practical by adapting the work as far as possible to the needs of each individual.

The special course will also open on January 8, 1907, and will continue six weeks, closing on February 15, 1907. The purpose of this course is to familiarize students with the modern forms of dairy apparatus and teach the underlying principles of the production, care, and manufacture of milk into butter and cheese. Students will meet for work six days per week. The forenoon of each day will be devoted to practical work in the dairy rooms. In the afternoon of each day, except those devoted to cheese making, lectures and recitations will occupy the time during two or three hours.

In addition to the regular teaching force, the services of an expert cheese maker, Mr. L. B. Ziemer, have been secured. Mr. Ziemer is a graduate of the Wisconsin dairy school, and for a time was traveling dairy instructor in that state. For the past four years he has been actively engaged in the manufacture of cheese in Tillamook county, Oregon.

There will be no charge for tuition and no educational entrance requirements, for either of these courses. Board and room can be had in Corvallis at $3 to $4 per week.

A cordial invitation is extended to all persons interested to enroll in one of these courses. An outline of the course can be had for the asking. For further information address,

F. L. KENT,
Corvallis, Ore.

Do You Believe in Signs?

A mark, note, token or symptom, indicates that by which anything may be known, that is, we are forewarned if evil is to befall us, or we have the pleasure of anticipation if the signs betoken a fortunate occurrence. Accidental occurrences all have their signs, every disease has its symptoms. The point is to heed the former, and counteract the effect of the latter. Spells of sick headache follow indigestion and stomach disorders, belching, biliousness and dyspepsia are signs of sickness. People that believe in these signs and know that they are true from experience, can get immediate relief and a speedy cure by the use of Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills. Sold by druggists for 25c per box. Only one for a dose.

Cubans to Fight Annexation.

New York, Oct. 30.—At a meeting of prominent Cubans of all factions in the Waldorf-Astoria tonight it was decided to hold an important conference in the city in the near future. Moderate, liberals and insurgents have put their differences aside and have decided to invite former President Tomas Estrada Palma to take part in the conference. The union of the factions is said to be due to the fear of the annexation movement which is spreading throughout Cuba. At the coming conference all factions will unite on candidates who will oppose at the next election. It is claimed that only portion of the commercial interests controlled by Spaniards want Cuba annexed to the United States while three-fourths or more of the voters on the island want the republic continued and a lasting peace establishment.

A Young Mother at 70.

"My mother has suddenly been made young at 70. Twenty years of intense suffering from dyspepsia had entirely disabled her, until 6 months ago, when she began taking Electric Bitters, which have completely cured her and restored the strength and activity she had in the prime of life," writes Mrs. W. L. Gilpatrick, of Danforth, Me. Greatest restorative medicine on the globe. Sets stomach, liver, and kidneys right, purifies the blood, and cures malaria, biliousness and weakness. Wonderful nerve tonic. Price 50c. Guaranteed by J. C. Perry's drug store.
