GRAND OPERA HOUSE

JOHN F. CORDRAY, Manager

FRIDAY NIGHT, NOVEMBER 2nd

LIEBLER & COMPANY PRESENT

JESSIE BUSLEY IN THEIR STUPENDIOUS PRODUCTION.....

IN THE BISHOP'S CARRIAGE

Channing Pollock's Faultless Play from Marion Michelson's Great Novel.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS:

The greatest comedy drama ever witnessed in the Northwest. There was not an inharmonious note struck by the exceptionally strong company.—Post Intelligencer.

Liebler & Co., like Savage, have never handed a lemon to Portland and the Northwest show-shoppers, and by the same token the company presenting "In the Bishop's Carriage" is all that one could desire.—Evening Telegram.

Jessie Busley, this beautiful girl, who has come out of the East to surprise us, is one of the few actresses in whom our hope of the future may safely depend. She is the logical successor of Minnie Madden Fisk, and as "Nance Olden," she lines the lights and shades of emotion with the certain hand of genius.—Oregonian.

PRICES—$1.50, $1.00, 75c and 50c. Seat sale at the box office Friday 9 a. m.

NOTICE—Patrons are requested to be in their seats at 8:15, sharp, as the curtain goes up at that time, so that the company can make the 10:56 train. This train is to be held for the company.

SAWBONES REBELLION QUELLED

Recrudescence of Annual Inflammation Is Soon Assuaged

There was a recrudescence of the annual insurrection of the students of the medical college attached to Willamette University this week. It lasted two days, and then the inflammation subsided as silently and harmlessly as it broke out.

Dr. Tamsie, an alienist at the state hospital for the insane, holds the chair of materia medica in the college of medicine. The students in the freshmen and sophomore classes were marked for the annual fall sacrifice. For two days the freshmen and sophs absented themselves from the lecture room, and managed to struggle along without Dr. Tamsie's dissertations on materia medica. Then they petitioned Dr. W. H. Byrd, the dean of the medical college, to remove the alienist; otherwise the college would be robbed of their attendance, and the great science of medicine would stop in its mad career, and the knowledge of opodeldoc and pennyroyal tea would be forever lost.

This went on for two days, and yesterday Dean Byrd rounded up the embryonic disciples of Esculapeus, and had a heart to heart talk with them. They have all promised to be good boys hereafter, and will attend all the lectures.

It is said that the students contended that Dr. Tamsie was too loquacious, and had too much parleyvous, a superfluity of wa-wa, and failed to get down to solid materia medica business in the shape the students liked. However, it is said that Dr. Tamsie is well equipped in that line, and is an excellent instructor in the branch he teaches.

It is said that this annual insurrection had to come, and for want of an easier mark, Dr. Tamsie was selected as the scapegoat.

MRS. EDDY TALKS TO REPORTERS

Associated Press Account of the Recent Interview Differs from Yellow Journals

Concord, N. H., Oct. 30.—A representative of the Associated Press, who interviewed Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, head of the Christian Science church, went to Pleasant View, Mrs. Eddy's home, and found her voice clear and strong, and no evidence of decrepitude or weakness.

The interview, which was granted to half a score of newspaper men, who had assembled in this city, was arranged early in the day by H. Cornell Wilson, head of the Christian Science Publishing Committee.

When the newspaper reporters had been seated in Mrs. Eddy's parlors, Mr. Frye announced Mrs. Eddy. She walked to the doorway and stood unassisted before her interviewers. She did not advance beyond the threshold of the door, and when it was seen that she would not enter the room for a prolonged interview, a woman reporter was delegated to talk to her.

Mrs. Eddy appeared to be more anxious to demonstrate that she was in good physical condition than to answer inquiries. Just three questions had been asked by the interviewer when Mrs. Eddy turned, spoke a word to her secretary, and abruptly started for her carriage to take her customary afternoon drive. The interviewers were left in the parlors with numberless questions on their lips, but without an opportunity to ask them.

"Are you in perfect physical health, Mrs. Eddy?" was the first question asked.

"I am," was the brief reply, given with distinct enunciation.

"Have you another physician than God?"

"No, indeed," answered Mrs. Eddy with emphasis, and then she added slowly and solemnly: "The everlasting arms are around and above me, which is enough."

"Do you take a daily drive?"

"I do," replied Mrs. Eddy.

It was at this point that Mrs. Eddy unexpectedly indicated that the interview was at an end, for she turned without another word and walked to the front of the house, where her carriage was awaiting. She was escorted to the carriage by Mr. Strang and Mr. Frye.

Mrs. Eddy was attired for her drive in an ermine cloak, which hung loosely from her shoulders nearly to the ground. As if to dispose of the allegation that a member of her household had on many occasions impersonated her, Mrs. Eddy or some member of her household, caused to be present at the interview Mrs. Pamela Leonard, of Brooklyn, who, it has been said, has been in the habit of driving in Mrs. Eddy's carriage. There was but one similarity to be noticed, and that was the abundance of snow-white hair which adorned the heads of both women. Mrs. Eddy is about five feet four inches in height. She is frail, weighing no more than 100 pounds. Mrs. Leonard, on the other hand, weighs nearly 140 pounds, and there is no facial resemblance between her and her leader.

Circuit Court Notes.

The following business was transacted in the circuit court yesterday: In the suit of Ladd & Bush vs. Chas. L. Scott, the defendant was given 30 days additional time in which to file transcript in appeal.

The case of Wanda Stewart vs. J. L. Smith was dismissed, neither party to collect.

N. E. Leonard vs. George Leonard, the defendant defaulted.

Z. T. Bogard vs. A. Barnan, motion to strike out part of complaint submitted.

A. Smith vs. City of Salem, demurrer overruled. Defendant given ten days in which to further plead.

Annie Sprague vs. Harley G. Sprague. Testimony taken, and decree granted as prayed for in complaint.

Perlina F. Phelps vs. James O. Phelps. Testimony taken and decree of divorce granted as prayed for.

In the accounting suit of Grover Todd vs. Wm. C. Bingham, et al., a decree was given as prayed for in the complaint.

N. E. Leonard was this morning granted a divorce from George Leonard as prayed for in the complaint.

A motion to record former order for expense money in the divorce case of Eleanor Goin vs. J. L. Goin was disallowed.

Catarrh of the Stomach

A PLEASANT, SIMPLE, BUT SAFE AND EFFECTUAL CURE FOR IT.

Costs Nothing to Try. Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing, headaches, sickle appetite, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harrison, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastase, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. R. S. Workman, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

Oh, Woodman, Spare, Etc.

Salem, Or., Oct. 30.

To the Editor: To those who love the trees there are regrets when one is cut down. Just now some fine maples that have graced Salem for years are being removed. In some instances the excuse is that they are a nuisance. Others say that the roots destroy the walks. A simple way to keep the trees from raising the walk is to cut away the roots from the side of the tree next to the walk. A representative of this paper was told today by a man who did this with his maple trees 11 years ago, and he has recently replaced the wooden walk with cement and he states that at no time since cutting the roots has his walk bothered. When putting down the cement walk care was taken to cut away all the small roots on the side facing the walk, and it is his opinion that it will be 20 years before there would be any trouble from the roots. He says that it is less trouble to cut away the roots from one side of a tree than it is to dig the tree out by the roots. Besides, he has the shade of summer. But the tree does more. It catches the dust that would naturally fly from the road to the house. Spare the trees he says.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Independence Girl Weds.

Miss Mabel Cressy, a popular young lady of Independence, was married to Mr. J. W. Corser, of Sunrise, Alaska, Saturday, at Vancouver, Washington. The marriage is a surprise to Miss Cressy's many friends at Independence, as she left for a short visit to friends in Portland last week, and no one knew of the intended wedding.

Mr. Corser is a prominent mining man, but he will remain in Polk county, having bought the Cottage Hotel, at Dallas, and he and his wife will conduct the same.

Steelhammer-Goodie Wedding.

The marriage of Mr. John Steelhammer to Miss Jennie Goodie was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Goode, in North Salem today at noon. Rev. Father John Glenn, of Portland, officiating.

The wedding was a quiet one, only the immediate families being present. Both the young people are well and favorably known. The bride has been a leading milliner in this city in past years, and has a wide circle of friends, as has her husband, who is engaged in business at Woodburn. Mr. Steelhammer is a well-known musician, and is a man of sterling qualities.

They left on the afternoon train for their home in Woodburn.

DATE CHANGED.

"In the Bishop's Carriage" Coming Friday Instead of Thursday.

As was announced in The Journal yesterday, "In the Bishop's Carriage" will be played at the Grand Opera House Friday night, instead of Thursday. The immense popularity of the play in Portland caused the company to remain in that city another night, and come to Salem Friday. The patrons are requested to be in their seats at 8:15 o'clock, as the curtain will raise promptly at that time. There will be no delay, in that as the company will leave on the late train, which will be held for this reason. The show will be given in its entirety, and the performance will not be cut or rushed through in any way. All arrangements have been made with the railroad to hold the train.
