The Bank Habit

Possibly you who read this have never kept a bank account. If not, let us suggest that you try the experiment. You will find it helpful in many ways. Aside from the fact that your money will be safe from theft and fire, such a habit tends to thrift and economy, discipline and a general understanding of business principles, all of which are essential to success. It also affords a convenient method for the payment of bills; and, as the checks are always preserved and returned to you, they serve as receipts for the amount paid. We will be pleased to serve you as your banker. Come in and open a bank account.

GENERAL SHAFTER'S FUNERAL

San Francisco, Nov. 15.—The remains of General Shafter arrived this morning from Bakersfield.

The casket was placed on a gun carriage and escorted by cavalry and artillery from the Ferry building to Trinity church, where the funeral service will be conducted, after which it will be taken to the national cemetery at the Presidio, where it will be given an impressive military burial.

Mining Property in Utah.

Salt Lake City, Nov. 15.—It was announced today that ore and bullion settlements on the market in this city for October were the largest in the history of mining and smelting within the boundary lines of this state. They amounted to over $1,000,000 more than they did in September and that was a record breaking month itself. The amount nearly all other months of the year nearly all other months of the year the total being $3,567,000. These settlements do not include the business of operating companies while mine and reduce their own ores and for which settlement is made elsewhere, though they do not include such ores as are sold in this market by companies operating away from here. The history of this state last year was that there was as much ore shipped out of Utah, and settled for in Colorado, Kansas, New Jersey and other points as there was shipped in and settled here. Several new mining companies have commenced operations and great activity prevails.

Cured and Miasm Stomach.

La Crosse, Wis., Cor. St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

Fred Hoess, aged 45, will live the remainder of his life without a stomach. Hoess has just been discharged from St. Francis hospital as cured after his stomach had been removed.

Hoess had suffered for years with cancer of the stomach and had been given up to die. He was brought here by relatives and as a last resort the man's stomach was removed entirely, including all cancerous growth. He rapidly convalesced and appears as healthful and strong as ever. He lives at Kendalls, Wis. He says he is cured, but questions whether he will enjoy life now.

American Meat for Austria.

Vienna, Nov. 15.—When a deputation from the Austrian Butchers' association waited on the minister of agricultural with a view to permit the importation of meat from the United States, a few days ago the minister declined to accede to the request. As there is a great shortage now from the Serbian frontier a movement was started today to get representative men of all classes to call on the emperor to permit the importation.

THIRTY FEET TALL.

Monster Horses That Roamed in Wyoming Now Fossilized. (Cheyenne News.)

Out in Wyoming a lot of scientific grubbers have unearthed the fossil remains of a horse 30 feet long and more than 30 feet high. The grubbers seem to have pieced the horse together without comment and they don't offer a word of information concerning either his genealogy or his track record.

A horse 30 feet long would appear to be a lot of horse. If he belonged to the cave man—the latter certainly had his hands full. A horse so tall that a 30-foot ladder became necessary when his bridle was to be put on might well be called the pride of the stable—although no ordinary stable would begin to accommodate him.

If the cave men hadn't any ladder and couldn't borrow one, the next best thing was to climb a tree. Then try to imagine him shinning up a tall palm with the heavy bridle on his back, only to find when he attained the right altitude that the horse had moved beyond reach and was peacefully browsing on the tall grass of the jungle!

Of course, a 30-foot horse could be expected to cover much more ground than the ordinary animal of the same breed—even at a walk. And if he took it into his head to work his way across lots there would appear nothing to impede him. Fences would go down before him like stubble, and a merely playful cavort would carry him over raging torrents.

When a 30-foot horse shied at a bit of white paper in the roadway the chances are that he jumped clear over into the next county.

As a war-horse, the 30-footer must have been a starter. When he let out a neigh the enemy fled in blind and unreasoning terror. When he champed his bit and pawed the ground the very hills shuddered. When he switched his tail the hiring foe fell about him like ripened grain.

And then think of the nightmare that could be expected to follow the first sight of this prodigious equine! He certainly was a wonder. It is a great pity we know so little about him.

A LITTLE PHILOSOPHY.

Culled from much reading of various periodicals and publications of home and alien fields:

"Enterprising merchants MAKE more opportunities than they FIND."

"A wise man gets learning from those who have more."

"Every promise a merchant makes should be regarded as a debt."

"Short weights and long prayers do not balance."

"Bargains are the props of business."

"Formerly it was 'Be good!' now it is 'Make good!'"

"There is nothing in business but what we put in it—except dry rot."

"Rust consumes faster than labor wears."

"Industry makes all things possible."

"The past is a shadow, the future a dream—live in the present."

"Produce good pumpkins—the pies follow. Produce good advertising copy—the dollars follow."

"Tomorrow is the only day in the year that appeals to a lazy man."

"Do not long for business—get it." The tried and proven way is judicious advertising. It is open to all and our ad man's help and suggestions are free. A phone call will bring him.

Is the Red Cross Shy?

Washington, Nov. 15.—Officials here of the Red Cross are ignorant of any misappropriation of funds at San Francisco, if any really exists, which they doubt. Miss Mabel Boardman, secretary, says about $3,000,000 was collected by the society for the relief of San Francisco sufferers, $400,000 of which was sent to San Francisco for distribution. Every dollar was accounted for, she says.

The Last One.

The bishop of Worcester was once traveling through Banbury by rail, and, wishing to try their celebrated cakes, summoned a boy and asked him to procure one. Learning that their price was "threepence," the bishop gave the lad a "sixpence," telling him: "And with the other threepence buy a cake for yourself." The lad shortly returned, complacently munching his cake, and, handing threepence back to the bishop, exclaimed: "There was only one left, Gov'nor."—Harper Weekly.

Saturday Ends It

The demonstration of "The Malleable" Range which has been the talk of the town and which has brought so many interested people to our store during the present week will positively end Saturday.

If you are among the very few who have not inspected this exhibit—if you have not availed yourself of the opportunity of seeing in operation and tasting for yourself the good things that it cooks, you'd better hurry. "The Malleable" is the range for homes where the best is none too good. It is the lowest in price, but most economical.

"The Malleable" Range

"The Malleable" is the strongest range on earth—built on honor through and through of truest steel and malleable iron—you couldn't break it with a sledge.

It is hand riveted—air-tight burns perfectly and cooks things as you want them, when you want them.

Its use saves many dollars in a year.

Till Saturday night we are serving visitors with delicious hot biscuits and coffee. You're cordially invited.

Free

To every purchaser of "The Malleable" Range this week only, we will give absolutely FREE a set of Cooking Utensils, or a forty-two-piece dinner set.
