

That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until today we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal roots, and he has been most obstinate and fatal in his efforts to properly investigate them. He has been most obstinate and fatal in his efforts to properly investigate them. He has been most obstinate and fatal in his efforts to properly investigate them.

Not less marvelous in the unparalleled results it has made in the treatment of various ailments, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a truly remarkable medicine. It is a truly remarkable medicine. It is a truly remarkable medicine.

Both the above mentioned medicines are made up of the most valuable medicinal roots, and they are carried on by Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by Dr. Pierce.

HERMAN ROTHCHILD MINORITY

There Be Strenuous Days For the Lone Democratic Legislator

Lots of people think that Herman Rothchild is going to have lots of fun this winter. He is the only Democrat elected to the lower house of the legislature, and he hails from North Powder, Union county. These two things combined, some folks think ought to make his glad young life pretty nearly all skittles and beer. They are dead wrong. Its mighty serious business being a whole minority in Oregon, especially when that minority is the grand old Democratic party. If Herman Rothchild doesn't give up the struggle in Salem and hie him back to the comfort of North Powder, before the great majority of whom, which and what, he is not, then the horse editor has another guess coming. North Powder is situated geographically about midway between the colony of "Latter Day Saints of Jesus Christ," as represented by the followers of Brigham engaged in the lumbering business at Baker City, and also operating the Polygamist Central railroad between the Baker county metropolis and Austin; and the anti-monomogamous congregation operating the beet sugar plant at La Grande. It is not a pretty place and it looks from the cars decidedly lonesome. It is not so isolated, however, as its—no Oregon's sole Democratic member of the lower house. Its a cold place too. Its principal products are hay, ice and a Democratic minority. It is the coldest place in the state. That may be why Herman

Rothchild was elected, for it is a cold day when a Republican gets left in Oregon—for he generally tangles up in the shoe-strings and gets laced in.

If Herman stays the session out it will be only because of the giant heart of him, that "inexhaustible reservoir of Democratic grit and sand."

In the first place there are the committees, some thirty or forty of them. The minority is always represented on these committees.

Is that going to be fun for Herman? or it is only a sea of trouble he finds himself in. Of course it will be fun pocketing a jack knife and stationery and paper cutters for each committee, that is if Mr. Rothchild feels like doing his full duty in that line. But how it will make him perspire, down in this anti-North Powder, and therefore to him tropical climate, hopping around from one committee room to another watching the Republicans at work, and standing manfully to the forefront of the opposition when schemes of chicanery and corruption are prepared. Its true that the minority will not have to waste much time attending caucuses, and there is not much probability of any serious differences of opinion as to party policy.

There is no chance for bickerings about committee assignments. The election provided for that feature.

His work is all cut out for him; there's the trouble of it. Unless he has more appetite for work than a pinch-bellied cayuse has for alfalfa after a hard winter, Herman Rothchild, of North Powder, is going to wish he had been born twins, or even triplets. When he speaks, where is the applause to come from. And when he introduces a pet measure of Democratic flavor who is to second any motion he may make concerning it? When he presides at a caucus, of the minority, he will have to talk at himself, and rule on his own motions. No; Herman Rothchild, of North Powder, has a remarkably strenuous 40 days coming and the horse editor has the profoundest sympathy for him—he needs it.
