THE STATE PRINTING GRAFT

The Capital Journal is in a position to speak without reservation about the state printing grafts that the people of Oregon have had to put up for, and which it is proposed to extend if not enlarge.

If papers are sent to the members of the legislature from this office containing reference to these matters the members of the legislature who are not regular subscribers may know THAT THE EDITOR SENDS THEM.

Many of the members of the General Assembly are subscribers to this paper, but others who are not subscribers are interested in knowing the fact from a public standpoint as no other newspaper will present them.

The Capital Journal thinks by no hook or crook, no hocus pocus or system of packing the legislature should these important reforms be any longer deferred, or delayed—STATE PRINTING GRAFT MUST GO.

The people of the state should not compel Mr. Dugway to saddle upon the state another expensive printing plant to enable him to make more money than all the rest of the state officials will get as salary.

When he made his reform campaign for the nomination and for the election, the people took him at his word, and nominated him because he talked against the graft loudest and strongest of any candidate.

The Journal farther thinks the State Printing department SHOULD NOT GIVE AWAY ITS MOST LUCRATIVE SOURCE OF INCOME, from printing the Supreme Court reports.

MONEY MADE

VS.

MONEY SAVED

Is not the money made but the money saved that provides a fund for the "rainy day."

Money saved makes you independent, enables you to grasp business opportunities and lays the foundation for financial success.

The way to save is to put it in the bank—then what you put in earns more.

In this bank it earns three per cent interest, compounded semi-annually. One dollar will open an account.

ports, to some non-resident corporation, but should print those reports at cost to the members of the bar, and get profit on the rest.

It is not only time to cut out the printing graft, but why compel the state to carry its heaviest burdens, and give away to corporations all its richest sources of income?

Competent lawyers say the publication of the Supreme Court reports which are sold to all the states and to the legal profession the world over at four dollars a volume yields A PROFIT OF FIFTY THOUSAND A YEAR.

Why should the publication of the state Supreme Court reports be made first by corporations in St. Paul and San Francisco, and sold at high prices and big profit to our own people?

Let readers go over the published letter of Robt. G. Morrow in this paper. But let them not be hoodwinked into the idea that nobody is making anything from the publication of those reports. We know better.

Let the facts of the whole business come before the people and they will see that while the state is printing Supreme Court reports it is at an enormous expense to the state, WHILE OTHER FELLOWS ARE MAKING THE MONEY.

This should be reversed. Relieve the state of its burdens in the printing graft and let the state make the money now derived from the publication of the reports. Some will say it can't be done.

DON'T BELIEVE ALL THAT. The state can be stood up and grafted but when it is proposed to have the state do business for the taxpayer, they say it is impossible. The state is helpless and the plundering must go on.

In a striking article entitled "The Russian Peasant and Autocracy," published in the December number of the POLITICAL SCIENCE QUARTERLY, Prof. V. G. Simkhovitch shows on the basis of Russian governmental reports, that the Russian peasants, since their normal emancipation, have been so exploited by their former lords and so heavily taxed by the government THAT THEY LACK THE NECESSARY MEANS OF SUBSISTENCE, are permanently in a condition of semi-starvation, and are physically degenerating.

In other articles in the same journal, Prof. E. T. Devine, who went to San Francisco as the representative of the Red Cross society and was made chairman of the Relief Commission, discusses "The Housing Problem" in that city.

Mr. H. M. Bowman, in an article entitled "American Administration Tribunals," shows to what an increasing extent the power of deciding questions INVOLVING PROPERTY RIGHTS AND EVEN PERSONAL FREEDOM is passing in this country into the hands of administrative authorities.

The number contains reviews of new books and the usual valuable record of political events throughout the world.

THE TONGUE OF SCANDAL.

(Baker City Democrat.)

George Cayvan, once voted the most popular actress on the American stage, died in a madhouse Monday. For seven years her mind has been a blank, and her passing was a merciful relief to her and those who loved her. Behind the clouding of her mind and her passing from prominence to the seclusion of an asylum for the insane, there is a tragic story, the story of how a woman's life was ruined by the lying tongue of scandalous gossip.

Eight or ten years ago a New York woman sued her husband for divorce. In her complaint she alleged that the man had been criminally friendly with Miss Cayvan. The accusation was utterly and entirely without foundation. The truth was made known and proven, but in this world there is, unfortunately, a majority that believes the evil in preference to the good report. The many-tongued viper of scandal pursued Miss Cayvan. Wherever she went, innocent woman though she was, she heard its hisses and felt the effects of its deadly work.

For this woman there is no rest and at last her trouble preyed so upon her mind that her intellect gradually clouded, the light of reason faded from her eyes and, seven years ago, as far as the world was concerned, she died. The author of the scandal was as surely responsible for Miss Cayvan's death as though a quicker, sur-r means of assassination had been adopted.

"He who flitches from me my good name robs me of that which not enriches him, and leaves me poor indeed," said one of Shakespeare's characters, the false Iago to Othello. The arrant scoundrel spoke for once words of golden truth. Georgia Cayvan, as the light faded, knew what it meant to be poor through the theft of her good name. Many another woman, many another man has known. No punishment severe enough for such a theft could be devised.

APPLES AND CIDER.

The editor begs leave to acknowledge two gifts that arrived entirely unexpectedly on his Silver wedding anniversary, Nov. 21, and for which he is especially grateful, as they were sent without knowledge of that event. A box of the famous Hood River apples was sent to him from J. P. Carroll & Sons, Mosier, Oregon. The fact that they were grown a little farther up the Columbia river than Hood River, does not make them any less Hood River fruit, and in quality they are equal to the best that Hood River produces and are sent east and sold as Hood River fruit. The Carrolls had an immense display at the Hood River fruit fair, and their exhibits at Portland and elsewhere have attracted the utmost attention as choice products that are broadening the fame of the whole state. The Carroll apple orchards are among the largest in the apple belt of Wasco county, and all packed from 54 to 128 to the box and all grown without irrigation. The box sent is simply perfect and most of them will be carried by The Journal editor on his trip to Washington, to attend the Rivers and Harbors Congress, and he will give them to friends in New York, Boston and Chicago to advertise Oregon. The same day came a keg of delicious unfermented apple cider from the college farm at Mt. Angel, due to the kindness of Wm. Kramer, the head farmer. It goes without saying that it is an excellent beverage, and that the editor will carry along a bottle on the trip east.

Proposed Route to Europe by Hudson Bay.

Quebec, Nov. 30.—The proposed new route to Europe via Hudson Bay is attracting considerable attention in the Canadian Northwest. Should the proposed route be worked it will be the means of bringing Canada 1000 miles nearer to Europe, and by the saving of price will give the farmers of Western Canada practical control of the grain market of the world. Up to the present eight railroads have applied to the Dominion government for charters for lines to Hudson Bay from various points in the interior of Canada, and some of them are now being built from the south and west. An enormous tract of country will be tapped by these lines, and, notwithstanding the fact that the season on the bay only lasts from July 1st to October 1st, the shorter-railroad haul will give such inducements that a heavy traffic can easily be developed. Huge storage elevators will have to be erected at the end of the railroad lines, but the added insurance and storage rates will be offset by the great decrease in freight rates. It is predicted that the route, if found serviceable will eventually handle a large amount of traffic of the western states of America, as well as that of Canada. The Canadian Northern is building a line from the Prince Albert branch, and the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk announce that they intend building branch lines in the spring.

SPLENDID CONCERT TONIGHT

The Salt Lake Tribune pays the following tribute to the Boston Sextette and Miss Shanna Cumming, appearing here tonight:

A treat was given the large and fashionable audience that gathered last evening at the First Methodist church to welcome the Boston Sextette and Miss Shanna Cumming, the well-known oratorio soprano. Word had been received that the sextette would be one of the best musical derstand perfectly the various instruments assigned to them.

The favorites of the evening from the group were Carl W. Stockbridge, cellist, and Louis Eaton the young violinist. Their selections for the violin, "Ziegnerweisen" and the "Serenade Badine," arranged for the cello, were gems. So enthusiastic was the audience in their praise for the cellist that they demanded an encore, and when one was given in a charming manner, still were not satisfied, and clamored for more. The artist bowed his thanks, but that was not sufficient, and in response to a veritable storm of applause, repeated the lullaby.

Mr. Eaton's selections were well received, and as an encore he played beautifully the "Salute d'Armour." Having such an oratorio reputation it was rather disappointing that the soloist did not choose an oratorio aria among the group of songs. It may have been on account of the altitude, and that the journey to the city had been a long and tiring one that colature numbers were given in were inadequate, and she responded with "Berceuse," from Jocelyn, after the final number the little Scotch ballad, "Bonnie Sweet Bonnie." After the performance Miss Cumming was given a very flattering offer by two managers, one from New York and the other from Portland to accept engagements for next season.

The ensemble work of the orchestra was excellent, particularly the selection from "Romeo and Juliet" and the beautiful little group "D'ni Somella de la Vierge" and "Evening Breeze." The fantasia on the clarinet, as given by Mr. Eaton was pleasing. The program closed with the selection from the "Fountain Teller."

attractions of the season and the coming of Miss Cumming was of interest to all musicians, for her reputation is well known, and being a sister of Mrs. William Weizell, was of great local interest. It is seldom that an opportunity is given for music lovers to listen to a stringed orchestra, for accompaniment as well as solos, and it was an opportunity well appreciated. The six artists, who compose the sextette, are musicians of the highest order and their place. In the aria from "Mignon," "Je Suis Titania," Miss Cumming was indeed charming. Her voice is full and as clear as a bell, possessing a resolute quality that is beautiful. The "Spring Song," by Weill, was a favorite second, it particularly suited the musician's voice and temperament. The technique was perfect, and so well was the prima donna received that gracious acknowledgments of the audience's appreciation

When you buy Lard you get more than you bargain for. It's heavier in your stomach than on the scales.

Lard is a foe to digestion. If you had the stomach of an ostrich you could hardly withstand the ravages of lard-soaked pastry. You have probably found this out and already given up the eating of pastry. 'Tis wholly unnecessary! Anyone can eat and digest food cooked with Cottolene, the perfect shortening. It is a pure vegetable product, made from the best beef Cottolene is never sold in bulk. It is put up in carefully sealed tin pails. When you buy lard you have no protection as to quality—you simply know you are getting LARD—never mind the grade, it's just L-A-R-D. On the other hand, every pail of Cottolene is uniform—the product is guaranteed. You take no chances whatever.

In the face of these facts just ask yourself if you can afford to use hog lard when you can get pure, healthful, nutritious Cottolene.

COTTOLENE was granted a GRAND PRIZE (highest possible award) over all other cooking fats at the recent Louisiana Purchase Exposition, and food cooked with COTTOLENE another GRAND PRIZE.

"Home Help" a book of 300 choice recipes, edited by Mrs. Rorer, is yours for a 2c stamp, if you address The N. K. Fairbank Company, Chicago.

A NEW FEATURE—The patent air-tight top on this pail is for the purpose of keeping COTTOLENE clean, fresh and wholesome; it also prevents it from absorbing all disagreeable odors of the grocery, such as fish, oil, etc.
