Visit the Jamestown Exposition Next Year As the Journal's Guest

The Salem Journal in connection with the Pacific Northwest, of Portland, Oregon, have combined their efforts for the purpose of taking the county's most popular daughter to the Jamestown exposition, which will be opened next April at Roanoke, Va.

This excursion will be given in connection with several of the leading publications of the state for the purpose of advertising the agricultural resources of Oregon all throughout the union. The party will consist of some thirty ladies who will leave Portland on Monday, going by way of Seattle and Vancouver over the Canadian Pacific to the great lakes, by boat down the St. Lawrence river to Buffalo, and on to Albany, N. Y., where a light trip will be made down the Hudson river to New York. From New York City to Washington, when the party will visit the public buildings, Mt. Vernon, Va., the home of George Washington, and also call on the president. From Washington to the coast and returning home by way of San Francisco, Dayton, Chicago and St. Louis, stopping at many other of the great cities of the United States.

A young lady representing Marion county will be expected to carry illustrated literature depicting the resources of this county for general distribution and it is expected that Marion county will receive more publicity through this trip as inaugurated by the Salem Journal than any attempt ever before made. All costs including transportation, Pullman, meals, hotels, etc., will be met by the Salem Journal.

A BILIOUS SPELL

can be very quickly overcome if you will only resort to the Bitters at the first symptom. Your liver needs the assistance that only this medicine can give. Be sure to try it at once.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS has a 53 years' record back of it and besides stimulating the liver, also cures Poor Appetite, Belching, Sick Headache, Sleeplessness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Chills, Colds, or Female Ills.

Any young lady in Marion county is eligible to make the trip. The choice of candidates will depend upon the young lady securing the largest number of paid in advance subscriptions to the Salem Journal and the Pacific Northwest at $2 for six months subscription to The Journal and a twelve months subscription to the Pacific Northwest. You know The Journal as the leading afternoon daily of the Willamette valley and the Pacific Northwest as the best farm monthly on the coast. Each two dollar subscription counts as one vote and the largest number of votes will be deemed the choice of the county to take advantage of the wonderful opportunity of visiting practically the whole of the United States at our expense. See. We want a candidate at Woodburn, Gervais, Aurora, Silverton, Stayton, Jefferson, Turner and the other towns of the county. Send in your name at once that you may obtain a good start. Address, CAPITAL JOURNAL, Salem, Oregon.

An Odds and Ends Dressing Table Box. Parisian Workbag Which Resembles a Melon

A "odds and ends" box is an ideal thing for a dressing table, inasmuch as it does away with the rather finicking little trays and boxes generally found there. To make this most useful ornament you will require a medium sized round cardboard box from which the lid has been taken, divided of its rim and cut into four equal parts. The interior of the box is lined with quilted silk and divided into four compartments corresponding with the sizes of those cut from the cover by means of satin covered cardboard fixed inside. The outside of the box is covered with any pretty material you like and the top edged with cord. Each piece cut from the lid must now be carefully lined with quilted satin matching the lining of the box and covered on the outside with the material used, embroidering on each piece respectively the words "Fancy Pins," "Hairpins," "Pins," "Trinkets." In order to give a slightly raised appearance cover the outside of each piece of cardboard with a little wadding and put the material over it, finishing off with cord used round the box. Each piece has a little loop at the extreme end, by means of which it can easily be lifted up, and is attached to the box as shown in the illustration. Of course such a box can be greatly elaborated. It makes a pretty jewel case and can be decorated with painting, applique, embroidery or ribbon work.

Parisian Workbag.
Workbags are always popular presents, and the "melon" workbag, which is a Parisian creation, is one of the prettiest. To make it you must take eighteen long shaped pieces of cardboard measuring about two inches wide in the middle and gradually tapering off at the ends. The length of the pieces depends on the size of the workbag. These pieces of cardboard must now be covered with satin that is a near match to the tints of a melon and lined with pale green silk. When completely covered sew them all together, with this proviso—that three of them, although joined, are left free at the outer sides, being sewn, however, a little way up from the bottom. The joining of the pieces must be very neatly done, and you can shade the outside in oil painting to imitate the markings of a melon. Draw some leaves on velvet and cut them out, stiffening them at the back by means of a little black muslin pasted on; this, of course, being done before the leaf is cut out to obtain nice sharp edges. These leaves are arranged at the top of the melon, a few falling down one side, and the vine-like tendrils and stalk are imitated in thick green silk wire. The "slice" cut out serves as an opening through which work can be placed in the bag and fastens at the top by means of a silk loop at the end and a velvet covered button hidden under one of the leaves. If one of the wire tendrils is bent into a round it will be found useful either for carrying the bag or to hang it up by.

Melon bags are really most artistic, and in small sizes are invaluable for holding pieces of crochet or knitting.

Garland of Ribbon Roses.

For the young woman who has a fondness for pretty evening gowns make as a Christmas gift a garland of ribbon roses. This is done by making a rosette of loops of narrow ribbon and tying a knot in the top of each loop. In the center fasten a few pieces of yellow silk to make the stems, the ends being knotted. These roses are from one to three inches in diameter and may be connected by strands or knotted wired stems of narrow green ribbon. Fasten the whole on a strip of stiff white bobbinet or scrim, and my lady can bedeck herself in the gayest and prettiest fashion.

Outwits the Surgeon.

A complication of female troubles, with catarrh of the stomach and bowels, had reduced Mrs. Thomas S. Austin, of Leavenworth, Ind., to such a deplorable condition, that her doctor advised an operation; but her husband fearing fatal results, postponed this to try Electric Bitters; and to the amazement of all who know her, this medicine completely cured her. Guaranteed cure for torpid liver, kidney disease, biliousness, jaundice, chills and fever, general debility, nervousness and blood poisoning. Best tonic made. Price 50c at J. C. Perry's drug store. Try it.

Probate Court Notes.

The final account of the estate of W. Scott Taylor, deceased, was allowed and approved, and the administratrix discharged from further liability by the county court this afternoon.

The county court has set 9:30 a. m. Monday, Jan. 7, 1907, as the time for hearing the final account of the Farlow estate.

The petition for the probate of the will of Nancy Harpole, deceased, was this morning accepted in probate court. William H. Harpole was appointed administrator of the estate and Peter Gouley, G. A. Manning and John Smith will act as appraisers. The estate consists of real and personal property in Marion county valued at $9000.

In the matter of the Gholson estate an order was issued for the sale of the personal property set forth in the petition.

The heirs of the estate of Sarah A. Boyer, deceased, have been issued citations to appear in county court on Monday, December 24, 1906, at 11:30 a. m., and show cause, if any, why the personal property should not be sold, as set forth in the petition.

ADDITIONAL PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lang are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Seeley, at Albany. Mr. Lang has but recently returned from Nome, Alaska, after an absence of several years. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Allen, of this city, are also guests at the Seeley home. Mrs. Allen is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lang.

Jesse T. Bennett, the pioneer preacher, is reported to be sick at his home in North Salem. He is one of the staunch grand army men of Oregon, and has many friends who hope to learn of his recovery in the near future.

S. Kightlinger is back from a visit in Eugene and Junction City. Mr. and Mrs. Kightlinger ate turkey with the latter's parents Thursday. Mrs. Kightlinger will return the last of the week.

Mrs. Arthur Lawrence returned from Portland Saturday night, where she spent the Thanksgiving holidays. Her sister, Mrs. Harry A. Green, returned with her and spent yesterday in this city.
