Spain—The Land of Romance.

If I were asked to sum up the dominant impression that the survival in Spain of the old-world mediaevalism makes, I should say that Spain is in the same precise and specific sense of the word the home of romance. The special character of the Spanish temperament and of Spanish developments in literature and in art is marked by a quality, rising and sinking with the rise and fall of Gothic, which we call the romantic spirit; a mixture, that is, of the mysterious and grandiose with the grotesquely bizarre, of the soaringly ideal with the crudely real, a mixture which to us today has the cunning fascination of art but was really on both sides the natural outcome of the experiences and feelings of the men who created it.

IT IS NOT MRS. EDDY'S PICTURE

McClure's Uses Photograph of Another Woman to Illustrate Article About Mrs Eddy

Boston, Dec. 4, 1906. Alfred Farlow, general manager of the committee on publication for the Christian Science church, today gave out the following statement:

"McClure's Magazine, in the December issue, published a picture which is represented as a photograph of Mrs. Eddy taken in 1882. It is not a picture of Mrs. Eddy, but is a likeness of Mrs. Sarah C. Chevallier, who died in California two years ago. This fact is incontrovertibly established by the affidavit of Mrs. Chevallier's son, which appears in this article. We have in our possession the picture of Mrs. Chevallier, which we have just received from her son and which is an exact duplicate of the one used by McClure's."

"In connection with this portrait, McClure's publishes an editorial announcement of a story relating to the Rev. Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science. It is stated that as a result of a careful investigation their story is probably 'as near absolute accuracy as history ever gets.' Indeed the introduction in question lays great stress upon the accuracy of its proposed history. Again it is said: 'Practically no assistance can be obtained from Christian Scientists themselves, that 'she (Mrs. Eddy) refuses to be consulted personal' on the main facts of her own life. It should be stated that according to the custom, McClure's representative who applied to Mrs. Eddy for an interview, was referred to the committee on publication, which is specially appointed for the purpose of rendering any assistance in his power to the representatives of the public press who may be gathering data on the subject of Christian Science and its leader."

"In a conversation with members of McClure's staff several months ago I informed them that if they would submit their data to me I would be pleased to assist them in their verification, giving them as my reason that there were documents in circulation and rumors afloat which were not genuine. They have not availed themselves of my offer."

"Notwithstanding the facts which we have stated, we find in this editorial announcement a picture of another woman which is represented by McClure's as a portrait of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, taken in Boston in 1882. The picture does not in any point resemble Mrs. Eddy. "On November 9th, and before the December number of McClure's was placed on the news stands, I wrote to the managing editor of McClure's, apprising him of this error, but received no reply. My letter follows:

"I have just been looking at the advertisement which you have in Ridgeway's of the 17th inst. In the center of the page is a picture which I assume is represented as a portrait of Mrs. Eddy. I hasten to inform you that this is not a picture of Mrs. Eddy; there is nothing about it that would remind one of her. I have seen Mrs. Eddy frequently during the past twenty-two years and know her face well enough to draw a likeness of it if I were an artist,—therefore I speak from positive knowledge.

"It was my fear that you might be imposed upon by just such counterfeiters that impelled me to suggest that your manuscript relating to Mrs. Eddy be submitted to someone thoroughly posted concerning the events of her life."

"Directly underneath the McClure portrait is a modern signature of Mrs. Eddy, which might give the impression that it had been written on this photograph by Mrs. Eddy. This of course could not possibly be true since the portrait is not a likeness of Mrs. Eddy and never was in her hands."

"When called upon to produce the photograph from which the picture was made, and to give the name of the photographer, the editor of McClure's declined, saying he would give what information he could a few days later.

"I then went to work to obtain evidence, by which I could disprove McClure's allegation, and show the public that another face had been substituted for that of Mrs. Eddy."

"The following affidavit is the result of my investigation:"

Marshall, Tex., Nov. 27, 1906.

Mr. Alfred Farlow, Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir—The photograph enclosed herewith, taken by the Notman Photographic Company, 3 Park St. and 184 Boylston St., Boston, Massachusetts, is a portrait of my mother, Mrs. Sarah C. Chevallier. By a comparison, any one can easily see that the portrait published on page 212 of McClure's Magazine for December, 1906, is the picture of my mother, and to the best of my knowledge and belief is an exact copy of the photograph enclosed.

DEPOT SITE FOR SALEM-MAHAMA LINE SECURED

Vice President A. Welch of Willamette Valley Company Secures Corner Lot Opposite Willamette Hotel From J. P. Rogers.

Will Erect Large Modern Structure in Spring and Probaly Lease for Hotel Purposes—Company Headquarters and Depot on Ground Floor

A deal of considerable interest to the Salem public was consummated yesterday when the southwest corner lot of block 34, directly opposite the Willamette hotel was sold to Vice President A. Welch, of the Willamette Valley Company, by J. P. Rogers, the consideration being about $5700.

This lot which is 57 feet on Commercial street and 165 feet on Ferry street is a most desirable piece of property and, it is understood that the Willamette Valley Company contemplates putting up a modern building upon the property in the spring to be used for the combined purposes of leasing it for a first class hotel, headquarters, and possibly a depot for the new Salem-Mehama electric line which has been mapped out and right-of-way secured for nearly all of the 27 miles of road.

Whether or not it will be used as a depot depends largely upon the action of the city council in granting of a franchise to enter the city upon such street as would make it convenient as a terminal, but it is practically certain that the headquarters of the management of the road will be quartered in a portion of the ground floor of the structure.

The lot is now occupied by a number of old tumble-down shacks, some of the pioneer buildings of the city, and was formerly owned by former Postmaster Edward Hirsch, who transferred it to Mr. Rogers a couple of years ago. The consideration of that transfer was $3400.

The tearing down on the old structure will mark the passage of some more old eye-sores in the building line of which Salem has a full share in the business center and the erection of a modern building will be a great improvement to that portion of the business section. Negotiations for this sale have been pending for several weeks and were only consummated on Thursday of this week when Mr. Welch was in the city to give personal attention to the matter. The company has not purchased a site for its Salem-Mehama terminal grounds as yet and will probably not do so until it can be determined more definitely as to what streets the council will let the line come into the city over.

Vail, senior conductor; Anna High, junior conductor; Mrs. Jos Bernard, master of ceremonies. Mrs. James E. Godfrey and Miller, field commanders. Miss Joy Turner, musician. Slightly Mixed. In small country newspaper where the copy goes from the compositor, then, after printing, directly to the subscribers, need of a proofreader is often felt. In this connection William A. White, the Kansas newspaper man, tells of an amusing break made by a boy in the office of such a newspaper in that state. In "making up" forms the boy got the galley mixed with the following result: The first part of the obituary of an impecunious citizen had been dumped in the form, and the handful of type came from a galley in which was a description of a man. The subscribers were greatly startled when they came to the paragraph which read thus: "The pall bearers lowered the body to the grave. It was consigned to the flames. There were few, any regrets, for the old wreck had been an eyesore to the town for years. Of course, there was individual loss, but that was fully covered by insurance.—New York Times.

It is the best safeguard against indigestion, biliousness and dyspepsia, known to mankind. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea or Tablets, 25 cents. For sale at Dr. Stone's.
