SOCIETY

Happenings of Interest on the Gay
Side of Life in the Capital City.

The first days of winter have been well taken care of by the Capital City society set, and the several affairs given have been a fitting opening to the winter season. Christmas thoughts and ideas generally tend to occupy the minds of all during the month of December, but the year society will be thrust ahead of all, and will be the gayest of the year.

Brilliant Reception.

Mrs. James Frank Hughes and Mrs. Harry E. Albert were hostesses at the reception given at the Frank Hughes residence, corner Oak and Liberty Thursday afternoon. The decorations were beautiful, the color scheme throughout being pink and green. Potted ferns and palms and quantities of pink chrysanthemums were used. The decoration in the dining room were especially pretty. Festoons of smilax and small round tete-a-tete tables, garnished with soft pink ribbons and lighted with small green rose-shaded candles produced a charming effect.

A string orchestra furnished delightful music throughout the time, playing many classical airs. Many handsome costumes were worn by the guests. The hostesses wore charming gowns, that of Mrs. Hughes being white silk mulle, trimmed with trimmings of white velvet ribbon, while Mrs. Albert appeared in lavender crepe with trimmings of white chiffon and purple velvet. Mrs. Frederick Thielson was lovely in blue and pink and her winning ways added much to the pleasure of the afternoon. Miss Carrie Hurst, in green crepe appeared charming. Miss Ryth Gath, one of the younger set, attractive in a lilac frock, assisted in making the afternoon pleasant. Mrs. Frederick Thielson sang two numbers much to the delight of her hearers.

The reception was a fitting opening to the winter's social life, and a delightful event. The guests invited were: Mrs. J. Ackerman, Mrs. J. H. Albert, Mrs. A. H. Albert, Mrs. Thomas Albert, Mrs. Eben Albert, Miss Lillian Apple, Miss Clara Albert, Miss Pearl Apple, Mrs. Ida Babcock, Mrs. William Babcock, Mrs. J. A. Baker, Mrs. Edward Baker, Mrs. Jos. For Miss Gabrielson.

Mrs. L. F. Griffith entertained twenty-five young ladies Wednesday afternoon in honor of Miss Ruth Gabrielson, whose engagement has recently been announced. The affair was delightfully informal and pleasant. The house decorations tended to a color scheme of pink and green. Smilax, mistletoe and carnations being effectively used. Five hundred was played, Miss Alice Meyer receiving the first prize, and Miss Norah Matlock, of Heppner, the second. The score cards were quite novel, being cut in the form of the letter "G."

The Bazaars.

Society turned out in large numbers the past week to attend the different bazaars. The First Congregational ladies gave theirs Wednesday afternoon and evening, while the First Presbyterian ladies held theirs yesterday. Both were largely attended and the unusually large amount of pretty and useful things made quick sales. Noticeable at the Congregational church were the pretty decorations, and the number of handsome booths, which were presided over by some of the ladies and young women of the congregation. The Presbyterian ladies also had many handsomely decorated booths, and served a dainty supper during the evening.

The St. Paul Episcopal ladies will hold their fair next Thursday.

Clubs Meet.

Mrs. C. B. Shelton entertained the 1906 "500" club Wednesday evening.

The Priscilla Embroidery club will have an open meeting the coming week, at which the husbands of the members will be honored guests.

Mrs. J. F. Calbreath entertained the Bridge Whist club Friday afternoon which was a pleasant event.

Sophomore Hop.

Tonight the annual sophomore hop will be given by the '09 class of the University of Oregon in the armory at Eugene. The dance promises to be the greatest social event of the autumn in the circles of the university. Visitors and guests will be present from all over the state—Portland, southern, and even eastern Oregon will be represented, as well as the Willamette valley.
