

TRUTH ABOUT HEDGES AND FAMOUS PASS

Senator Elect From Clackamas Did Not Advertise the Return of the Railroad Courtesy, But It Simply Leaked Out Through Activity of Newspaperman.

Historical events often hinge on small and seemingly unimportant occurrences. In the case of the return of the railroad courtesy to Senator-elect from Clackamas, the truth is that the return of the courtesy was not advertised by the senator-elect, but it simply leaked out through the activity of a newspaperman.

Senator-elect from Clackamas, Mr. Hedges, returned from his tour of the Pacific coast. He had been in the habit of advertising the return of the courtesy, but he had not done so in this instance. The reason for this was that he had been in the habit of advertising the return of the courtesy, but he had not done so in this instance.

The truth is that the return of the courtesy was not advertised by the senator-elect, but it simply leaked out through the activity of a newspaperman. The newspaperman in question was Mr. Brodie, who had been in the habit of advertising the return of the courtesy, but he had not done so in this instance.

The Badge of Honesty

It is on every wrapper of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery because a full list of the ingredients composing it is printed there in plain English. Forty years of experience has proven its superior worth as a blood purifier and invigorating tonic for the cure of stomach disorders and all liver ills. It builds up the run-down system as no other tonic can in which alcohol is used. The active medicinal principles of native roots such as Golden Seal and Queen's root, Stone and Mandrake root, Bloodroot and Black Cherry bark are extracted and preserved by the use of chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet which quotes extracts from well-recognized medical authorities such as Drs. Bartholow, King, Scudder, Coe, Ellingwood and a host of others, showing that these roots can be depended upon for their curative action in all weak states of the stomach, accompanied by indigestion or dyspepsia, as well as in all bilious or liver complaints and in all "wasting diseases" where there is loss of flesh and gradual running down of the strength and system.

"The Golden Medical Discovery" makes rich, pure blood and so invigorates and regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, and, through them, the whole system. Thus all skin affections, blotches, pimples and eruptions as well as scrofulous swellings and old open running sores or ulcers are cured and healed. In treating old running sores, or ulcers, it is well to insure their healing by applying to them Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve. If your druggist don't happen to have this Salve in stock, send fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and a large box of the "All-Healing Salve" will reach you by return post.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

COTTOLENE HIGHLY HONORED

State Chemist of Georgia Praises This Product as Highest Standard of Merit in Pure Food Materials.

Now that people everywhere are wisely demanding pure food and pure food laws that protect, Cottolene is constantly being pointed out by the leading food and diet experts as the best example of what purity and wholesomeness in a product really should be.

J. H. McCandless, state chemist of Georgia, before a recent gathering of cotton seed oil men, gave emphatic praise to the high quality of Cottolene, saying that "the sale of this product and the proclamation that it is made of cotton seed oil, have done more to bring cotton seed oil truthfully and favorably before the public than anything else in recent history."

Mr. McCandless then pointed out how a pure, refined vegetable oil basis, such as in Cottolene, is the only assurance of a clean and digestible cooking product.

It seems a positive wonder in the light of all that has been lately said and written and of what is known of lard, where it comes from, and of what it may be, that anyone will continue its use when pure, sweet, and healthful Cottolene can be so easily obtained.

Cottolene is never sold in bulk, but is put in carefully sealed pails with patent air-tight tops.

Only two-thirds as much Cottolene as lard or cooking butter is required for better results.

Cottolene was granted a Grand Prize (highest possible award) over all other cooking fats at the recent Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

A Western Wonder.

There's a Hill at Bowie, Tex. that's twice as big as last year. This wonder is W. L. Hill, who from a weight of 90 pounds has grown to over 180. He says: "I have suffered with a terrible cough, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Now, after taking 12 bottles, I have more than doubled in weight and am completely cured." Only sure and complete cure. Guaranteed by J. C. Perry, druggist; 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

The Atlantic for December.

Whoever has a single issue of the magazine offered such a wealth of good reading as is to be found in the Christmas Atlantic.

My note is struck at the very beginning in a delightful and shrewdly written essay, "Christmas and the Myth of Disillusion" by that master of the autoeratic's descendants, the late Mr. McChord Crothers. It is a sane, optimistic—and withal prophetic—protest that he makes, sure to find a wide echo. In a notable article on "New Nationalism and the Old Law," Dean Bigelow of Boston University law school, points out the failure of our common law to meet modern crimes of national, and asserts that some response must be forged for the sake of society. Mrs. Wharton appears in the number with a fascinating account of automobile touring in France; and there is a picture article by Havelock Ellis, "The Present-Day Swain," in which he tells of the transformation of the land of romance as it results from defeat and brings itself up to date of the present. Henry Aronson, the famous English play-maker, makes some striking prophecies about the American drama of the future—its material, its language, its relation to our national life;—and to N. S. Shaler, noted both as a poet and poet, is represented by a fine essay on "The Measure of Men."

Our editors have made a peculiarly interesting offering this month in fiction and poetry. Frank Dempster Sherman, John B. Tabb, Florence Earle Coates, Edmund Clarence Stedman and contributors in the latter field; the stories—by Alice Brown, Willbur Tompkins, H. M. Rideout and Elizabeth Foote—will be considered as among the most effective of the year. Other contributions in this notable holiday issue will be mentioned, though they will have been "featured" on their own merits—"Thomas Love Peacock," by H. W. Boynton; "The Lord of Lords," by Wm. Everett; "The Foss," by Arthur C. Benson; "Keepsake," by Gelett Burgess; "A New Voice in French Fiction," by D. Sedgwick; and "The Spell of Whitman," by M. A. DeWolf.
